Summary of Last Issue.

The number of operations for which permits were granted and reported in our issue of December 31st, was 132. The transfers of property numbered 222, and amounted to $1,243,975.49, of which $1,025,989.49 was the cash consideration and $217,806 the mortgage consideration. A further charge of $5481 is to be added for ground rents which on a six per cent basis amounts to $913.50. None of the auction houses held sales.

THE partnership heretofore existing between Mr. Clarke Merchant and Mr. Barthold Berheim under the firm name of Merchant & Co., has been dissolved, Mr. Berheim having retired on December 31st. Mr. Henry W. Merchant, the only son of Mr. Clarke Merchant, having been admitted to a full partnership, the name and title of the new firm will remain unchanged. Mr. H. W. Merchant is a young man of more than usual tact and energy, he has been actively identified with the business interests of the house for several years and has shown that he largely inherits the same application and love for hard work, that is characteristic of his father. He is a logical thinker as well as a clear and forcible writer as the columns of this journal will attest, he having in the past favored us with several leading articles on important subjects. We are indebted to the new firm for one of its calendars for 1889.

THE CEDAR HOLLOW LIME CO.'S Calendar for 1889. With a profuseness of good nature only equalled by the superior quality of its goods the Cedar Hollow Lime Company has kindly remembered the REAL ESTATE RECORD with the handsomest calendar that has ever graced our office walls. The design is a peacock in full plumage, gracefully sitting on a board fence against which has been nailed the company's calendar for 1889. Its a prize if you can get one.

THERE were 19,099 emigrants landed at Castle Garden during November—near 4,000 less than for the same month last year.

OVER 2,000,000,000 feet of lumber were handled in Chicago this season. Manufacturers in the West and South will make preparations for a heavier production next year. Oak and cherry are meeting with increased recognition at the hands of architects.

Many incendiary fires, some very destructive, started by thieves, but they may break into houses and steel while the residents in the vicinity are away at the fire. Country towns, especially, and large towns as well, should insist upon a strict police surveillance of all known thieves at large. Barns in particular should be well looked after, for they are good sleeping places for tramps, and very tempting to those inclined to arson.—Fire and Water.

PHILADELPHIA
ARCHITECTS.

The growing wealth of the country, and the more general art education of the people have created a demand and appreciation for better and more elaborate dwellings, which has afforded scope for well-trained architects. Unfortunately the impression is abroad that Architects quite often lead clients to extravagant and unlooked for expense. I therefore GUARANTEE the cost of all work. When I design a $10,000 house, I mean that it shall cost no more than that amount, and will furnish a reliable builder and let the contract for that amount or less, before I make any charge for services.

The unearthing of valuable and beautiful decorative work in ancient cities, promises the renewal of the use of marble in our modern residences as well as in costly public buildings.

PROF. HAUPT has put himself on record as favoring an underground, instead of an elevated road for the Reading. The cost of the projected road is $3,368,640 per mile. The expense of a new avenue improvement in New York City is $4,800,000, that of the Union Tunnel in London is $1,304,160 per mile and of the new railroad of London, $2,360,000 per mile. An elevated road cost $2,115,000 per mile. A professor declares that the cost of a new road, with its topography, geology or drainage, will be less than the cost of an underground.

PHILADELPHIA'S BUILDING AND REAL ESTATE RECORD

FOR 1888.

TOTAL NUMBER OF NEW BUILDINGS ERECTED AND IN COURSE OF COMPLETION 8262, COSTING WITH 1614 ALTERATIONS AND ADDITIONS

$29,848,891.

In the issue of the REAL ESTATE RECORD, of November 5th 1888, there was presented an elaborate and carefully prepared summary of the building and real estate operations in this city for the first ten months of that year. We now present a summary for the last two months of 1888, which, although not as complete in details as was our last report, yet it is a full statement of what has been done by our master-builders and real estate operators during the year.

The number of two-story houses erected in this city during the first ten months was 5589, which, added to 398 the number as credited to November and December, gives the astonishing figures of 5987 for the year.

The number of three story houses for the first ten months of the year was 1365, which, added to the 63 for November and December, gives a total for the year of 1428.

The number of new buildings erected in the city for the first ten months of 1888 was 7,723, costing (estimated) $25,575,607, the number accredited to November and December 1888, was 539, costing (estimated) $2,215,209, by adding these amounts together, it will be seen that during the year work was commenced on 8262 new buildings, representing the enormous expenditure of $27,790,816, to which must be added 1614 alterations and additions, costing $2,058,075, making a total investment in building improvements for 1888, of $29,848,891. We believe the above is much under the true mark instead of over, for excluding alterations, the average cost of each structure commenced during the year according to the above figures, is shown to be but $3,363.69.

From November 1st to December 31st, 1888, there were 2296 conveyances of real property recorded, representing a value of $10,682,813.14, and bearing a mortgage incumbrance of $2,068,470.23, or about 19.30 per cent. The ground rent incumbrance for the two months, represented $50,446.

The auction houses sold during the same period real property amounting to $540,085, which was encumbered to the amount of $40,912.70, or about 7½ per cent.

The following table shows the real estate transactions for 1888, of which there is a record.

Number of conveyances 12,679, value of the same $62,663,201.87.

Mortgage incumbrance on the same $12,061,567.56.
Percentage of mortgage incumbrance 19.15 per cent.

Ground rent incumbrance $432,802.
Average weekly transfers during the year, amounted to $1,205,061.57.

Real estate sold at auction during the year, amounted to $3,890,390.51.

Incumbrances on the same amounted to $540,923.22.

The following classification shows the number of new buildings for which permits were granted during November and December of 1888, which have been erected or are in course of erection, with the estimated cost of the same, excluding the value of the land.

The following letter has been issued by Master Builders Exchange and explains:

TO THE MASTER BUILDERS OF PHILADELPHIA AND OTHERS INTERESTED IN THE BUILDING TRADES.

Gentlemen:—The Third Annual Convention of the National Association of Builders of the United States will be held in the city of Philadelphia on the 12th, 13th and 14th days of February 1889, under the auspices of "The Master Builders' Exchange," of Philadelphia.

The previous conventions which have been held in the cities of Boston, Chicago and Cincinnati, were very largely attended and much work accomplished of great benefit to the builders of the country.

Since the last convention other cities which were not represented have established builders' exchanges and are now affiliated with the National Association, so that at the coming convention over twenty-four of the largest cities in the Union will send delegates.

As the National Association will be the guests of "The Master Builders' Exchange," of this city, it is proposed that the delegates and visiting members shall be as well (if not better) entertained in this city than they were in the cities of Boston, Chicago and Cincinnati.

With that object in view, a committee has been appointed by "The Master Builders' Exchange," of Philadelphia, for the purpose of arranging all of the details necessary for the successful conduct of the convention and the welfare, comfort and entertainment of the delegates. As this will involve a great amount of work and considerable expense, sub-committees have been appointed on FINANCE, PRINTING, RECEPTION, HOTELS, ENTERTAINMENT and BANQUET, all of whom have been for some time actively at work performing the respective duties assigned to them.

As this convention will be composed of the most influential Builders from all parts of the country, and as Philadelphia has the reputation of being the most hospitable city in the Union, we hope that the builders of Philadelphia, and all those interested in the building trades, will assist the committee with liberal contributions, so that Philadelphia may have the credit of making a success of the "Third National Convention of Master Builders."

Contributions may be sent to Mr. Chas. Gillingham, the Treasurer of the Committee, at the rooms of the Exchange, Third and Walnut Streets. Very Respectfully,

DAVID A. WOELPPER,

Chairman.

The Programme for the Convention is as follows:

Tuesday, February 12. Opening address by the President. 2. Appointment of the Committee on Credentials. 3. Recess for presentation of Credentials. Afternoon Session. 1. Report of Committee on Credentials. 2. Roll Call. 3. Reading of Minutes. 4. Offering and Reading of Resolutions and Communications. 5. Appointment of Committee to report time and place of next convention and to nominate Officers. 6. Report of Secretary. 7. Report of Treasurer. 8. Reports of Standing Committee.

Wednesday, February 13. 1. Consideration of report of Committee on "Uniform Contracts." Consideration of report on Committee on "Ten Laws." 3. Consideration of report of Committee on "Rules and Conditions for Estimating Work." 4. Consideration of report of Committee on "Permanent Arbitration." 5. Consideration of report of Committee on "Furling Sutures on Builders' Estimates and Contracts." 6. Consideration of report of Committee on "Apprenticeship System." 7. Consideration of report of Committee on "Unity of Measurements and Uniform size of Work." 8. Consideration of report of Committee on "Insurance against Accidents to the Worker." Afternoon Session. Addresses by the visiting gentlemen: 1. Mr. James John of Chicago on "Plastering and Stucco Work." 2. Mr. Samuel J. Creswell of Philadelphia on "Iron Work; Past and Present." 3. John J. Tucker of New York on "Masonry." 4. Mr. Wm. H. Sayward of Boston on "Builders' Exchanges; their Advantages and Opportunities."

Thursday, February 14. Addresses by O. P. Hatfield of New York, Treasurer of the American Institute of Architects, on "The Relation of the Architect to the Builder." 2. Prof. George Eastburn, M. D. of Philadelphia on "The Metric System." 3. Colonel Richard T. Auchmutz of New York, founder of the Mechanical Trade Schools of that City, on "Trade Training." Afternoon Session. 1. Report of Committee on "Resolutions and Consideration of same." 2. Report of Committee on "Time and Place of next Convention and Nomination of Officers." 3. Election of Officers. 4. Naming and Electing Directors. 5. Presentation of Badges. 6. Unfinished Business. 7. Architects' Notes.

At Memphis, Tenn., the Cossett Library Trustees want plans for a new library building, to cost about $85,000.

At Charleston, S. C., the Carolina Rifle Company want plans and specifications for a new armory. A committee has been appointed.

The Trinity Church people of New York City want plans for a school, chapel and rectory, to be 208 x 160 feet and to be located on Hudson street, N. Y. No architect engaged at time of writing.

Frank Miles Day, 238 S. Third street, Philadelphia, is at work on the drawings for a house for F. W. Kennedy, to be located at Bradford Hills. The plans call for a frame house, interior hard wood finish, cost $10,000.

John M. Berkeley, of Denver, Col., is the architect for a new building to cost about $200,000, to be erected by the Sisters of Loretto, at that place. The new building for the Y. M. C. A., to cost $150,000, is to be commenced this winter.

S. Gifford Slocum, 902 Walnut street, Philadelphia, has made the preliminary drawings for stone and frame addition to the stable of George A. Heyl, at Rosemont. Also for a frame house costing $8,000 for Mr. McEchron, of Glen Falls New York. No contracts have been let.

At Lancaster, Lancaster Co., City Councils Market Committee have been instructed to advertise for plans and specifications for a new market house building with estimate of cost. Architects should address the committee at once. Councilman Eberman or Auxer can give information.

Hartwell & Richardson, 68 Devonshire st., Boston, have made plans for a new Congregational Church, to be of brick and stone, to cost $30,000, to be located at Wakefield, Mass. The plans prepared by this firm for a new bank building, at Andover, Mass., have been accepted.

Cope & Stewardson, 212 S. Third street, Philadelphia, have been selected as the architects for the House of Refuge. For over a year the managers have been constantly at work examining the methods of other institutions of a similar nature. Mr. Cope has also visited a number of reform schools both in England and on the Continent and is about to take a trip to the West with one of the managers who is on a similar errand. Having thoroughly mastered the problem of building an institution of this kind, the architects are prepared to erect one of the most complete Industrial Reform St in the world.

Mitchell will erect a bank building, it will be four stories, of brick and stone, and will cost $25,000.

At Worcester, Worcester Co., Mass., the trustees of Worcester Academy have accepted the plans of Messrs. Fuller & Delano, of the same place, for the new building which is to be erected. The cost will be about $45,000 and $15,000 additional will be spent in furnishing the building, which will be used as a recitation hall. Work will begin about March 1st. A chapel will occupy part of the second floor, the seating capacity to be five hundred. A gymnasium will be on the third floor, fitted up thoroughly, open fire places in all of the rooms. The plans submitted by the armory commission for the new armory, have been approved by the governor and council.

At Washington, D. C., the trustees of the Sharon Estate will erect a large six-story apartment house to cost about $300,000. It will be located on Massachusetts avenue near Eighteenth st. The plans have been made by Architect Bruce Price, 28 W. Twenty-third street, New York City. The trustees of this estate will also erect a number of handsome residences on sites owned by the estate and which are at present unproductive. Mr. Price will probably also make these designs. Building permit has been granted to Andrew Sleeson for five two-story and basement brick dwellings, to cost $15,000, they will be located at 708 to 716 North Capitol street North West.

At Atlantic, Norfolk Co., Mass., 160,000 feet of land has been purchased by Charles W. Higgins, of Somerville, Middlesex Co., same State. Ten houses will be erected on the tract. Plans not drawn.

At New Bedford, Bristol Co., Mass., a corporation has been formed under the title of the Hathaway Manufacturing Co., with a capital stock of $400,000. A large cotton mill will be erected in the spring. The president is H. A. Hathaway, the treasurer Joseph F. Knowles.

At New London, New London Co., Conn., a new opera house will probably be erected. W. A. Colwell, of Providence, same State, has exhibited plans to the committee, and the indications are that they will be accepted and the project pushed.

At Minneapolis, Minn., a permit has been granted for the new Lutheran Theological Seminary building to cost $40,000, it is to be located in the Park Dale, addition North Minneapolis.—Architect Frederick E. Hoover, 89 Hennepin Block, Minneapolis has made plans for a County Court House, to be erected at Granite Falls, Minn., it will be brick and granite and will cost $14,000.

At Boston, Mass., a meeting of the New England Shoe & Leather Association, was held on Dec. 26, 88, at which it was stated by the president, Hon. Wm. Claflin, that a lot had been secured on Bedford and Kingston streets for the use of the association. Messrs. J. C. Potter, F. W. Breed, Albert Stone and W. H. Moody were elected a building committee with full power to contract for the estate of Mrs. Barnard and Mr. Richards, to procure plans and specifications for the erection of a building, also to apply to the legislature for authority to hold real and personal property to an amount not exceeding $500,000. The finance committee was authorized to contract for loans, secured by mortgages upon the property to an amount not exceeding $350,000. The Ober Estate, Washington and Avery streets, has been bought by a syndicate, of which Wm. Minot Jr., is a member. The tract consists of five lots, the buildings on which will be demolished and replaced by a business block to cost $500,000. The Constitution Wharf Company will erect an immense warehouse on Commercial street. A. L. Ames will erect a block of stores at the corner of Essex and Lincoln streets, at a cost of $300,000.

Through Delaware.

The subject of establishing a State Penitentiary is receiving considerable attention and the legislature will probably be asked to take some action in the matter.

At Middletown, New Castle Co., a citizens' meeting was held in the parlors of the Middletown Hotel, on Monday evening, for the purpose of discussing the idea of a shirt manufactory and steam laundry for Middletown. A. G. Cox was elected chairman and M. B. Burris secretary. M. N. Willis stated that he was in communication with Joseph A. Doyle, of Philadelphia, who runs a large shirt factory there, and that Mr. Doyle was willing and ready to remove to Middletown if $400 could be raised among the citizens to cover the expense which the removal here would incur. Resolutions were read and adopted and a committee of three appointed to solicit subscriptions. The Town Commissioners have passed resolutions declaring such a plant as mentioned, free from water or town tax for a period of five years.

Through New Jersey.

At May's Landing, Atlantic Co., the Water Power Company has broken ground for a large building.

At Pleasantville, Atlantic Co., D. L. Risley and J. C. Farr have purchased a tract of land and will cut it up into building lots. Eight new houses will be erected in the spring.

At Somer's Point, Atlantic Co., Mr. Charles E. Steelman will erect a cottage. The Ozone Club will add an addition to its club house.

At Merchantville, Camden Co., the tract of land known as the Curtis estate has been laid out in streets and building lots, on which extensive building operations will be begun in the spring.

At Atlantic City, a number of additional properties have been secured by the Camden and Atlantic Road, which makes about $100,000 paid for the entire tract. The Sea View Hotel will be reconstructed and turned into a first class hotel.

At Sea Isle City, Cape May Co., Joseph Malatesta, of Philadelphia, has sold a lot to the Berner & Engle Brewing Co. for $2,500. The borough government will pay the new water company 6 per cent of $33,000 for thirty years for the use of the water and sewerage system for city purposes.

At Camden, Charles W. Cox will erect one hundred and fifty houses on his land at Ninth and Pearl streets. Wilson Ernst will erect four rows of twenty-three two-story dwellings at Second and Erie streets, and George H. Will will erect a row of dwellings with side yards, on Broadway, between Mickle and Stevens streets. The members of Albion Lodge No. 22, Sons of St. George, have issued stock to the amount of $10,000, and will erect a hall at the corner of Broadway and Chestnut streets. J. B. Horfall, John W. Brooks, John Wesley, William Wren, Samuel Lovett, John Scovell and Jonathan Pety are members of the order. W. T. Bailey has begun a building operation on Bailey street east of Fifth street, consisting of ten dwellings. Senator Cattell is having some of his property above Walnut avenue surveyed in building lots.

—At Milton, Northumberland Co., the congregation of Christ's Evangelical Lutheran Church will soon begin the erection of its new church.

—At West Chester, Chester Co., among the buildings of importance to be erected the present year, are the addition to the Court House, a public hall or opera house, a summer hotel and a union depot.

—At Greason, Cumberland Co., Wm. Kissinger and Jeremiah Givler have purchased a lot of ground on which Mr. Kissinger will erect a storeroom and Mr. Givler a handsome residence.

—At Uniontown, Fayette Co., Brownfield & Williams have received the contract to furnish 450,000 red brick to be used by the Redstone, Oil, Coal & Coke Company, now erecting works at Grindstone near Brownsville, Fayette Co.

—At Hellertown, Northampton Co., a Board of Trade has been organized with the object of offering inducements to manufacturers to locate in that place, the president is J. S. Hess, vice presidents W. F. Detweiler and P. L. Buttz.

—At Greensburg, Westmoreland Co., a block of new buildings will be erected on the site now occupied by the Greensburg's Banking Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company. The present buildings will be demolished in the early Spring, at which time work will be commenced on the new block.

—At Penn, Lancaster Co., a dwelling will be erected by Henry G. Sindorf of Adamsburg, Westmoreland Co., on the lots recently purchased in the Nesbitt tract.—David Rose has purchased a lot in the same tract, and will probably build.—Thomas McKay has purchased a lot from the Penn Station Land & Improvement Co.

—At Harrisburg, L. S. Bigelow, reprenting a large lumber firm of Buffalo, N. Y., will erect sixty-four houses on the tract of land bounded by Seventh, Wallace, Harris and Hamilton streets. Each house will be set back ten feet from the sidewalk, and will contain all the modern conveniences and improvements.

—At South Bethlehem, Northampton Co., Squire Applegate will erect a block of brick dwellings on Market street.—Councilman Hill, of Bethlehem, will erect a block on the new West End tract, and in old South Bethlehem.—Borhek & Mikoch will erect two blocks of tenement houses. During the past year 72 new dwellings have been erected at a cost of $104,410 against 38 of last year at a cost of $74,910.

—At York, York Co., Mr. Andrew Watt will erect a handsome cottage.—Mr. N. Weigle has received the contract for the alterations to the residence of George P. Smyser, of the Variety Iron Works. The alteration will be made according to plans made by architect J. A. Dempwolf, also of York.—Work has begun on the extensive alterations to the property of S. Hirsch, Esq. The builder is Joel E. Fisher, and the plans were drawn by B. F. Willis, who will also supervise the construction.

—At Allentown, Lehigh Co., at a recent meeting of the Lehigh County Agricultural Society held in the Court House, it was decided after a spirited debate to purchase the land of Mr. Griesemer, consisting of thirty-seven acres for a new fair ground.—A new private dwelling and office costing $2,500, together with other buildings to cost about $10,000 will be erected. The track and grounds are to be graded at a cost of $4000.

—At Pittsburg, Marshall Brown has taken out a permit to erect a two-story brick dwelling at a cost of $6,300, C. M. Barberger, 605 Smithfield street, is the architect.—W. P. Getty will erect a brick dwelling at a cost of $4,000, C. W. Clark is the architect.—J. C. Wilson, builder will erect a $7,000 dwelling for Mrs. W. C. A. R., have selected a lot on South street for the site of the new Memorial Hall. The lot is 45 by 150 feet and cost $5,000. A fund of $19,000 is on hand and plans have been submitted. A much larger sum will be required, which will be made good by private contributions.—M. B. Hought is preparing to do some extensive work at "Hill Side" near Truckville, for W. L. Conyngham, Esq.

Building Notes.

The Midnight Mission, 919 Locust street, is raising funds for the purpose of establishing a county house. Lewis H. Redner is the president, Alfred C. Rex, secretary, and Jabez Wood, treasurer.

The funds for the new Congregational Church, at Germantown, have been greatly increased by a donation from H. H. Houston. He will also erect two houses on Moreland avenue, Chestnut Hill.

On January 2nd, Secretary Whitney approved the report of the board appointed to inspect the League Island Navy Yard. So far as it relates to the location of the new dry dock and the expenditure of the $75,000 appropriated for the sea wall. The total cost of the various improvements will be $4,600,000.

The Episcopal Hospital contemplates the erection of a building for incurables, to be located at the east of the present building and facing Lehigh avenue. Stone will be used in the construction. The same general design of the main building will be followed. Nothing will be done in the way of letting contracts until $300,000 has been secured.

It is probable that the Harrison Farm, at Holmesburg, 23rd Ward, will be selected as the site for the new almshouse which is under serious contemplation. The idea is to construct a building similar to the Soldiers' Home, at Dayton, O., which is plain in its style and two stories in height. A conference will be held in a day or two by the Board of Charities and Corrections, when the matter will receive proper attention.

A large pile platform is to be built by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, at the foot of Vine street on the Delaware River. It is to be covered by a large shed.

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of operations for which permits were granted and reported in our issue of January 9th, was 128. The transfers of property numbered 305, amounting to $1,115,542.92, of which $915,002.92 was the cash consideration and $200,540 the mortgage consideration. A further charge of $16,683 is to be added for ground rents which on a six per cent basis amounts to $278,050. The sales at auction amounted to $30,405, with an incumbrance of $7,940.

We extend our acknowledgement to Mr. William Gerlach, 437 Chestnut street for a beautiful steel engraving of the Ocean steamer Norddeutscher of the Lloyd Steam Ship Line, of which he is the agent. If the good ship is as staunch and seaworthy as Mr. Gerlach's courtesy is great she must commend herself to the consideration of ocean travelers for many years to come.

A Western real estate speculative era was threatened the country two years ago. Extensive railroad building averted it.

There is no doubt that if facilities for testing the durability, strength and merits of building material of all kinds were established that they would be liberally employed by architects, builders, manufacturers of material and quarrymen and so on through the list. There is a great field in this direction. But little is scientifically known concerning the strength of building material. The increasing supplies, the new products and their variety all call for more knowledge concerning them by which their actual and comparative values can become known.

PHILADELPHIA
ARCHITECTS.

The growing wealth of the country, and the more general art education of the people have created a demand and appreciation for better and more elaborate dwellings, which has afforded scope for well-trained architects. Unfortunately the impression is abroad that Architects quite often lead clients to extravagant and unlooked for expense. I therefore GUARANTEE the cost of all work. When I design a $10,000 house, I mean that it shall cost no more than that amount, and will furnish a reliable builder and let the contract for that amount or less, before I make any charge for services.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y. JAN. 16, 1889.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

PHILADELPHIA should put her best foot foremost upon the occasion of the Master Builders' National Convention, which will be held in this city on the 12th, 13th and 14th of February next. The occasion will be one of unusual importance, as hundreds of home builders, many of them the most prominent representative men of the building craft, will then assemble for the first time in this city. As this will be the first visit of many of them to Philadelphia, no effort should be spared to give them a warm welcome, and a taste of genuine Philadelphia hospitality while they remain with us. Council should by resolution extend to them the freedom of the city, and every effort should be made to make the guests on that occasion realize that they are visiting the second city of importance in the Union, and the first as to the building record for 1888.

THE idea of building under cover during the winter months originated in this city with Messrs. I. E. and A. L. Pennock. The experiment was first tried during the erection of the Brown building at Fourth and Chestnut streets, the weather was extremely cold, yet with the aid of several furnaces it was found that there was no difficulty in laying the foundation stone as the cement and mortar were not in the least affected by freezing, besides which the men were made very comfortable and were enabled to work during the most inclement weather. The extra cost in the construction of the Brown building amounted to about $1000, this included the purchase of the tent and its erection and taking down, but this extra cost was more than compensated by the great saving in labor, the men being able to accomplish quite as much work as during the summer months. So successful was the first experiment that the Messrs. Pennock are now erecting the Commercial Union Insurance Company's new building on Walnut street above Fourth street under the same cover used on the Brown building. As a matter of economy the question of building under cover during the winter is settled forever.

THE Board of Directors of the Baltimore Real Estate Exchange in its annual report referring to its proposed new building says:

"The New York Real Estate Exchange, by means of its large building, has brought to its membership such men as the Astors, Samuel D. Babcock, ex-Mayor Grace, R. H. Roosevelt, and hundreds of others interested in advancing the interests of real estate in that city. That exchange, starting from a 'stuffy basement room' in 1883, has by enterprise, co-operation and determined effort, established itself in its own handsome building, costing nearly $600,000, and is fitly described as having 'uniformity of methods, consolidation of interests, command of public confidence, and diffusive beneficence.' Whilst it may not be modest in us to aspire to such large proportions, the precedent is well worthy of our consideration, and the subject ought to command our interest and best effort."

It is only natural to suppose that the same influence that has gathered within the fold the strong men of New York can be exercised to the advantage of the Real Estate Exchange of our own city. Philadelphia's growth is greater than that of New York, if the building operations of 1888 in the respective cities can be taken as evidence. The Baltimore exchange seems to be in a prosperous condition notwithstanding the great falling off in the real estate transactions during the past year. There is no just reason why the Philadelphia Real Estate Exchange should not include in its membership every real estate operator in this city, no matter how large or small his business may be, neither is there any just reason why the organization should not own and occupy a structure in keeping with its character and equal in importance to the great volume of Real Estate business transacted in our city yearly.

At the present rate of advancement, if continued for a decade or two longer, the Southern States will have not only become formidable competitors with the manufacturing Northern and Western States, but will be able to throw down the gauntlet for supremacy. Had a man prophesied before the war that the South would at an early future period become sellers instead of buyers of manufactured products, he would have been considered utopian and his fondest dreams would have been met with derision. A perusal of the Christmas number of Dixie, with its one hundred and twelve pages devoted to the manufacturing interests of the new South will open the eyes of many a Northerner and command the attention of many Northern newspaper men, as a literary production it has few superiors in the North while its practical views of practical things makes it the best production of its kind ever published south of Mason and Dixon's line. Its a great publication and shows conclusively that it is in the hands of broad minded capable men, full of enterprise and genuine American grit. We do not envy it its wonderful prosperity for it has justly earned the national reputation it has gained.

Architects' Notes.

SEALED PROPOSALS.

SEALED PROPOSALS, IN TRIPPLICATE, subject to usual conditions, will be received at this office until 2 o'clock P. M., on Friday, March 1, 1889, and then opened, for furnishing material and labor required for plumbing and steam heating eight public buildings now in course of construction at this post. All information, etc., can be obtained from undersigned. Preference will be given to articles of domestic production or manufacture, conditions of quality and price (including in the price of foreign productions or manufactures the duty thereon being equal.) The Government reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Envelopes should be marked "Proposal for Plumbing and Steam Heating," and addressed to GEO. E.
POND, Assistant Quartermaster, U. S. Army.
Fort Riley, Kan., January 1, 1889.

SEALED PROPOSALS WILL BE REceived at the office of the Supervising Architect, Treasury Department, Washington.
D. C., until 2 o'clock P. M., on the 26th day of January, 1889, for the labor and materials required for altering the First Baptist Church, Newark, N. J., into a temporary Custom House, Postoffice, etc., in accordance with the specification and drawings, copies of which may be seen at this office and the office of the Superintendent. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check for $100. WILL A. FRERET, Supervising Architect, January 5, 1889.

THE IOWA SAVINGS BANK BUILDING Company invite bids for the erection and completion of the interior foundation walls and superstructure of the seven-story office building corner of Pierce and 5th streets, Sioux City, Iowa. Plans and specifications may be seen at the office of the architect, E. W. Loft, 515 Fifth street. Sealed bids will be received by the secretary at his office, in the Gordon block, on or before January 21, 1889, at 12 M. Iowa Savings Bank Building Company, WM. GORDON,
Sioux City, Iowa.

TO BUILDERS.

OFFICE OF THE
STATE SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' MONUMENT COMMISSION.
INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Dec. 21, 1888.
Sealed proposals will be received at this office until 2 o'clock P. M., on Wednesday, the 30th day of January, 1889, for supplying all materials and building the superstructure, terrace and approaches of the State Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument, upon foundations already erected, in Circle Park, Indianapolis, Ind., in accordance with the specifications, plans and drawings to be seen at this office on and after January 2, 1889, and in the Master Builders' Exchange.
The successful bidders will be required to furnish a bond of $40,000 for the faithful performance of the work, and each bid must be accompanied by the names of at least three sureties, whose pecuniary responsibility must be satisfactory to the Board of Commissioners. Each bid must also be accompanied by a certified check for $1,500, drawn to the order of the Treasurer of Indiana, which the bidder agrees to forfeit to the State upon legal process in the event of his failure or refusal to enter into a contract with the Board of Commissioners within ten days from the time of the award, should his proposal be accepted. If he closes the contract the check will be at once returned, as will the checks of the unsuccessful bidders, after the award has been made. A failure to enter into contract within the time specified will forfeit the right to the award under this notice.

Proposals must be indorsed "Proposals for the State Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument," and addressed to the "Board of Commissioners, State Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument, Indianapolis, Indiana."

Blank forms for proposals will be furnished bidders on application to the secretary, and it is preferred that they be used. Copies of the specifications and blank contracts and bonds will also be furnished.

The successful bidder must be prepared to furnish samples from two or more of the oolitic stone quarries of the State, between which the Commissioners may choose.

The right to reject any and all bids and to choose between bidders is reserved.

It is expected that all plans and drawings will be returned to the Board on or before the day set for the award. GEO. J. LANGSDALE, President, J. F. GOOKINGS, Secretary.

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of operations for which permits were granted and reported in our issue of January 16th, was 103. The transfers of property numbered 262, amounting to $1,072,001.71, of which $868,231.71 was the cash consideration and $203,770 the mortgage consideration. A further charge of $3,330.70 is to be added for ground rents which on a six per cent basis amounts to $55,511. The sales at auction amounted to $64,859, with an incumbrance of $10,600.

Thanks!

Messrs. Samuel H. French and Co., Paint Manufacturers at York Avenue, Fourth and Callowhill streets, this city, have kindly included the REAL ESTATE RECORD among the fortunate recipients of their calendars for 1889. They are an expensive, artistic, highly colored lithograph, reflecting credit upon the house distributing them, and like all beautiful and useful things will certainly be carefully cherished.

The output of lime from the kilns of the Knickerbocker Lime Company was heavier last year than during any preceding years since the organization of the company, in fact the demand for 1888, for this company's lime was so great that additional kilns were built and even then, the Company was constantly pushed to its best efforts. The secret of this great growth of business is strictly owing to the care exercised in manufacturing, its standard of quality always being the highest. The popularity of the Knickerbocker brand has been justly earned and it will certainly continue to remain popular among builders and contractors as long as Messrs. Irvine and Carty remain at the head of the concern.

American locomotives are going to Japan.

Quite a number of immense office buildings are projected in New York City next year.

The calendar of the Lawrence Cement Company for 1889, has come to hand through its Philadelphia Superintendent Mr. Ulmer, to whom we are greatly indebted for past favors of this nature.

What sound business or legal reason can be assigned against such permissive legislation at Harrisburg as would enable the municipality of Philadelphia to borrow money on a special issue of bonds with which to pave the principal streets of the city? When will the streets of the city be paved unless through such an effort? If put to a vote how would such a proposition go? Overwhelmingly in favor of new pavements with the additional taxation.

Boston makes another claim to progressive ideas by a novel method of running elevators in her large buildings. Speaking of the elevators in the Mason building, in that city, the Commercial Bulletin says: "The elevators are run by hydraulic cylinders and in place of the rope which formerly opened the valves a small motor is now used and this motor is connected with the car by wires and has three push buttons; one to start it up, one to stop the car, and one to lower it. These connect with an automatic regulator and make the machine a success.

The officers of the Baltimore Real Estate Exchange submitted their third annual report on the 8th instant. The report states that the year just closed has been an unusually dull one in real estate. Sales have fallen off and prices generally have ruled as low as in 1887, much of the depression is attributed to the absence of public spirit, want of economy in public affairs, absence of manufacturing and the large abatement of home capital which has been diverted to the Western and Southern interests. The number of new buildings erected in Baltimore during 1888, according to the report, exclusive of additions were 3,208, a falling off of over 1,000 compared with 1887. The committee appointed to consider the erection of a large building for exchange and other similar purposes has been continued.

Insurance men as a general rule claim that a building which is largely constructed of iron is not necessarily fire-proof. Iron, when heated, bends very readily under weight, and therefore of itself cannot be called fire-proof. There is much, however, to be said in favor of iron constructions. It prevents fire from spreading, and unless there is a large amount of inflammable material within reach of the flames, there is little danger that the fire will make very much headway. Stone and granite are very little better than iron to withstand the ravages of fire. There is no material that can be used for construction equal to bricks and mortar. Every brick bears its own weight. Bricks have already passed through the fiery ordeal before they are used in buildings, and are, therefore, tempered. Cast iron is not substantial enough, and wrought iron, which is an improvement, stands fire but little better.

A building to be fire-proof, in the true sense of the term, should be constructed of fire brick, then glaze them and they will present an ornamental appearance. But these would be rather more expensive than the ordinary building brick. It is universally admitted by insurance men and others interested in the fire-proof structures, that brick has stood the test better than any other.—Each.

Mr. Samuel Benner of Dundas, Ohio, makes the following predictions:

"The outcome of the Presidential election has laid a broad basis for a general recovery of confidence, an element that has been wanting for the past four years, which we have observed by the many idle furnaces, mills and factories, and the lowest prices for nails, steel rails and pig-iron for a number of years.

"The year 1889 opens with cheerful hopes. Our crops during the past year have been abundant. The prospects of an increase of foreign demand for our surplus grain and provisions at advanced prices gives the farmer renewed energy. We must look forward to a hot and dry summer this year, as we are not yet beyond the period for general drought. However, with fair early crops business and prices will show considerable improvement in the spring months.

"We are at the beginning of a prosperous period, and the outlook is for a decided improvement and advance in the prices of iron, railroad stocks and in all manufactured commodities. Whenever our manufacturers are prosperous every industrial class is prosperous.

"I predict that the price of iron will advance, and the average price for the year 1889 will be higher than the average price for 1888, and I also predict that there will be a wonderful advance in prices for iron, stocks and all products and commodities in the year 1890; all business will be prosperous; it will be a year of good crops, and the boom year in this period of activity.

"In the beginning of the year 1891 speculation will be at its height—a great business inflation—pig iron $50 per ton in the markets of our country.

"I predict that there will be a panic in the year 1891. The overtrading and general inflation of business and expansion of credit and confidence will produce this result. The panic probably will be brought about by the effects of heavy rainfalls and floods or by the collapse of some large financial business firm.

"This panic will be a commercial and financial revulsion and will be followed by a long down sweep of prices."

The growing wealth of the country, and the more general art education of the people have created a demand and appreciation for better and more elaborate dwellings, which has afforded scope for well-trained architects. Unfortunately the impression is abroad that Architects put off often lead clients to extravagant and unlooked for expense. I therefore GUARANTEE the cost of all work. When I design a $10,000 house, I mean that it shall cost no more than that amount, and will furnish a reliable builder and let the contract for that amount or less, before I make any charge for services.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y. JAN. 23, 1889.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

BUYERS of Rosendale and other standard cements in this section have not generally anticipated their next Spring's requirements while farther in the interior heavy supplies were purchased late in the fall.

The tariff legislation now under consideration in the State, proposes an increase in duties on imported stone. Quarry men are naturally solicitous for the passage of the bill as it stands. If it is done, there will be no change in Association rates next year. The October imports of stone were worth $38,975 against $35,701 for October, 1887. Marble, for same periods, $32,154 and $20,217, respectively. Total imports of marble and stone for ten months this year $827,739 against $756,448 last year.

THE Reading Railroad Terminal Scheme is again to be presented before Councils for consideration. The new bill it seems has received the august sanction of his Honor, the Mayor. A few minor concessions, such as regulating the running of freight trains have been made by Mr. Corbin, but no intimation has been given that his Honor, the Mayor, has even suggested a provision respecting the rights of property owners who will be seriously injured by the construction of this terminal monstrosity. We go so far as to question the public good, it is asserted will be derived from the construction of the Reading Terminal; in fact we hold that it will soon become a public eye-sore, the few minutes gained to each passenger to Market street will never sufficiently compensate for the disfigurement to the city and the injury to property it will cause. The scheme is advocated in the interest of progression while the monied interests and speculative characteristics of the crowd behind it are forgotten. It is not the Reading railroad at all, the franchise of that road does not even extend to the city. The terminal was purposely improperly named from the start. The fare from Ninth and Green streets is to be double that of the horse cars. The whole scheme is an effort to steal a valuable franchise without even the justification of necessity. Mr. Corbin is an outsider and has no Philadelphia interests except perhaps the Reading stock and the official position he holds in that company. The question is entirely free from sentiment. The gentlemen who will own the whole affair after it is constructed have no other incentive than the great profits that will accrue to their investments. They propose to work the thing through as cheaply as possible. They do not favor an underground terminal because it would cost more money than the elevated. They propose with the help of the Mayor to ride rough shod over the rights of property holders. It cannot be expected that Mayor Fitler will veto a bill that he has sanctioned beforehand.

NEW YORK CITY shows up to great disadvantage when her building record for 1888 is compared with that of Philadelphia, for while the latter city exhibits an increase of several millions of dollars over the record of 1887, New York falls behind nearly twenty millions of dollars. A comparison of the number of new buildings erected in the two cities for 1888, gives Philadelphia 8,262, New York 3,701, a difference of 4,561. The decrease in New York, it is claimed, is owing to the change of sentiment as to expensive apartment houses for profitable permanent investment, together with a large over-production of expensive residences during 1887, most of which were erected on the west side for speculative purposes and which almost entirely stopped improvements in that section of the city during 1888. It is claimed, however, that a large number of these west side properties were sold during 1888, and that many of that class of houses will be erected during the present year. Of course a great difference exists between the character of the new buildings erected in the two cities, for while New York built less than one-half as many new houses during 1888, yet their cost amounted to over $47,000,000, against $28,000,000 for those of Philadelphia. We believe that Philadelphia is enjoying a greater growth of population at the present time than any large city on the Continent, and we are satisfied that the figures prove the assertion, for out of the 8,262 new buildings erected during 1888, there were 7,638 intended in whole or in part for dwelling purposes.

The following building statistics sent to us by the Connecticut Real Estate Record, are for 26 cities. The figures include alterations, additions and repairs in every case except Lynn, Mass.

*Estimated. †From June 1 to December 31, 1888. ‡Additions not included.

A footing of the above totals gives us in these 26 cities, 15 of them having a population less than 100,000, no less than 47,257 new buildings for 1888, erected at a cost of $212,310,182. It will be observed that as to the number of operations, Philadelphia leads every city given by a very large majority.

The New Reredos at St. Stephen's Church.

On Thursday evening, January 17, St. Stephen's P. E. Church was filled to witness the unveiling of the new reredos. This beautiful example of an almost lost art, is the only one in this country, and is a fac-simile of the reredos over the altar in Westminster Abbey, London. The subject is the last supper, from cartoons drawn by the well-known artist, Henry Holiday, also of London; but the chief interest of the work centres in the workmanship itself; the picture being done in what is known as glass mosaic, an art almost extinct, until revived by the celebrated Dr. Salvati, of Venice, who no doubt inspired by the many examples to be found of it in that city, set about to discover the secret, and after much labor, and many failures was successful in restoring the true theory of the art, and in training workmen to execute it. He it was, who executed the picture before mentioned, placed as a reredos in Westminster Abbey, the work, however, being done in Italy, but the present picture at St. Stephen's was done entirely in England by Mr. Holiday and some of Salvati's workmen, ably assisted by Mrs. Holiday, whose work was confined chiefly to the heads. Some idea of the skill requisite may be gathered from the fact that the picture depends for light, shade, figure and expression on the nice arrangement of numberless small pieces of Venetian glass, set in a back ground of cement.

Claus Spreckels has given the contract for the pumps for his sugar refinery to the Dow Steam Pump Works of San Francisco.

The new hotel at Tacony is to be erected by Merz Bros., at the corner of State Road and Penn street will be begun early in the Spring.

The Gaston Presbyterian Church, Eleventh street and Lehigh avenue, has secured $7,000 towards the new church building to be erected in the Spring.

Philadelphia expended more money during 1888 in the erection of new buildings than has been spent in public improvements in Rome, Italy during the last twenty years.

The plumber came down like a wolf on the fold, And his pockets were laden with solder and gold; Nine hours and a half he made love to the cook, And sixty-five dollars was charged on his book.

—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The Bazaar property 211 to 217 N Eighth street, together with 209 N Eighth street, belonging to the Moro Phillips Estate, has been leased by Messrs. Stone & Co., proprietors of the Boston Museum, who will expend about $40,000 in alterations and improvements to adapt the building to theatrical purposes. The property 209 will be used for stage purposes, while the bazaar proper will contain the auditorium. It is reported that Architect George Plowman has been engaged to prepare plans and supervise the work, but this is not authentic.

The congregation of the North Broad Street Presbyterian Church, Rev. R. D. Harper, D. D., pastor, has concluded to erect a handsome stone chapel to cost about $20,000. It will be located somewhere in the neighborhood of Twenty-seventh and Hagert streets. The executive committee having the matter in charge consists of Messrs. Thomas Wood, Thomas Marsh, M. F. Lane, Jas. H. Lyons, N. F. Hoffman, John Kendrick, F. W. Kennedy, J. F. Smith, Geo. C. Napheys, C. H. Campbell, John Woodside and several others whose names could not be ascertained. Steps will be taken immediately to raise the necessary funds, about $15,000 will be required to start with, which it is hoped will have been subscribed before April next. No architect has been engaged, no contracts let.

Lot-Buyers.

Architects and others had better correspond with the following lot buyers, as many of them contemplate building.

At Wilmington, Delaware, J. Parke Postle, same place, square plot of ground at 13th and Tattall streets, $12,000.

John Diefenderfer, of Bethlehem Pa., has purchased a lot on east Goepf street.

SEALED PROPOSALS.

SEALED PROPOSALS, IN TRIPLICATE, subject to usual conditions, will be received at this office until 2 o'clock P. M., on Friday, March 1, 1889, and then opened, for furnishing material and labor required for plumbing and steam heating eight public buildings now in course of construction at this post. All information, etc., can be obtained from undersigned. Preference will be given to articles of domestic production or manufacture, conditions of quality and price (including in the price of foreign productions or manufactures the duty thereon being equal.) The Government reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Envelopes should be marked "Proposal for Plumbing and Steam Heating," and addressed to GEO. B. POND, Assistant Quartermaster, U. S. Army, Fort Riley, Kan., January 1, 1889.

SEALED PROPOSALS WILL BE RECEIVED at the Office of the Supervising Architect, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., until 2 o'clock P. M., on the 31st day of January, 1889, for the labor and materials required in the erection and completion of the low-pressure return-circulation, steam-heating and ventilating apparatus for the U. S. Court House and Post Office, etc., building at Rochester, N. Y., in accordance with the specification and drawings, copies of which, with other necessary information, may be had on application at this office, or at the office of the Superintendent. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check for $500.00, WILL A. FRERET, Supervising Architect. January 12, 1889.

TIMBER DRY DOCK—NAVY DEPARTMENT, Washington January 4, 1889.—Sealed proposals are invited and will be received at the Bureau of Yards and Docks by the undersigned until 12 o'clock noon on Friday the 1st day of February, 1889, for the construction by contract of one timber dry dock of the following general dimensions, with iron caisson or float—gates, pumps, boilers, engines, pump-house, capstans, bollards, discharge and drainage culverts, and all other attachments pertaining thereto, complete, said dock to be located at the League Island Navy Yard, the dock to be not less than 500 feet in length from the inside of the coping at the head of the dock to the outer caisson abutment at the entrance, the width not less than 130 feet between the coping, from side to side, measured across the length of the dock midway from the ends; draft on sill not less than 25 feet 6 inches at mean high water, width on floor not less than 50 feet; entrance not less than 80 feet wide. All patents or patented articles, if any, employed in the construction of this dock are to be included in the proposals. The six upper altars and coping of the dock to be impregnated with creosote. The pumps for the dock to have a discharge capacity equal to 40,000 gallons per minute each. Dry-dock builders are invited to submit plans and specifications with proposals for the entire construction and completion in all respects of one timber dry dock of the dimensions above specified. Proposals, plans and specifications are also invited and will be considered from dry dock builders for one timberdock of any length over and above 500 feet (the dimensions otherwise to be the same as heretofore stated), the cost of the increased length to be proportionate per linear foot to the offer made for the dock of 500 feet length. Bidders will make their plans and specifications full and clear, describing the kinds and qualities of materials proposed to be used. Plans not favorably considered will be returned to the bidders if desired. Proposals must be in duplicate, sealed and addressed to the Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, Navy Department, Washington, D. C., and the envelope endorsed "Proposals for Timber Dock." Blank forms will be furnished on application. For information in regard to location and site of this dock bidders are referred to the Commandant of the League Island Navy Yard. D. B. Harmony, Chief of Bureau.

SEALED PROPOSALS WILL BE RECEIVED at the office of the Supervising Architect, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., until 2 o'clock P. M., on the 26th day of January, 1889, for the labor and materials required for altering the First Baptist Church, Newark, N. J., into a temporary Custom House, Postoffice, etc., in accordance with the specification and drawings, copies of which may be seen at this office and the office of the Superintendent. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check for $100. WILL A. FRERET, Supervising Architect, January 5, 1889.

ADAMANT WALL PLASTER

A SUPERIOR SUBSTITUTE FOR COMMON PLASTER

233 AND 235 NORTH 23d STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

BUILDERS' EXCHANGE, PITTSBURG, PA.

ADAMANT is a cement or artificial stone, capable of resisting all ordinary casualties so disastrous to common Plaster.

ADAMANT adheres firmly to lath, brick, stone or iron, lasting as long as the building without even cracking.

ADAMANT is lighter than lime-plaster; it does not shrink, and is impermeable to noxious gases or disease germs.

ADAMANT is valuable for setting tiles and slabs because of its remarkable adhesive properties.

ADAMANT is cooler in summer and warmer in winter.

ADAMANT excludes all dampness.

ADAMANT is fire-proof.

ADAMANT saves time and expense, as carpenters can follow plasterers in twelve hours and need not move out while the plastering is going on.

ADAMANT is preferred by painters on account of its smooth surface, and not possessing any ingredient to damage the color, as in lime-mortar.

PHILADELPHIA
ARCHITECTS.

The growing wealth of the country, and the more general art education of the people have created a demand and appreciation for better and more elaborate dwellings, which has afforded scope for well-trained architects. Unfortunately the impression is abroad that Architects quite often lead lives to extravagant and unlooked for expense.
I therefore GUARANTEE the cost of all work.
When I design a $10,000 house, I mean that it shall cost no more than that amount, and will furnish a reliable builder and let the contract for that amount or less, before I make any charge for services.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y. JAN. 30, 1889

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

THERE is a remarkable growth of the small towns throughout this State, and the Inter-State Commerce Law is having something to do with it.

THE entire State of Pennsylvania, outside of Philadelphia and Pittsburg, used in 1887 only one-half as much brick as was used in the city of Philadelphia, but the consumption of lumber was correspondingly greater.

THE increasing demand for suburban real estate does not as a rule enhance values, but is rather the reverse, because the opportunities to sell, bring out numerous offerings which help to knock fancy prices downward.

THERE is no question but that the more general adoption of fire preventive appliances would do much towards reducing the present heavy yearly fire loss, but before any radical saving can be effected more care must be exercised in the selection of material and a higher standard of construction work adopted. A more rigid system of inspection all over the country has already effected a great saving, yet in foreign counties where the inspection is sadly deficient the annual fire loss is much less than in our own. The too general use of wood in American cities on account of its cheapness is really one of the great causes of our annual fire waste. Blind economy in the effort to reduce first cost often inflicts serious injury to the lasting regret of occupants and owners. The annual loss by fires in Great Britain amounts to but $46,000,000; France, nearly $16,000,000, Russia, $70,000,000 and Germany $31,000,000. In Germany the inspection is very rigid. So long as lumber is plenty and cheap in America there is no doubt that it will continue to command a decided preference, as a building material. The demon, cheapness will continue to haunt us notwithstanding the fact that comparative security can be obtained for a small additional cost. It would in the end be cheaper to pay higher construction cost and save at least a portion of our annual fire loss.

At Wilmington, a handsome new bank building will be erected by the Central National Bank. A site has been purchased at the corner of Fifth and Market streets for the sum of $30,000. The size of the lot is 22½ by 117 feet. The present building on the site will be demolished early in the spring to make way for the new building, which is expected to be one of the finest in the city, though the style and architecture has not yet been decided upon, plans will be made at an early date. At present the Central Bank occupies part of No. 519 Market street. The first annual meeting of the Builders' Exchange, was held on Tuesday evening, January 1st, at which time the following directors were elected for the ensuing year: Isaac N. Lenderman, John B. Johnson, A. L. Johnson, A. S. Reed, Allan Gawthorp, Henry Evans and James C. Dillon. It was decided on motion, to join the National Builders' Exchange, and President William H. Foulk was selected as a delegate and Allen Gawthorp as alternate, to attend the meeting of the National Builders' Exchange, at Philadelphia, on February 12th, 13th and 14th. The exchange now numbers forty-five members, and has met with great success. It was also decided to give a banquet at an early date, and the matter was put into the hands of a special committee with power to act. The Young Men's Democratic Club, will move to 812 Market street, and occupy the second and third floors, which will be remodeled and fitted up with new furniture, suitable for reading, billiard and music rooms. The building, 414 King street, has been purchased by Wm. T. Hickman, who will tear it down and rebuild. Representative Sowden, of Pennsylvania, from the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, has reported favorably to the House, the Senate bill which increases the appropriation for the public building at Wilmington to $250,000. Bishop Coleman of the P. E. Church, has recommended to the Guild of Trinity P. E. Church, the project of a new church edifice for that parish.

Heavy Land Purchases on the Schuylkill.

Considerable guessing has been done lately by Real Estate men in an effort to furnish a reason for the very heavy purchases of land at a point on the Schuylkill river opposite Point Breeze and extending from Mingo Creek to Charles Creek. The land has been purchased in irregular quantities from time to time by Mr. W. W. Harkness, about 500 acres having been already secured. Mr. P. L. Hill, a real estate agent located at Paschalville, has been instrumental in securing several large plots for Mr. Harkness and is constantly on the lookout for more, most of the titles to the properties purchased rests in the name of W. W. Harkness and while it is well known that the deeds for many of the properties bought have not been recorded, it is estimated that 500 acres are much below the true figures, when asked as to the purposes of these purchases it is intimated that they are to be used for grazing, or perhaps a large bull-dog farm, but the knowing ones believe them to have been made either in the interests of the Standard Oil Company, who intend to remove its vast business across the river, or in the interests of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for a drove yard. The prices paid for the land already purchased will average about $250 per acre. Some few sections not yet secured are held as high as $1000 per acre. Important developments probably of a business nature may be expected in that section before long. One railroad man asserted that the land was being bought by the Pennsylvania R. R. Co., and that the company intended to secure the contract for the removal of Smith's and Wind mill Islands and would fill in the low ground with the dirt taken from the Islands. Another gentleman also posted in railroad affairs states that Mr. Harkness is working in the interests of the Reading Railroad, that he has always been particularly close to the management of that corporation and that a big railroad scheme is ripening for future development.

A Philadelphia Firm Defeats Foreign Competitors.

The stained glass windows to be placed in St. Stephen's Reformed Church, at Pottstown, Pa., are to be very fine, both from an artistic as well as a mechanical standpoint. The competition for the contract was exceedingly interesting inasmuch as several foreign houses through their American representatives sought to carry off the prize on the prestige of assumed superiority of foreign work in an artistic sense over the designs and workmanship of American artists and American workmen. The contract for the entire job was awarded to Mr. William Keith, 134 N. Seventh street, this city. Rev. C. H. Herbst is the pastor of the church. When it is known that nearly one hundred thousands of dollars worth of stained glass work for church windows is admitted free of duty into the United States, under the false sentiment that it is intended for sacred purposes and that many church people in this country entirely ignore the American product when it can be easily established that the whole world cannot produce finer stained glass work than can be obtained right here in Philadelphia, the result of the above competition is particularly gratifying.

The Strength of Iron.

The main strength of American wrought iron is 45,900 pounds, English 43,741. Ultimate extension of wrought iron is one-sixth of its length. The working strain is from one-sixth to one-fourth the main strength. Resistance to flexure acting evenly over the surface equals one-half the tensile strength. Bars of wrought iron will expand or contract 151,200th of length for each degree of heat. With range of temperature of this country (20 to 120°) = 120°, will expand or contract 1080th part of its length, equal to a force of 20,740 pounds, or nine and a quarter tons per square inch of section. Tensile strength increases, in from one to six reheatings and rollings, from 43,904 pounds to 63,824 pounds in from six to 12, is reduced again to 43,904.—Exchange.

PHILADELPHIA
ARCHITECTS.

The growing wealth of the country, and the more general art education of the people have created a demand and appreciation for better and more elaborate dwellings, which has afforded scope for well-trained architects. Unfortunately the impression is abroad that Architects quite often lead clients to extravagant and unlooked for expense. I therefore GUARANTEE the cost of all work. When I design a $10,000 house, I mean that it shall cost no more than that amount, and will furnish a reliable builder and let the contract for that amount or less, before I make any charge for services.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, FEB. 6, 1889

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

THE Master Builders National Convention is to be held in this city on February 12th, 13th, and 14th. The national organization is composed of representatives from about fifty master builders' exchanges that have been organized in as many cities of the United States. The President of the national organization is Mr. John S. Stevens, the honored retiring president of the Philadelphia exchange. The combined strength of the master builders of the United States expressed as it is in the national organization places that institution in point of influence and usefulness second to no other in the country. It affords great protection to every craft identified with the great army of home builders, at the same time elevating the dignity of honest labor while protecting it against the hordes of demagogues and sycophants that prey upon it. The Philadelphia exchange is an important factor in the national organization. Its representatives or the "Philadelphia Delegation" as they are aptly termed have heretofore held their own in the national conventions that have already been held; they have shown themselves to be equal in debate, logical reasoning or forensic effort to the ablest representatives from other sections. Important questions involving State and municipal legislation have already been grappled with, and in a hundred different ways the influences of our own exchange has been expressed. The success of the Philadelphia Master Builders Exchange is largely due to the untiring efforts of Mr. Stevens, he has been an indefatigable worker and his retirement is a matter of his own choice. Mr.

David A. Woelpper who succeeds Mr. Stevens to the Presidency is particularly qualified for the position, he is a strict parliamentarian besides being an active worker, and it will certainly be no fault of his if the organization does not continue to maintain its prestige as the leading organization of its kind in this country.

A Pointer For Plumbers.

A popular mistake prevails among plumbers at the present time to the effect that it is not compulsory for them to repave places in the highways of the city where they have made excavations, and that it is incumbent upon the city to do such repaving. It is even argued that a permit granted for excavations by the Highway Department relieves the plumber of all future responsibility and that all he has to do is to fill the hole and notify the department that the spot needs repaving. The following ordinance settles the question beyond controversy:

AN ORDINANCE—TO REGULATE THE REPAVING OVER STREET EXCAVATIONS.

SECTION 1. The Select and Common Councils of the City of Philadelphia do ordain : That from and after the passage of this ordinance, all parties opening the streets of Philadelphia, for the purpose of making connections with the sewers, gas or water pipes, or for laying gas or water pipes, shall, immediately upon the completion of the work, have the opening or trench filled and thoroughly compacted by ramming in horizontal layers, not exceeding one foot in thickness ; and if the street be paved or macadamized, at once repaved or remacadamized, to the requisite depth and amount of material therefor, and without delay. And the completion of said work, except when prevented by frost, shall, when necessary, repave or remacadamize a second time to city grade. In all cases where parties making such excavations are not required to keep such repaving in good order after the completion of the work, then, and in such cases, the City of Philadelphia shall do said repaving at the expense of said party. And the above work to be done to the satisfaction of the Chief Commissioners of Highways.

SEC. 2. Any person or persons violating the provisions of this ordinance, shall subject themselves to a penalty of ten (10) dollars in addition to the cost of doing the work over, and in the manner above prescribed; said penalty and cost to be collected as like penalties are now by law recoverable. All ordinances or parts of ordinances inconsistent herewith, be, and the same are, hereby repealed. Approved this 27th day of June, A. D. 1883.

SAMUEL G. KING, Mayor of Philadelphia.

MR. FRANCIS A. PENNINGTON has severed his connection with the Real Estate Exchange of this city, his temporary residence will be Denver, Colorado. Mr. Pennington has been summoned to that place owing to the serious illness of a favorite son.

Architects' Notes.

S. C. Plant, 408 Nicolet street, Minneapolis, Minn., has prepared plans for a three-story apartment house to cost $50,000.

O. J. Wildhelmi, St. Louis, Missouri, is preparing plans for a crematory to take the place of the one destroyed by fire.

Walter H. Geissinger, 441 Chestnut street, Phila., has the plans on hand for a large four-story factory at Third and Ontario streets to be erected by Mr. Long.

Isaac Holbs & Son, 520 Walnut street, Phila., are making plans for three dwellings to be erected at Roxborough, Pa., for Hannah F. Omsetter. The cost will be $12,000.

A. M. Jenks, Bridgeport, Conn., has plans on hand for a store and office building for John Babcock, of Wakefield, R. I. It will be finished in hard woods and cost $10,000.

Isaac Purcell, 119 South Fourth street, Phila., has plans on hand for a dwelling at Merchantville, N. J., to cost $3,500, also for an alteration to a church at Vardleyville, Pa., at a cost of $3,500.

John Lyman Faxon, 7 Exchange Place, Boston, Mass., will draw the plans for the new church edifice of the First Congregational Church at Detroit, Mich. The cost will be $100,000.

Harrison Albright, 508 Walnut street, Phila., is making plans for a new residence for Mr. Briscoe, at Lansdowne, Pa., also a residence for Mr. G. W. Long, at Ashbourne, Montgomery Co. Pa.

Wilson, Bros & Co., Drexel Building, Phila., have about completed the plans for the new Master Builders' Exchange building previously reported to be erected on Seventh street above Chestnut. John R. Wiggins, 2509 North College avenue is the builder.

P. T. Sellers & Son, 1529 Filbert street, have sent in estimates for the alterations to the Pierson building 818 and 820 Chestnut street. The upper floors will be made into offices. O. Frotscher, Phila., is the architect, the same firm is estimating for a new mill at Lansdowne, Pa., for the Down Quilting Co.

S. S. Woodcock, 40 State street, Boston, Mass., is the architect for the Baptist church, at Middleboro, Mass. Frame. Cathedral glass windows, will cost $6,000. The same architect has furnished plans for the new Soldiers' Memorial and Town Hall at Franklin, Mass. The cost will be $30,000, but no site has yet been selected.

J. W. Day, Bridgeport, Conn., has plans under way for a block of six three-story dwellings to contain all the modern improvements. Mr. Day is also engaged on plans for the residence of G. E. Gates, at Jersey City, N. J. The interior will be finished in natural woods and heated by hot water.

Burnham & Root, 115 Monroe street, Chicago Ill., have prepared plans for a hotel and restaurant to be erected at Kansas City, Mo., for $110,000. The material will be brick and granite with terra-cotta fronts. The same firm have plans for a $75,000 hotel to be erected at Kansas City for Charles Miller. The material to be granite, brick and terra-cotta.

Edward L. Rice, Jr., Wilmington, Del., has completed plans for two dwellings and store to be erected at the corner of Jackson and Eighth streets. The three buildings are arranged in one architectural combination. Red pressed brick will be used, in red mortar, with white marble trimmings, slate roof. The store will have handsome bulk windows.

J. B. Legg, Architectural Company, St. Louis, Missouri, have plans on hand for a commercial building at Dallas, Texas. The material will be brick, granite, terra-cotta, architectural iron work, heated by steam, elevators, plate and ornamental glass. Contracts not let, also plans for Y. M. C. A., at Independence, Mo., steam heat, stained glass &c.

Messrs. Wilson Bros. & Co., Drexel Building Phila., are making designs for the new buildings of the proposed extension to the Presbyterian Hospital.

J. H. Besarick, 32 Pemberton Square, Boston, Mass., has completed the plans for the Catholic Seminary, at Brighton, Mass. This building will be of stone and brick, four stories high, 100 by 200 feet, slate roof, elevator, ventilation and steam heat. The cost will be $200,000. No contracts let. The same architect has also drawn the plans for the Swedish M. E. Church, which will be of brick, brown stone trimmings, slate and composition roof and some galvanized iron work, no contracts let.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

The Y. M. C. A. of Germantown, contemplate enlarging its hall at that place.

At Tacony, P. O. Station, L. M. Jay Allen will erect a residence next spring.

At Frankford a petition is being circulated for signatures asking for a sewer on Main street.

Extensive alterations will be made to the Standard Theatre. South street above Eleventh street next summer.

At Holmesburg, Mr. Lewis Shallcross is erecting four new dwelling houses on Holme avenue. Mr. George T. Mills will erect two stores and dwellings on Main street, John Enoch, the builder has secured the contract.

A handsome residence will be erected in the spring by John Kenworthy, Jr., of Manayunk, on a plot of ground which he recently purchased adjoining the property of Councilman Wilde, on Green lane below Manayunk avenue.

A number of gentlemen interested in the matter met at Mayor Pitler's office last Wednesday and discussed the project of the new Second Regiment Armory, about one hundred thousand dollars will be needed for the building. Mr. John Huggard was made Chairman of a Committee to discuss means for raising the sum necessary for a building, and A. H. Hartung, Secretary. On motion of Councilman Smith a Committee was appointed to go to Harrisburg and confer with the Legislature regarding the passage of an act enabling the city to do its share in furnishing money. City Treasurer Bardsley is one of the committee.

Charles Chipman & Son, hosiery and knit goods manufacturers, of Germantown, have bought the three-story brick mill on Wakefield street Germantown, together with the dwelling house which stands some distance from the mill. This will be torn down and an addition built to the mill, 40 by 65 feet. The office will be on the first floor and will be fitted up in natural wood. French plate glass and every convenience. An elevator will be put in and fire escape erected, $10,000 will be expended in the purchase of new machinery. John D. Thompson, 40 Seymour street Germantown, has the contract for the work.

In our issue of November 12th 1888, we stated that the Quaker City Cold Storage Warehouse Company, would probably erect a building for cold storage and warehouse purposes and that among those interested were the following firms Nice & Schreiber, J. O. Paul & Co., Hunter & Drennon, J. B. Habicker & Son, MacDonald & Co., Bennett & Thorn and many others. The properties on the south side of Spruce street from South Water street to Delaware avenue together with the properties 301, 303, 305 and 307 South Water street, extending back and including the properties on Delaware avenue, have been vacated by order of the Delaware Avenue Market Company, which is the owner, the tenants having had possession on a 30 days lease, the most of whom have been provided with temporary quarters on Pier 16 S Delaware wharves and at other places by the Market Company. The size of the new building as at present contemplated is about 100 x 120 feet, Mr. John J. MacDonald the Vice President of the Producers National Bank, Chestnut street, below Front street, seems to be the active man in the enterprise. Considerable interest is expressed among the market and commission men in this vicinity, on account of the above improvement and it is intimated that several new enterprises of large proportions are in contemplation for this section. Many believe that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company owing to the pressure upon its freight depot on Delaware avenue must ultimately purchase the Delaware Avenue Market Company's property together with the properties between the depot and Spruce street. The Market Company now refuse to lease market privileges under its control except under stipulation that the tenant must vacate on thirty days notice.

HELD IN PHILADELPHIA

on February 12, 13 and 14, 1889.

Early on Monday morning last, Parlor "C." of the Continental Hotel, which had been set apart for the reception committee of the Philadelphia Master Builders' Exchange presented a busy scene. Many of the delegates to the Third Annual Convention of the National Association of Builders having arrived in this city on Sunday, early sought the hospitable reception that they well knew awaited them. Delegates from a distance singly and in small squads came in during the day and placed themselves in charge of the following committees having the comfort and entertainment of the guests in charge.

The Delegates that had arrived together with their friends and visitors, were royally entertained during the day, places of public interest were visited, and during the evening tickets of admission were furnished by the committee on entertainment to all of the theatres and other places of amusement in the city. Every thing possible was done by the officers and members of the Philadelphia Exchange to render the guests comfortable as to their hotel accommodations and no effort was spared to make the event pleasurable in the extreme.

The Convention meets at 10.30 sharp on Tuesday, the 12th instant. The Convention was called to order by the President, John S. Stevens, an eloquent and feeling prayer was made by the Rev. John Peddie, D. D., after which the Hon. Edwin H. Fittler, Mayor of Philadelphia, welcomed the Delegates to the hospitalities of the city.

MAYOR FITTLER'S ADDRESS.

Mr. President and Gentlemen:—I have a pleasant duty delegated to me, and that is, as chief magistrate to welcome here to our city of Brotherly Love the members of the National Builders' Association of the United States, and to tender to them the hospitality of our citizens.

If centuries of time add honor to a trade, then is yours honorable. While the products of other trades have fallen and crumbled into dust, that of yours has resisted the rot and rust of ages; and there is still left on the face of Mother Earth the handiwork of your predecessors.

This annual gathering of yours for the mutual exchange of thoughts and ideas is bearing its fruits, for you are keeping pace with the progress and march of improvement. The combustible building is giving place to the incombustible, in order to resist that destructive element, fire; the severely plain structure is being replaced by one of sculptured and graceful outlines; iron and steel, and terra-cotta have become factors in construction; and all this is verified by the magnificent structures that are now rearing upwards their proportions under the skillful hands of the builders of Philadelphia.

To me, it seems that the great international exhibition of 1876, was a revelation, and I date the revival in this city, in the decorations of our homes, in addition to our comfort and convenience and in the new and improved style and beauty of our architecture, to that great event. Formerly, we were satisfied with a plain and unpretentious building, but now, the skill of the architect, and of the builder and of the workman, is taxed to its utmost to produce results that will satisfy the advanced ideas of the people, and the day is not far distant when all will be erected with a view that the building shall protect its inmates, and not that the inmates shall protect the building.

I again, gentlemen, tender to you a most hearty welcome, and in closing would say that there is plenty of room at the top of the ladder.

SPEECH OF PRESIDENT STEVENS.

Our honored Mayor, in his eloquent address, has tendered you the freedom of the city, and the cordial good wishes of the citizens.

We all value highly the honor that so distinguished and influential a body has chosen this city for its place of meeting, and it will give us much pleasure to minister to your comfort and entertainment while you sojourn with us.

Much of our time and attention must, of necessity, be given to the consideration of matters of great importance that will come before us for action, still we hope to have some little time for enjoyment.

It is not necessary for me to reiterate the objects that influenced the formation of the National Association of Builders, or of causes that led thereto. These have been fully stated by my predecessors in office in their opening addresses at former conventions. But I may be excused, if I emphasize the thought that guided and influenced the originators, to wit: The establishment of a uniformity and harmony of action upon general principles among the workmen and all concerned in erection and construction of buildings throughout the United States.

The most important question with us at this time is, what has been accomplished? To answer this question, I will briefly refer to some of the subjects that have been considered by this body and the action thereon.

First, the uniform contract, the report of the committee will doubtless give you all the particulars, but I may be pardoned for saying here, that while we do not claim to have made a perfect contract, yet this one is far in advance of any that has been used heretofore and it is today largely in use throughout the United States by many leading architects.

Then, again, the intelligent discussion of the Lien Laws and a preparation of a plan for permanent arbitration; uniformity of measurements; uniform size of bricks; the question of insurance and safety to the public; the apprenticeship system etc. Has anything been accomplished? I think you will answer affirmatively.

As regards the views expressed by the National Association on the apprenticeship system at first convention in Chicago and again at Cincinnati last year, they seem to have taken hold

The growing wealth of the country, and the more general art education of the people have created a demand and appreciation for better and more elaborate dwellings, which has afforded scope for well-trained architects. Unfortunately the impression is abroad that Architects quite often lead clients to extravagant and unlooked for expense. I therefore GUARANTEE the cost of all work. When I design a $10,000 house, I mean that it shall cost no more than that amount, and will furnish a reliable builder and let the contract for that amount or less, before I make any charge for services.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y. FEB. 13, 1889

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

PRESIDENT STEVENS'S opening address was full of pith and deep meaning. It was well delivered and showed careful preparation.

The tallest man in the convention is Mr. Samuel J. Cresswell, of the Philadelphia Master Builders' Exchange.

The total liabilities of insolvent firms last year were 123,000,000 dollars, out of 1,046,662 traders recorded in commercial agencies 10,679 failed or 1 in 98.

A SPANKING big $15,000,000 court house, and the judges kicking just because there is not a single room fit to hold court in. Our judges are growing entirely too particular.

The statement made in the dailies to the effect that John F. Betz will erect a $150,000 hotel at Sea Isle City is denied. Mr. Gette, Mr. Betz's architect, says there is no truth in the statement.

PENNSYLVANIA lumber manufacturers have taken quite an interest in Southern timber properties and lumber manufacturing, especially yellow pine.

ELECTRIC lights, better water supply, better pavements, better sewerage and sanitary arrangements are wanted all around, in cities big and little.

THE present issue of this journal was somewhat delayed owing to a desire on our part to report at least the first days proceedings of the Third Annual Convention of the National Association of Builders' of the United States. The report will be continued in our next number.

MAYOR FITLER, in his address to the Convention, made a telling point when he said that the day is not far distant when all houses will be built with the view of protecting the inmates from fire instead of the inmates protecting the houses.

It will be a blessing to the members of the Master Builders' Exchange, of this city, when they get possession of their new hall. The acoustic properties of their present meeting place in the rotunda of the old Stock Exchange are so bad that even the clarion tone of brother Weaver's stentorian voice cannot be plainly distinguished at the distance of twenty feet.

THE aggregate fire tax in the United States is $160,000,000 to $180,000,000. The fire loss amounts to one dollar out of every one hundred dollars worth of wealth created last year, only ten per cent. of the entire loss was on dwellings. If the old business buildings and factories were made fire-proof many millions of dollars would be saved yearly. The question is an important one and well worthy the consideration of insurance and business men.

STRONG men, with strong purposes, representing strong interests are now gathered in convention at Franklin Institute this city. About thirty Master Builders' Exchanges, in as many cities in all parts of the United States, are represented. The convention will close its labors on Thursday, the 14th instant, many of the delegates will remain over until Saturday, and not a few will remain until Monday. There are 152 delegates and alternates attending the convention.

NOTHING enhances the beauty of a house, nor is there anything more pleasant or catching to the eye than a bit of stained glass work. Fine or artistic work is not absolutely necessary, it is the taking effect of color that is wanted. Builders, as a rule, confine their ideas too much to the practical, they leave the artistic touches to the purchasers of their houses, they forget for the time being the pleasing influences these have upon women, and what man buys a house now-a-days without the partner of his joys and sorrows entering into the bargain.

BUT few new office buildings have been projected during the past few months. Philadelphia builders seem to have concluded that the supply is about sufficient for the present. The new building at Fourth and Walnut will soon be ready for tenants and already many of the rooms have been taken. It is not at all probable that there is an over supply of offices. It is understood that there are applicants for offices in the Drexel building but there are no signs that any of the present tenants want to move out. Nearly all of the offices in the Girard building at Broad and Chestnut streets are taken. There are a good many to let at Third and Dock street's, but when Philadelphia is transformed into a first class shipping port, offices in that locality will be in demand.

If a tax payer through any error of assessment or otherwise pays a few dollars more than is rightfully due the city, payment can be made to him only by the passage of a specific ordinance to that effect. The publication of this ordinance costs $50. The time of the Council Committee is taken up to hear the case, the time of Councils is necessarily taken up in passing an ordinance. Sometimes the city has to pay $50 for the privilege of paying back an over charge of ten dollars. These mistakes are constantly occurring and in the nature of things will continue to occur. Some way ought to be devised by councils by which errors in assessments of taxes can be remedied without the cost and delay of special ordinances. It would be an interesting piece of figuring to go back two or three years on the records and find out how many fifty dollars the city has paid out to rectify its mistakes in this matter.

OUR financial institutions have long adhered to the policy of investing their funds at home or as near home as possible. While there is sense in this it can be carried too far. Excellent opportunities are opening up for profitable investment far off. A generation or two ago when the present narrow policy was adopted, reasons existed for it, but most of them have been removed by the progress and expansion that has been made in methods of doing business. Money flows where it finds the greatest safety and hence it is that money is cheapest in the larger commercial centres. Old time conservatism is disappearing and money under the larger returns realized afar off, and under the speed of business mail facilities and commercial agencies is seeking employments in localities where a few years ago it would not go under any possible inducements.

HIGH BUILDINGS will be built as long as real estate sells at fancy prices. Floor space must be had and the only way to get it is skyward. One office building in Chicago runs up 140 feet, another 165 feet. The new Chamber of Commerce building will be 182 feet, and will cost $700,000. High buildings have attractive features that will increase the demand for them. Philadelphia may take a short breathing spell with regard to new work, but it is safe to say that more and even larger buildings will yet be erected.

AT the next annual election of the stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to be held sometime in March next, an interesting fight is promised between the present management and the English stockholders for the control of that corporation. It is stated that a large number of proxies have been refused the present management notwithstanding the fact that they have been surrendered heretofore for the asking. It is claimed however, that at least sixty per cent of the stock is held on this side of the Atlantic, nearly the whole of which will be voted in the interest of the present board of directors.

PAPER, as a house building material, really merits more consideration than it has ever received. Country houses, and more particularly farm houses in exposed situations owing to the loose methods of construction and the poor material used, are as a rule cold and uncomfortable affairs at the best. For such houses paper has many advantages over even the best of lumber, and if it was made into more merchantable shapes, there is no doubt that in time it would soon become a very useful substitute for lumber for both outside and inside work. There is no reason why paper should not be used for weather boards, and if properly prepared it would certainly be superior to lumber for that purpose, it will take paint equal to wood. There would be fewer joints, it would not split warp or shrink, it is impervious to wind and is easily made water-proof, by chemical treatment it can be made fire-proof, in fact, we believe that if a house was constructed so that its interior, including shingles and in fact everything but the chimney was made of paper, the extra cost, if any, would be soon saved by the great reduction in the cost of fuel to keep it warm.

As an evidence of how well the work of building can be done in Philadelphia under the most favorable circumstances and under the direction of the most experienced members of the building craft, the improvements to the old gas office on Seventh street above Chestnut street, which is to be the new home of the Master Builders' Exchange, will be watched with considerable interest. The plans were made by the old reliable architects, Wilson Bros. & Co., Drexel Building. The contract was awarded to John R. Wiggins, an active member of the Exchange. The construction work, in all its various branches, is under the supervision of a separate and distinct committee, composed of representative men of each branch. A committee of plumbers, having the direction of the plumbing work; brick-layers, of the brick work, and so on throughout the entire list of craftsmen, whose skill and experience is to be utilized on the improvement. About $43,000 are to be expended, and it is expected that every dollar expended will yield its full measure in work or material. We doubt if ever before in the history of the country, the construction work of a building was ever placed under the direct control of so many capable and practical men.

If The Master Builders' Exchange, can be induced to interest itself in the matter of revising the building laws, controlling the erection and inspection of buildings in this city, a reasonable hope can be entertained that such laws may be made to amount to something more than a farce, or child's play. What is most needed is the aid of practical men who have some proper idea of the magnitude of the work connected with an efficient system of building inspection. Law makers as a rule have a very limited idea of the necessities the law is intended to cover. To suppose that the present Board of Building Inspectors is capable of doing the work required of it, is to calculate beyond the possibilities of human physical endurance. During 1888, there were 8262 new buildings erected in Philadelphia, these were scattered over an area representing 129 square miles of territory. If the work of inspection was equally divided (which is impossible) between the three inspectors, they would each have been compelled during 1888, to inspect and keep under their personal supervision during construction, 2754 separate and distinct buildings. The most of this work of erecting houses taking place during nine months of the year, this would give each inspector an average of about 306 new buildings to look after each month, or over ten a day, but unfortunately for the inspectors, the work cannot be distributed in this manner, during April of last year, there were 1320 new buildings commenced, consequently each inspector had besides his old work then on hand, an addition of 440 new buildings, added to his list, or in other words, on the 30th day of April 1888, the three building inspectors had under their supervision 2392 new buildings, a number of which, were of course by that time either completed, or nearly so. From this statement it can be seen that it is not possible for any three men in performing their duties of inspecting this large number of houses, to give each building that critical supervision the law intended it should receive, and yet the inspectors are required to be in the office daily, from 2 to 3 o'clock P. M. An effort has been made to reflect upon the inspectors, because the Secretary of the Board has been allowed to issue building permits, this was necessary, for the inspectors could not be expected to inspect houses and issue building permits at the same time, nor could the builders of these houses be expected to shoulder the houses and carry them to the inspectors office for inspection.

The fact is, the city has outgrown its baby clothes, and the laws of 1855, to 1863, intended to properly control the erection of buildings, together with the system of issuing building permits, the inspecting board and everything connected with it, is a stupid relic of antiquity hardly suitable for a village of the size and progressive spirit of Camden, N. J.

What we need is a law compelling owners to make personal application for permits, and by this means fasten the responsibility where it properly belongs. As it stands now, a boy can obtain a permit. The permit should include owners name, estimated cost, location, material to be used for walls and front, material to be used for the roof, number of stories high, dimensions of the building, thickness of the walls, architect's name, if there is one, contractor's name and residence, if the contract is let, and in case it is not let, then the owner should be compelled to report to the office, the name of the contractor, as soon as the contract is let. Through this means, responsibility could be placed and evasion would be useless. As a matter of record this information would be invaluable in making up the building statistics of the city.

It is claimed that Philadelphia is losing her commerce. If this is so, to what influence can the loss be justly attributed? Our water front is quite as good as it was twenty years ago, our shipping facilities more than equal the demand, our commerce is gradually drifting from us, and as a port of export and import we will probably soon become of no more importance than any of the inland cities of the west. Railroad tyranny is doing more to ruin the commerce of Philadelphia than all other influences combined. Three great corporations control between them all of the railroads, of which this city is the terminus. Whatever ruin the want of honest competition has failed to promote, unfair discrimination has accomplished. Other cities have been benefitted to our great cost. We are simply paying the penalty of our own folly and stupidity. The Baltimore & Ohio Company owes us for nothing except its ruin. Its enormous outlay of about seven millions of dollars to overcome the impediments thrown in its way to keep it from entering our sacred precincts, is all it has to thank us for.

The tyranny of the other two companies is felt everywhere. Municipal and State Legislature is influenced by them, and no secret is made of the fact, that men of political influence are employed to watch for and report the presentation of bills inimical to their interests. Judges pocketbooks have been found on the public streets gorged with railroad passes, and what courtesies of this nature have failed to accomplish other and more potent means have not been found wanting. All of this has been going on, and the press of this city, with a single exception, has been silent. Compared with many minor cities, as to railroad advantages, Philadelphia is a cipher. Cincinnati is said to be the terminal of twenty-two independent competing railroad lines; Indianapolis, 18; Chicago, 20; Omaha, 6; Kansas City, 15, while the commercial interests of the second city in the union are throttled by the great railroad triumvirate at sword points in everything, except her downfall.

A NEW steam heating boiler of recent invention for the purpose of heating churches, halls and large residences, is creating much attention being automatic in action thus rendering it reliable and safe. It is under the agency of Messrs. Steel, Van Rossum & Co., of Philadelphia, who are also agents of the "Mander Emblem Range," for household purposes, unique in construction and well adapted for the culinary department of every house.

E. S. BORTEL, of the roofing material firm of E. S. Bortel & Co., 2013 Market street, Philadelphia, has been elected President of the National Association of composite roofers. The next convention of the Association will be held at Philadelphia in January 1890. A resolution was adopted by the convention recently held at the Forest City House Cleveland, Ohio, asking architects to make separate contracts with the roofers and not as heretofore, subordinate that interest to that of any other. Manufacturers of material was also asked by resolution to discriminate in prices in favor of members of the association.

It is possible that the rapidly increasing intercourse between this country and the Spanish-American republic may have an important influence upon our architecture, which has hitherto been derived almost exclusively from English and Dutch prototypes. One of the first Latin habits to be domesticated among us will, we hope, be the use of the court-yard in city mansions.

For small houses in closely built towns the slice of building with a narrow front and rear, must, we suppose, continue to be employed; but for the city dwellings of rich people the entrance by a porte cochere into a private courtyard like that of a large Mexican or South American house, or a mansion in the Faubourg Saint-Germain, in Paris, with its fountain, its orange trees and azaleas, and its faithful concierge to keep the gate closed against intruders, gives an air of aristocratic exclusiveness, as well as an impression of happy and well-bred home life, guarded from insolent intrusion, which is not conveyed by a much larger area on the outside of the buildings, as in the Vanderbilt or Stewart grass plats in New York, or the doleful, high-walled front yards of the great London houses.—American Architect.

of the public and have been adopted by them. The press of the country has in many leading editorials discussed the subject and materially assisted in moulding public opinion. Already steps have been taken that look toward the early establishment of trade schools, and some of our public spirited citizens are devoting their means in the support of such enterprises. Notably among these I am prompted to name Col. Richard T. Auchmuty, who, not satisfied with the good already accomplished by his New York trade schools which were established and are supported by him, has offered to the builders exchanges of Boston and Philadelphia, a very large sum of money toward the establishment of such trade schools under the auspices of the exchanges in these cities.

You have all heard of the princely gift of Philadelphia's honored philanthropist, Isaiah V. Williamson, who, with his millions, proposes to found a mechanical trade school which, under the wise management of an efficient board of trustees, will accomplish a work that will join the name of Williamson, with that of Stephen Girard as a benefactor of American youth. We are sure that we see the beginning of a new era, fraught with beneficial results to the Nation at large. We cannot fail through the efforts of these schools and the wide-spread influence of the public press, as well as by our individual efforts to encourage the American youth to see and understand the nobility of labor. To make them feel that it is more honorable to be a good mechanic earning good wages than to be a poor book-keeper or clerk with a mere pittance.

The American youth is keen to seize upon the golden opportunity. American fathers are proud of their sons and the tendency is to train them to be professional men. The effect of this discrimination against mechanical labor is bad, there is not room in the professions for all and many become the satellites of capital or fall by the wayside. Gentlemen, we look for the time to come when we are to be no longer dependent on foreign labor in the erection of our buildings, the "Birds of Passage" as I have heard them called, to come here in the spring of the year and return to their own country in the fall, taking with them our American money, on which to live in comparative idleness during the winter months and leaving behind them too often the seeds of Anarchy, Atheism, and Communism in exchange therefor.

I am pleased to know that among the leading working men, they regard the establishment of trade schools with favor. Sometime since I read the opinions of many of them as published in the press of this city, and I take the liberty of quoting one of them which has no uncertain sound. Andrew McGill, president of the Journeymen Bricklayers Protective Association, was of the opinion that the trade schools will not have the least effect on the wages of mechanics in this or any other city. What this city needs, said he, "is a class of mechanics who are versed in all the branches of the trade. We have not many such now, and we can only expect to get them from schools where all the branches of the trade are taught. No mechanic should look on these schools as a menace to his interest, as they will advance rather than cause a decrease to his wages. Philadelphia and all the big cities can well afford to have any quantity of young mechanics in them such as these schools will turn out, as they will keep out the cheaper labor of Europe and make their work and all the surroundings more pleasant. None of the bricklayers in this city need feel worried about their position."

Let us, then, gentlemen of this convention, encourage and aid in the establishment of trade schools for it will not be long before we will have American mechanics to build of American material our American buildings. Our honored secretary in his report will tell us much that has been done during the year; of meetings arranged for, and successfully carried out and that have resulted in the formation of new exchanges. I have already detained you too long, we will now enter upon the business of our Third Annual Convention. The work before us is of great importance, and we feel sure it will receive, as it it well deserves, careful consideration at your hands.

Communications were received and read from the Peerless Brick Company of this city, inviting the members of the Convention to visit the company's works on Friday next, a special train to be provided for that purpose; also from The Building Commission inviting the Convention to visit the new City Hall. Also from Mr. W. J. Kelly, the Chairman of the Masonic Temple Committee, inviting the Convention to visit the Temple; also from Carpenter's Hall Association, inviting the Convention to visit its building; also from Bailey, Banks & Biddle, of this city, inviting the Convention to visit their establishment. All of the above invitations were accepted.

The following gentlemen were elected as assistants to Mr. William H. Sayward, the Secretary of the Convention, Wm. Harkness, Jr., of Philadelphia, C. W. Noshall, of Rochester, N. Y., M. E. Kavanaugh, of Cleveland, Ohio. The following gentlemen were appointed a committee on credentials, A. McAllister, of Cleveland Ohio, Wm. P. Jungclauss, of Indianapolis, Ind., M. Breen, of St. Paul, Minn., A. M. Kelley, of Worcester, Mass., and D. P. Purington, of Chicago, Ill. On motion the Secretaries were added to the committee on credentials. At 11:30 A. M. the convention adjourned to meet again at 2 o'clock P. M. After roll call and the adoption of the minutes of the last convention the reports of the Secretary and Treasurer were read. The legislative committee on lien law reported that in its opinion no claims except those of personal labor. Labor furnished, or labor and material furnished by sub-contractors. Labor or materials or both furnished direct to owner, either by contract or otherwise and material furnished to a direct contractor, should in any event have the protection of a lien law, in fact they are very thoroughly convinced that there is little real justice in any lien law whatever, that its existence in any form is an encouragement to unreliability and is a legal premium offered to dishonest practices they see no reason why any one who sells goods to a builder should have a method of securing himself upon a third party any more than the merchant who sells goods to any other class of people. The committee asked for the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved,—That this Association send to the Legislature or governor of each State in the Union a request that action be taken to secure the amendment of Lien Laws so that they will only protect actual personal labor performed upon the property liable to attachment, in amount not to exceed the value of twenty-four days' work for each individual entitled to protection, and that all filial bodies be recommended and urged to do their utmost to secure in their various State Legislatures the above desired action.

Respectfully submitted,

MARC EIDLITZ,
WILLIAM HARKNESS, JR., } Committee.
E. L. BARTLETT.

The following committees also submitted reports:

Legislative Committee on Rules and Conditions for Estimating Work.

Legislative Committee on Apprenticeship.
Legislative Committee on Uniform Size of Brick recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That whereas the National Association of Brick, Manufacturers has adopted a report recommending a standard size for common and pressed brick, this Association hereby approves and endorses the same, and recommends all filial bodies to urge conformity to these sizes in their various localities. The sizes recommended are,

For common building brick, 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches x 4 inches x 2 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches.

For pressed brick, 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches x 4 inches x 2 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches.

Respectfully submitted,

MARC EIDLITZ,
WILLIAM HARKNESS, JR., } Committee.
E. L. BARTLETT.

The Legislative Committee on Permanent Arbitration.

The Committee on Uniform Contracts recommended the adoption of the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the Committee on Uniform Contracts be and it is hereby made a standing committee of the National Association of Builders.

Resolved, That this convention recommend to all builders the use of form of contract adopted by the joint committee of the American Institute of Architects, the Western Association of Architects, and the National Association of Builders, commonly known as the "Standard Contract."

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD E. SCRIBNER,
GEO. C. PRUSSING,
JOHN S. STEVENS,
JOHN J. TUCKER,
WILLIAM H. SAYWARD, } Committee.

Secretary.

The Legislative Committee on Bureau for Furnishing Sureties on Builders Estimates and Contracts, recommend that steps be immediately taken to establish such a bureau, and that the present convention take action to secure its adoption during the year.

They recommend that a committee be appointed to make a thorough investigation of the subject and prepare a plan in full detail for operation. This committee to report to the Executive Committee at as early a day as possible, they in turn to give the matter thorough study and report in print to every filial body,—asking for approval of course suggested. Upon approval of two-thirds of all filial bodies, the Executive Committee to be empowered to establish the bureau, or to report at the next annual convention.

Respectfully submitted,

MARC EIDLITZ,
WM. HARKNESS, JR., } Committee.
E. L. BARTLETT.

The Legislative Committee on Insurance against accidents to Workmen and others submitted a lengthy report after which the Convention adjourned to meet on the 13th instant, as per programme.

SECOND DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

The Convention was called to order this morning, shortly after ten o'clock, by President Stevens, and the first subject under discussion was the report of the Committee on Uniform Contracts, which had Joint Committees of the American Institute of Architects, the National Association of Builders and the Western Association of Architects. The delegates from Cincinnati opposed this form, claiming that the one used in their city possessed superior advantages to the one under discussion; however, the form recommended by the committee was recommended for general adoption. The next thing in order was the consideration of the report of the committee on "Lien Law" and the following resolution was adopted after considerable discussion:

Resolved, That the Association shall send to the Legislature or Governor of each State in the Union a request for action to secure the amendment of lien laws so that they will protect actual personal labor performed upon the property liable to attachment, in amount not to exceed the value of twenty four days' work for each individual entitled to protection, and that all filial bodies be recommended and urged to do their utmost to secure in their various State Legislatures the above desired action.

A number of the New York Delegates favored allowing the present lien law to stand, while Mr. Prussing, of Chicago, and many other delegates favored the resolution. Secretary Sayward suggested that workmen hired by the day and journeymen, also claims of direct contractors should be protected in lien laws and these items alone; there was also a movement made to protect the sub-contractor. Other delegates maintained that the lien laws should be entirely repealed. After the adoption of a rule that no member should speak more than once or longer than five minutes on any one subject the report of the Committee on Rules and Conditions for estimating work was taken up. The report was adopted, as was also the report of the Committee on Permanent Arbitration. After a slight change in the wording of the clause on arbitration. At this point in the proceedings, Mr. Milo Lockwood, of Wilmington, Delaware, was granted fifteen minutes to speak on the subject of Trade School. Mr. Lockwood reported the action of the National Board of Trade asking for the appointment of a committee by the National Builders' Association to co-operate with committee appointed by Board of Trade to frame a bill to submit to Congress, for the establishment of a National Trade School. The following resolution was then adopted:

Resolved, "That this convention use its influence and recommend to the Legislatures of the different States of the Union the passage of the law making it a felony for any person or association to prevent or hinder any American youth from learning any trade or handicraft."

The Convention took a recess at two o'clock, before which however a resolution was passed agreeing to hold an evening session at 8 o'clock.

During the afternoon session Mr. Wm. H. Sayward, of Boston, delivered a telling address on the question of Builders' Exchanges, their opportunities and advantages. Mr. Sayward's address was a lengthy one, it was delivered with great force, its salient points being emphasized with great effect. The speaker was frequently applauded and on motion the address was ordered to be printed and sent to the members of the filial organizations throughout the United States. Mr. Stevens in the way of introducing the subject spoke with feeling and approbation of the great earnestness, Mr. Sayward had shown in the interests of the National Association and personally thanked him for his earnestness and the great ability he had displayed in the preparation of his address. As to the recommendations of the committee on "bureau for furnishing sureties on builders estimates and contracts" the report was accepted and ordered filed and a resolution was passed authorizing the President to appoint a committee of seven, of which the President and Secretary of the national organization are to be members, to formulate a plan for the organization of a national company for the purpose of furnishing security to builders, the company to receive the endorsement and support of the National Association of builders, the conditions however, being that a percentage of the profits arising from this company's business is to go towards the support of the national organization. The consideration of the report of the "committee on uniformity of measurements and the uniform size of brick," led to an animated discussion between delegates McAllister, Prussing, Furringer and Blair, the ready wit and repartee of these four gentlemen created much merriment among the delegates. The sizes of brick recommended by the report were questioned and much conflicting testimony was given as to the action of the national organization of brick manufacturers. Upon motion the report was referred back to the Legislative Committee. An invitation was received and accepted from Mr. George W. Childs, inviting the Convention to visit the office and building of the Public Ledger.

A marked feature of the afternoon session was the interesting and forcible speeches of the delegates. The number of ready debaters among the delegates. They not only made telling points against each other, but they expressed a thorough familiarity with the subjects under discussion.

Preserving Exposed Ironwork.

John Heald the proprietor of the machine works at Crockett, Contra Costa Co., Cal., has for some years past been experimenting with a view to preserving exposed ironwork, and has demonstrated some things respecting this important matter that may be of great value. Mr. Heald, some years ago had occasion to move a gas holder at Vallejo, and happened to notice on the old plates, which were badly corroded, that the "shipping marks" on the sheets were perfectly preserved. This led to the examination of other cases of the kind where marking had been done on ironwork, and also to experimenting with turpentine and white lead as a first coating to prevent rust. It is found that when surfaces are coated with finely ground lead thinned with spirits of turpentine, no corrosive action or scaling takes place, even when heavy coats of paint are afterward put on the outside. Mr. Heald says that common paint mixed with oil is too thick to penetrate or close the imperfections of the surface and penetrate beneath the scale where it exists, thus leaving places for corrosion to begin beneath the paint. With turpentine and white lead sealed thin, the very pores of the iron are closed. The interstices, to so call them, are too minute to receive the body which is given, but are closed by the thinner compound. This is the theory, but that is a matter of no consequence so long as the fact is known.—Exchange.

ACCORDING to Professor Potter, asphalt, the article of prominent commercial importance of the present day, was used in the building of the tower of Babel and other ancient structures.

SAWDUST is being used by some builders for mortar instead of sand. It is said to answer well; as it is one-half lighter than sand it has some advantages when used on ceilings. Mortar made of quicklime and sawdust, mixed with cement, does well for brick or stone work.

Hittite Architecture and Statutes.

On some of the plains of Central Turkey mounds are found. The attention of American antiquarians was called to one of these. Last winter a party of Germans commenced the work of excavation, and too laborers in a few weeks' time laid bare a large number of blocks forming, as had been supposed, the basement of a Hittite palace. They were nearly all in situ, resting upon rude foundations of masonry. A line of blocks extends along the entire front, then opens midway into an entrance hall, which soon widens into a court about forty feet square. A narrow hall connects this court with another large court further within, which has been uncovered several rods square. The halls and courts are lined by a single row of basalt blocks, each standing on end, and nearly every block contains on its inner surface a Hittite sculpture. At one place is a hunting scene continued along a dozen blocks. The men are armed with daggers, spears and the bow and arrow. Deer, rabbits and birds represent a variety of game. At the entrance to the main court on either side are the bas-relief sculptures of an immense lion looking toward the outer door, and behind each lion stands a heavily-armed soldier. The super-structure resting upon these Hittite blocks must have been made of sun-dried brick and perhaps in part of wood. The stones bear evidence that the buildings above them were burned. The pile of earth that forms the mound must be the debris of mud roofs and walls from Hittite palaces to the peasant hovels of modern times.

No Hittite hieroglyphics have yet been discovered, but the most remarkable "find" is the colossal statue of Sardanapalus, King of Nineveh, eighth century, B. C., standing on a pedestal in the smaller court of the palace. The workmanship is very fine. The face speaks like the finest Grecian statues. The statue has been thrown down and broken, but the fragments are all there and the whole figure can easily be restored. On this statue were several square yards of Assyrian inscriptions in cuneiform hieroglyphics, from which the name was determined. But how this statue of an Assyrian king came to be placed in a Hittite palace is not easily accounted for. It is presumed that when Sardanapalus made his expedition through Asia Minor he conquered this Hittite city and erected his own statue in the palace, carefully preserving intact all the productions of the Hittite art. Several shafts have thus far sunk in different parts of the mound, but no other important results have been reached. The Germans have also discovered in a Turkish cemetery, near Zeugitli, a human statue with nearly a square yard of inscription in what seems to be Phœnician character. Hittite remains have been discovered at different points in Central and Southern Asia Minor, extending as far west as Smyrna and east to the Euphrates.

From consular report furnished by Mr. Henry Marsh, United States Consular agent at Marash.—N. Y. Building.

IN 1887 the production of quicksilver in the United States increased from 29,958 flasks, valued at $1,050,000, to 35,825 flasks, valued at $1,429,000. The price varied in San Francisco from $36.50 to $48.00 per flask. The total supply came from California, with the exception of 65 flasks from Oregon.

Recent Decisions.

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

DECEDENTS ESTATE.—A testator by his will devised certain real estate and personal estate to his daughter absolutely.

By a codicil he devised in fee to trustees, the property devised to his daughter, and the trustees "were required to apply all the proceeds and profits thereof to her personal use and support and benefit from time to time, as she may need and require, when by her demanded in writing for herself and her children, but not to be applied or used otherwise." The daughter was a widow and not in contemplation of marriage.

Held, that the trust was passive and the "ceteri que" trust (the daughter) was entitled to a conveyance of the property. Rodriguez Appeal, May 26, 1888.

MORTGAGE.—Where a mortgage is given by A. to B. in the penal sum of ten thousand dollars, conditioned for the payment of $400 to B. during his life, and after his death $150 per annum to C. wife of B. during her life, B. is a trustee for C., so far as the covenants relate to her; he can satisfy the mortgage to the extent of his own interest, but C. may disregard the entry of satisfaction and proceed by "sci fa" to secure the performance of covenants made for her benefit. McClaghry v McClaghry, April 27, 1888.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.—It is a breach of the covenant for quiet possession in a lease if the lessor has, prior to the execution of the lease, made a verbal lease of the same premises to a third party for one year, and said third party takes and keeps possession of the premises under said verbal lease.

In an action for damages for breach of a covenant for quiet possession in a lease, the plaintiff having proved his lease, offered evidence to prove a prior verbal lease by his lessor to a third person, and that plaintiff was prevented from obtaining possession of the premises by the third person.

The defendant denied making this verbal lease, and offered evidence to prove that the third person had leased the premises up to the time when plaintiff's term began, that at the expiration of the term, he refused to give up possession, when defendant obtained possession by a writ of possession, and delivered the same to the plaintiff. Plaintiff then offered evidence of the circumstances of the execution of this writ to show that he never was in actual possession.

The jury found a verdict for the plaintiff, and it was held, this the plaintiff's right to recover, depending on these questions of fact, it was proper to submit them to the jury. Brennan v Jacobs, March 2, 1888.

HUSBAND AND WIFE.—An agreement under seal entered into between husband and wife for their mutual separation, and for the division of property between them, is not contrary to the policy of the law; and where such agreement is consummated it will be sustained.

The husband or his administrator has no legal claim to property which has passed into the actual possession of the wife living apart from her husband in pursuance of such agreement. Agnew's Appeal, January 9, 1888.

MECHANICS LIENS.—The act of June 17, 1887, entitled "an act relating to the lien of mechanics and others upon buildings," is unconstitutional, and our system of mechanics liens is entirely unaffected by any of its provisions. Marsh v Bower, October 23, 1888.

Where a contractor covenants "for himself, his heirs, executors and administrators that he will not suffer or permit to be filed, any mechanics lien or liens against the said building for the period of six months after its completion," he has waived the right to file or authorize a lien to be filed in his favor.

In such a case, to file a lien for himself, or to suffer or permit it to be filed in his own favor, is as clearly a violation of his covenant, as if he had suffered or permitted any mechanic or material man to file a lien. Scheid v Rapp, May 14, 1888.

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of operations for which permits were granted and reported in our issue of February 6th, was 48. The transfers of property numbered 349, amounting to $1,883,388.44, of which $1,510,080.10, was the cash consideration and $373,308.44, the mortgage consideration. A further charge of $10,553.08 is to be added for ground rents which on a six per cent basis amounts to $175,884.67. The sales at auction amount to $131,085, with an incumbrance of $11,620.

Architects' Notes.

Theophilus Chandler, Brown Building, Philadelphia, has no new business on hand at present.

Henry Vaughn, 28 Pemberton Square, Boston, Mass., has prepared plans for a $40,000 residence to be erected at Block Island, R. I., for E. F. Serle, of New York.

J. W. B. Fry, 119 S. Fourth street, is the architect for a new store and dwelling, for which he is making plans, to be erected at York, York Co., Pa.

Romulo Tasquez is the architect for the buildings on which work has been commenced for Mr. George T. Mills, on Main street, Holmesburg, Philadelphia.

S. D. Button, 420 Walnut street, Philadelphia, has some big contracts in prospect, but not yet in shape to report, will have something to say in the course of two or three weeks.

Moses & King, 226 Walnut street, Philadelphia, no new business in hand, but say that the prospect for spring work is very bright, but that competition for large operations is particularly close.

A. J. Boyden, 411 Walnut street, Philadelphia says prospect for spring work exceedingly good.

J. Merrill Brown, 68 Devonshire street, Boston, Mass., is the architect for a dwelling for Isaac B. Tompkins, New Bedford, at a cost of $10,000. Open fire places, stained glass windows. No contracts let.

Furness & Evans, 209 S. Third street, are preparing plans for a residence for Mr. Frank Thompson, First Vice President of the Pennsylvania R. Co. The new building is to replace Cokerhill Hill recently destroyed by fire at Overbrook, Montgomery Co. Pa.

VOL. IV.—No. 7. PHILADELPHIA, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1889. PRICE 15 CENTS

THE CONVENTION.

The Convention of the National Association of Builders held at Franklin Institute this city closed its labors on Thursday last.

From the opening on Tuesday morning the 12th instant until the close on the afternoon of Thursday, the 14th instant, the Convention persistently and patiently labored with the work before it without interruption during the day except for meals, and on Wednesday it was made obvious that a night session must be held and Wednesday evening was accordingly devoted to that purpose.

It was strictly speaking, a working convention, its members being thoroughly and earnestly interested; a large daily attendance of delegates being the rule and not the exception.

The success of the Convention was largely due to the presiding officer, Mr. John S. Stevens, ably assisted by the Secretary, Mr. William H. Sayward and his assistants Messrs. Harkness, Voshall and Kavanagh.

The papers read before the Convention expressed great care and thoughtful preparation and impressed the listeners as being practical treatise upon practical subjects by practical men. Men whose experience had been earned with tools in their hands and whose time and efforts had been devoted to solving other than abstruse questions; the most of whom had never seen the inside of college walls, but who nevertheless were the peers of college professors in explaining what they knew, in language unmistakably clear as to point and preface. It was to these men, as one speaker said that the country must look for the heads of departments. The mental power and strength of the character of American mechanics had been ignored entirely too long; positions of honor and trust that required trained and practical experience were tendered to lawyers, while the men who were best capable of filling them were entirely forgotten. It was then through such institutions as this National Association of Builders, that the strong men of the mechanical branches must make their worth and influence felt. No question before the Convention seemed to arouse the enthusiasm and sympathy of the delegates so much as that of Trade Schools; to a man they were unanimous as to their necessity; in fact so great was the interest this question excited that the Convention temporarily resolved itself into an experience meeting which brought forth much information that was interesting and instructive, Mr. Wm. Harkness, Jr., of the Philadelphia delegation having been called upon to entertain the Convention with a description of the management of the Plumbers' Trade School of this city, where the apprentices of the members of the Plumbers' Association were taught the trade; he said that although the apprentices attended school but two evenings of each week their advancement was simply surprising; that one of the evenings was devoted to practical drawing and the other to practical work; that in drawing the apprentices frequently excelled over the oldest and most experienced journeymen and even the masters; that the greatest and perhaps the most decided advantage gained by the bosses from these schools was the fact that during the day the apprentices worked and their work was profitable, for while at work no time was lost for instruction, as the apprentices were anxious and willing to show their ability to do good work which often compared very favorably with that of the journeymen.

Mr. Harkness stated that the school contained sixty boys with sixty more knocking at the door for admission. It was started five years ago and already its great influence had been felt. Mr. Voshall related the great advantages that were derived by the inmates of the Reformatory at Rochester, N. Y., from the trade school that had been started in that institution; the school had already been instrumental in rescuing boys from a life of crime; enabling many to start even with the world and to become honest and industrious citizens, Mr. Voshall added with peculiar earnestness that the foundations for the new boilers that were to be placed in the institution were being laid by boys of the reformatory who were learning the trade of brick laying.

Mr. Sharkey, of the Brooklyn delegation spoke with much feeling; he stated that he had been a teacher of boys for over fifty years, that he had been instrumental in teaching fully too apprentices, many of whom had become prominent men and of whom he was very proud; he had been compelled for principle sake to entirely abandon the apprenticeship system altogether; the shops had become filled with foreign mechanics, many of them being atheists, communists and even anarchists, exercising a baneful influence over the boys working with them and it had been with him a constant fight with his men in the interest of the boys and he had been compelled to abandon the idea of teaching boys a trade altogether. Mr. Sharkey earnestly appealed to the delegates to use their influence towards having trade schools started and supported by the Government, and why not? he asked; our government teaches American boys the art of war at West Point; it educates our young men to be officers in its navy and why should it not educate our American boys to become mechanics, for what greater reliance has it in times of trouble? without the mechanic of what use would either the officers in our army or the officers in our navy prove to be. The adoption of a form of contract proved to be a question that could only be settled by a joint committee representing the National Association of Builders' The American Institute of Architects and the Western Association of Architects. Mr. Stevens stated that the best contract they had been able to obtain thus far, was the one submitted to the convention, that this had been gained only after a great struggle, that the question was one for the further consideration of the committee and the delegates might rest assured that no effort would be spared on the part of the builders' representatives to obtain all that is possible to secure. At the morning session of Thursday the Convention was entertained by the reading of papers, one by Mr. O. P. Hatfield, of New York, entitled Architect & Builder, this paper owing to the illness of Mr. Hatfield was read by John McArthur, Jr., the architect of our new public building, one by Professor George Eastburn, on the Metric System, and one by Colonel Richard T. Anchinumy on Trade Schools and Trade Training.

During the afternoon the McAllister Committee reported favorably on the resolution for a committee of seven to consider the organization of a company to insure builders' risks under the supervision of the association. The committee on Government Work reported against the St. Louis Exchange resolution asking to have government work divided into distinctive branches, when let out by contract. A resolution was adopted declaring it discourteous and wrong for an association contractor doing work outside of the city in which he resides not to abide by the customs and rules of the association to which he belongs.

A resolution denouncing any attempt to repeal the conspiracy laws was adopted.

A report of the committee on time and place of next convention was submitted by delegate Ransom of Grand Rapids, Mich. The report recommended that the next convention be held on January 20th 1890, at St. Paul.

The following gentlemen having been nominated as officers of the association were unanimously elected by acclamation, President Edward H. Scribner of St. Paul; First Vice, John J. Tuccer of New York; Second Vice, Colonel A. McAllister of Cleveland; Secretary, Wm. H. Sayward of Boston; Treasurer, George Tappier of Chicago.

The following gentlemen were elected Directors of the Association for the ensuing year: E. L. Bartlett, of Baltimore; L. P. Soule, of Boston; D. A. J. Sullivan, of Charleston, S. C.; George C. Prussing, of Chicago; J. Milton Blair, of Cincinnati; H. R. Jenks, of Cleveland, O.; W. J. Stapleton, of Detroit; Edward M. Hager, of Buffalo; William Miller, of East Saginaw, Mich.; John H. Hoskins, of Grand Rapids, Mich.; James E. Shover, of Indianapolis; Wm. W. Taylor, of Kansas City; Garrett Dunick, of Milwaukee; Barclay Cooper, of Minneapolis; Marc Edlitz, of New York; William Harkness, Jr., of Philadelphia; Richard Hayward, of Providence; W. H. Gorsline, of Rochester; Frank Clark, of Sioux City, Iowa; John DeGlue, of St. Joseph, Mo.; Daniel Evans, of St. Louis; Matt Breen, of St. Paul; William Dickson of Syracuse; S. J. McCarthy, of Washington, D. C.; William H. Foulk, of Wilmington, Del., and E. B. Crane, of Worcester, Mass.

PHILADELPHIA
ARCHITECTS.

The growing wealth of the country, and the more general art education of the people have created a demand and appreciation for better and more elaborate dwellings, which has afforded scope for well-trained architects. Unfortunately the impression is abroad that architects quite often lead clients to extravagant and unlooked for expense.
I therefore GUARANTEE the cost of all work.
When I design a $10,000 house, I mean that it shall cost no more than that amount, and will furnish a reliable builder and let the contract for that amount or less, before I make any charge for services.

Proceedings of the MASTER BUILDER'S CONVENTION.

Among the pleasing episodes of the Convention none were more impressive than the continued evidences and expressions of esteem that were constantly made showing the high regard in which Mr. John S. Stevens, the retiring President was held by every delegate of the convention and when it is remembered that when he was first elected to fill that important position there was a disposition among a few delegates who did not know the man and who were unacquainted with his wonderful mental resources and genius as a presiding officer, to depreciate the selection by referring to him as "only an iron man" his present popularity has been justly earned and well merited. At all events he has filled the position with credit both to himself and to the Philadelphia Master Builders' Exchange of which he was also the President. Long may he live. Convention adjourned Sine die.

JOHN S. STEVENS, the retiring President of the Association of Master Builders, has been presented with a handsome portrait of himself. His associates on the Board of Directors of the Philadelphia Exchange have also presented him with a handsome gold watch and chain.

Miss G. Howard, 907 Drexel Building, requests us to state that she is prepared to do stenography and type writing for Architects, Builders, Contractors, Lawyers, Merchants and others. She makes a specialty of "specification" work from dictation for architects. She comes to us highly recommended and she will cheerfully furnish samples of her work.

To harden plaster of Paris add 5 or ten per cent. of hydraulic cement to the plaster before setting. Five per cent. of finely ground sulphate of potassium will give even a greater degree of hardness.

For Sweet Charity's Sake.

The German-American Charity Concert and Ball to be held under the auspices of the Mannerchor Society of this city, takes place on Friday evening next, February 22, the proceeds to be divided between the German Hospital and the German Society of Philadelphia. The programme is a long and varied one, for besides the ball, the musical entertainment will embrace very fine orchestral music, a solo by the tenor, Mr. Carl Kausche; a chorus by members of the Mannerchor; a solo by Mr. Emil Gastel; a patriotic tableau representing charity, commemorative of the birth-day of Washington; the conclusion to be the star spangled banner by the full chorus and orchestra. The grand march is to be led by William Henry Lee, Esq., who is master of ceremonies. Tickets can be had from any of the committee. See advertisement.

George A. Adams & W. P. Regau, of Lawrence, Essex Co., Mass., have completed plans for a residence for the Oblate Fathers of the Immaculate Church at Lowell, Mass. This building will be of brick, three stories high with forty-six rooms and a chapel.

Harrison Albright, 508 Walnut street, has prepared plans for a residence at Chelton Hill for W. Frederick Snyder, Esq.; also just completed plans and specification for a country house for W. A. Briscoe, Esq., located at Ashtabur, on the North Penn R. R., to be built of stone and frame, with all modern conveniences—40 x 60.

Frank L. Jones, 22 School street, Boston, Mass., is preparing plans for a dwelling for H. W. Bates, Allston, Mass. All modern conveniences. No contracts let. Also, plans for dwelling for Frank H. Rodell, Brooklyn, N. Y. No contracts let. Also, plans for dwelling for C. A. Heyer, St. Johnsbury, Vt. No contracts let.

At Lowell, Mass., Messrs. Merrill & Cutler have submitted plans for the new armory at Grand and Westford streets. The material will be brick; heated by steam, and the cost about $90,000. The same architects have prepared plans for the new High School at Concord, N. H. This building will be of brick, two stories. Steam heat will be employed.

J. Merrill Brown, 68 Devonshire street, is preparing plans for the new Massasoit Bank Building, at New Bedford, Mass. The material will be brown stone and Perth Amboy brick, three stories in height. Steam heat will be employed. electric lights, speaking tubes, large plate glass windows, tile flooring and marble stairways, No contracts let.

Geisinger & Hales, architects, 102 S. Twelfth street, have completed plans for a large cotton and woolen mill at Third and Ontario streets, the property of James Long, Bro. & Co., to be built of brick and iron, the cost of the whole to be considerably over $100,000. Also, plans for the building of a machine shop for Pedrick & Ayer, at Tenth and Hamilton streets, to be of brick and stone.

Shepley, Rutan & Coolidge have finished the plans for the Shady Side Presbyterian Church, at Pittsburg, Pa., (before reported). The cost will be about $100,000. It will be heated by steam, and have a seating capacity of 1000. No contracts let. The same firm have secured the contract to furnish plans for the Bell Telephone Building to be erected at St. Louis, Missouri, at a cost of $150,000. The material will be brown stone, seven stories in height and 50x20 feet.

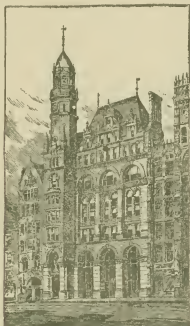

W. W. Neuer, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., has finished the plans for a new school house to be erected in Edwardsville Borough, near Wilkesbarre. The style of architecture will be Romanesque, mingled with Gothic. The material will be brick and cut stone, and the dimensions 64 x 86 feet. There will be eight school rooms, 23 x 30 and 23 x 34 feet. The Smead Wills' system of heat and ventilation will be employed. Contracts not yet awarded.

Messrs. Andrews & Jacques, 6 Beacon street, Boston, Mass., have prepared plans for the Boston Building, to be erected at Denver, Colorado, at a cost of $400,000. The material will be of local sand-stone, eight stories in height. Contracts not let. The same architects are preparing plans for a number of summer residences to be erected at Chestnut Hill, Mass., and Pomfret, Conn. These dwellings will be finished with every modern improvement, and will cost in the neighborhood of $60,000 and $70,000 each. The plans and specifications are not yet ready for the contractors.

The plans and specifications for Manager Fleishman's new Park Theatre, at Broad and Fairmount avenue, Philadelphia, are now completed and in the hands of the architects, J. B. McElpatrick & Son, No. 23 East Fourteenth street, New York City. The contract has not as yet been awarded. The structure will be of pressed brick, cut stone, iron and wood. The inside to be of very elaborate decorations, with the latest improvements in electricity for lighting purposes, and the heating will be done under the latest and most approved method, while the seating will be considered with an eye single to the comfort of the patrons. On the whole the house will be one of the most complete, commodious and well appointed theatres in this country.

Willis P. Hale, Keystone Bank Building, Philadelphia, has completed the plans for the new club house of the Athletic Club of the Schuylkill Navy, before reported, and work will begin about March 1st. The site, which includes 1626 and 1628 Arch street, is forty-five feet front, and extends back to Cuthbert street, a distance of 150 feet, and cost $38,000. The new club house which will cost about $200,000, will be of Indiana lime stone and brick, five stories in height; a basement containing a swimming pool, Turkish baths, barber shop, bowling alley, electric light plant, etc. The other floors will contain reading rooms, cafe, gymnasium, with running track, billiard room, etc. All the rooms will have open fire places, as well as steam heat. The club is also negotiating for grounds, accessible to the city, on which to erect a summer club house. The site will be somewhere on the Delaware river, and it is proposed to provide accommodations for base ball, cricket, rowing, lawn tennis and running. The membership of the club is now about 1200.

Theophilus P. Chandler, Jr., Brown Building, Philadelphia, has completed the plans for the new office building to be erected by the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, at 923 and 925 Chestnut street, as will be seen by the following cut. The design for the new building is very beautiful.

It is not yet decided whether it will be built of granite or Georgia marble, the question of material still pending before the building committee. The new building will be seven stories high; the first story being in height equal to the height of two stories. It will have a front of 77 feet on Chestnut street, and will extend back 224 feet to Chest street. The main entrance will be through a tower 165 feet high. There will be six elevators. It will be heated by steam. The building will have three fronts and entrances on Chestnut street. There will be three offices on the first floor on Chestnut street, which will be rented for banking purposes, Trust Companies, Insurance Offices, etc. The offices of the Penn Company will be in the rear of the building on the first floor. The hall or entrance will be 19 feet wide. The building will contain over 100 offices, besides those to be occupied by the Company, which will be rented. Further particulars cannot be given at present, as it is the wish of the building committee to keep the details from the public until the contracts have been let.

Miscellaneous.

There seems to be considerable grounds for the report that an immense university will be founded by the Baptists, although the institution will not be conducted on a strictly sectarian basis. Dr. Roberts, president of the Rochester Theological Seminary, at Rochester, N. Y., is one of the prime movers in the project. Dr. Wayland Hoyt, of this city, is also much interested. The preference as to location seems to be centered on Washington, D. C.

At Boston, Mass., a syndicate has purchased one million square feet of land on the Cambridge side of the back bay for Athletic purposes. The management will lay a half mile track for bicycles. There will be tennis courts and baseball grounds, and a grand pavilion will be erected, containing parlor, dressing, retiring toilet, bath rooms and kitchen. In the winter a toboggan slide will be erected. The ground will be opened early in the summer. The whole enterprise will be managed by H. E. Duckue.

At Washington, D. C., Alexander Graham Bell, and his cousin, Charles J. Bell, have purchased the unimproved ground on the east side of Connecticut avenue, between N street and Dupont circle. This ground has a frontage of 125 feet on Connecticut avenue, of which A. G. Bell will have 75 feet, and Charles J. Bell 50 feet. These gentlemen are now having plans prepared for handsome residences which they purpose erecting on the recently acquired ground. Senator Sherman is making arrangements for the erection of thirty dwellings. A gentleman, a member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, has offered to be one of twenty to give five dollars for the purchase of a stained glass side window for the chancel.

Through New Jersey.

At Cape May, Cape May Co., the Mount Vernon Improvement Company will erect the hotel, reported in our issue of November 12, 1888.

A committee of the Gloucester County Board of Freeholders has recommended the erection of a new building for the insane of that county.

At Flemington, Hunterdon Co., it is said that a pottery will be established by Mr. Rufus Smith and sons.

At Bridgeton, Cumberland Co., the Bridgeton Electric Light Company will add an incandescent plant to its works to cost $15,000.

At Florence, Burlington Co., the erection of a new temperance hotel is projected for the coming summer.

At Beverly, Burlington Co., it is reported the site of the old oil cloth works will be used on which to erect a fertilizing factory.

At Craner Hill, Camden Co., a number of houses will soon be erected at the corner of Second and High streets.

At Atlantic City, $10,000 will be expended in straightening and improving the boardwalk. Young & Tralinger, will erect six dwellings on the lots recently purchased of Elisha Roberts.

At Camden, the Camden Republican Club has purchased the Newkirk property, mentioned last week, and will fit it up handsomely for club purposes. The price paid was $16,200.

At Ocean Grove, Monmouth Co., Mrs. L. P. Hyatt, of Newark, will build a new cottage on Olin street. Miss Barber is erecting a large cottage designed for boarders.

At Bordentown, Burlington Co., the subject of lighting the town with electricity is being agitated. A complete system of sewers is being agitated.

At Mount Holly, Burlington Co., at a recent meeting of Freeholders the subject was discussed of erecting an insane asylum to cost about $30,000.

At Princeton, Mercer Co., Mrs. Susan D. Brown has given $25,000 additional to the $50,000 previously donated. The entire sum has been appropriated to a new dormitory. Before reported.

At Atlantic Highlands, Monmouth Co., Robert Emery will erect a new dwelling. S. H. Powell is the contractor. Cost, about $3,000. John J. Leonard is the contractor for a new truck house for Hook and Ladder Company No. 1.

At Burlington, Burlington Co., the Baptist church will be improved by the addition of a circular gallery, new pews and stained glass windows. It is reported that a citizen of the town will erect a row of dwellings on Columbus avenue.

At Haworth, Bergen Co., (not a P. O. town) on the Hudson river division of the West Shore Railroad, residences will be erected the coming season by Rev. R. S. MacArthur, E. R. Schuyler, A. A. Randall, A. C. Lobeck, Edward Hile, W. N. W. Smith, Francis W. Holbrook, Matthew D. Field, Henry J. Chapin, A. M. Roome, and James F. Herlick.

At Trenton, a bill has been introduced into the Senate by Mr. Everitt appropriating $25,000 to found a State institution for the blind. Also, one by Mr. Smith appropriating $40,000 for the erection and furnishing of an additional building for the State Industrial School for Girls. A new railroad will be built from Trenton to Point Pleasant, Ocean Co. The capital stock is $500,000. The President will be John Hart Brewer, John I. Murphy, Treasurer and Alexander C. Yard, Secretary, all of Trenton.

Through Delaware.

At Newcastle, Newcastle Co., the Levy Court of Newcastle County, which met February 13, received a communication from Dr. J. J. Black, in regard to the condition of the county jail and urging immediate action on some plan of improvement. Messrs. Sutton, Weir, and McCall were appointed a committee to examine the jail and to report on the subject.

At Wilmington, a canning factory to operate a newly patented can-making machine is being agitated. Caleb P. Johnson, Thomas McClary, J. D. Sisker, Thomas B. Smith and some others are interested. City Council has recommended the opening of West Eleventh Street between Madison and Monroe Streets. Some action of the Legislature is necessary before it can be done. At the last meeting of City Council Mr. Johnson presented a petition from J. M. Taylor asking permission to erect a frame chapel to be followed by the erection of a brick and stone church. The petition was referred to the Law Committee. A citizens meeting will be called to consider the advisability of opening Delaware avenue to Market street. About $200,000 will be required to purchase the property through which the avenue would go.

Through Pennsylvania.

—At Chester Heights, suburb of West Chester Chester Co., R. W. Downing, Comptroller of the Penna. Railroad will erect a handsome residence. —Ex-Congressman William Ward will also erect a residence on his farm near that of Mr. Downing's.

—At Altoona, Blair Co., Wm. H. Brown, chief engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., is advertising for furnishing all labor and materials, and erecting complete, the proposed machine shop, smith shop and erecting shop to be located at that place.

—At Wilkesbarre, Luzerne Co., S. L. Brown started at a meeting of the Board of Trade that several parties had been in town lately looking for a site for a proposed industry with a capital from $500,000 to $800,000. Nothing definite, however, had been done.

—At Sewickley, Allegheny Co., the Sewickley Dairy Company are erecting a large barn, capable of accommodating 200 cows. This will be followed by the erection of four others of similar dimensions. A creamery is also under way, which will be followed by other improvements.

—At Wayne, Delaware Co., R. H. Johnson is preparing to erect a row of cottages, not a quarry, for the use of his employees. A site is still being sought for the much needed new school building. Plans are also being considered for a number of new stores to be erected on Lancaster avenue, and will likely be commenced in the spring.

—At Beaver Falls, Beaver Co., the old car works site has been purchased, on which will be erected one of the largest factories in the city, by the Cambria Iron Company, of J. H. Smith, and W. A. McCool, of Beaver Falls, who have several patents on cold steel shafting. The Mansion House will also be razed to make room for the new factory.

—At Glenn Mills, Delaware Co., work has been commenced on the new House of Refuge, previously reported. About twenty-five cottages will be erected in all, of which ten will be erected the present season.

—At Erie, Erie Co., extensive improvements will be made to the Soldier's Home the coming summer. The commission has asked for $25,000 for the purpose. The chapel will be enlarged and the seating capacity doubled. The old building will have a new roof and and a considerable amount of landscape gardening is contemplated. A large number of trees will be planted and new walks made.

—At Norristown, Montgomery Co., J. M. Albertson & Son will enlarge their Star Glass Works by an addition 90 by 137 feet. The sum of eight thousand dollars has been pledged toward the Second Baptist Church, previously reported. The plan now is to erect what may one day serve as a wing to a larger edifice. The building about to be erected now will be 42 by 78 feet with vestibule and portico ten feet square.

—At New Castle, Lawrence Co., the Board of Trade has issued a circular setting forth the necessity for the Hospital (before reported). One of those will be given to each member of the Committee on Appropriations, and if the report is favorable, one will be sent to each member of the House. Representative Brown considers the outlook very favorable that the bill will pass the House if favorably reported by the committee.

—At Pittsburg the new building for the German National Bank, (previously reported), will be commenced about April 1, and will be one of the handsomest bank buildings in the city. It will have a frontage of 130 feet on 6th avenue, and 30 feet on Wood street, and will have a height of 136 feet. The fronts will be of granite. Forty-three offices will be in the building, which will be reached by double elevators. The floors will be tiled, and the ceilings of marble and bronze, and all the wood work will be of hard wood. A feature of the building will be a ladies' parlor, and a deposit room containing 2,500 boxes. The building will be fire-proof.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

Mr. Robert Meyers, of Tacony, will erect two three-story dwellings at Tulip and Tyson streets that place.

It is said that Hoopes & Townsend, manufacturers of bolts, nuts, washers, etc., at 1330 Buttonwood street, are negotiating with Mr. John Glass of New York, the owner of a tract of land along the river front at Holmesburg, Phila., on which to erect buildings, for the use of their works from their present quarters to that place. The firm employs about 1500 men.

The Weyth Bros., druggists, on Walnut above Broad street, state that they have not, as yet, matured plans for the future. It is not likely that, even though they retained, upon the old site, their wholesale and retail store, their laboratory will be rebuilt, upon the same ground, owing to the objections rendered against such a project by the neighboring real estate owners.

During the coming theatrical vacation season Hermann's Theatre, situated on South Broad street, will be entirely remodelled in the interior. Mr. H. is at present receiving propositions from architects in New York and will complete details at an early date. When all arrangements have been made we shall endeavor to give them in full to our subscribers.

A meeting of the Hay Market Association was held at Frankford recently, at which a board of nine directors was elected, consisting of Henry W. Hallowell, Daniel Williams, John Hiddle, Orlando Raynor, Joseph Bosler, Howard Jarret, Albert Fonda, Dr. R. B. Burns and Watson Bavington. All the stock has been taken, and work will be begun on the buildings (before reported) at Twelfth and Cambria streets, early in the spring.

Council's Committee on Schools has decided to purchase a lot and to erect a new building for school purposes at Rowlandsville, Twenty-third Ward.

A large purchase of land has just been made by the agents of Warden, Frew & Co., Standard Oil capitalists, at the corners of Eleventh, Pine and Quince streets on which he proposes to erect what is now known as an apartment house in which all conveniences will be at hand, and is in fact a departure from the old mode of tenement houses, the rules and regulations for the sanitary conditions and general comfort and welfare of those who occupy the various divisions, being upon such a basis as to ensure the health and happiness of all who may occupy a home with in, as it is only the consolidation of many houses under one roof.

Mr. John Haslan, of Frankford, will erect a residence at Penn street and Oxford Pike. A three-story brick building will be erected by James Noble on the lot adjoining The Gazette office. The frame buildings, now occupied by the Misses M. and J. Elmer, will be demolished to make room for a new building. A handsome store will soon be erected by R. Bloom. Peters & Wentz will shortly begin the erection of fifteen two-story brick houses between Church and Waln streets. Charles Lukens contemplates the erection of a store and dwelling at Main and Unity streets.

Lot-Buyers.

Architects and others had better correspond with the following lot buyers, as many of them contemplate building.

Mary B. Fox, of Paschalville, Philadelphia, four lots at Ridley Park, $420.

Susan M. Pennock, Lansdowne, Pa., lot at same place, $1,600.

Jos. Sperzel, of Darby, Pa., lot at same place, $500.

Matilda Gardner, of Chester, lot at same place.

Samuel Crumlico, of Highspire, Dauphin Co., Pa., two lots at same place.

D. A. Detweiler, of Highspire, Pa., six lots at same place.

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

ADAMANT WALL PLASTER

A SUPERIOR SUBSTITUTE FOR COMMON PLASTER

233 AND 235 NORTH 23d STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

BUILDERS' EXCHANGE, PITTSBURG, PA.

ADAMANT is a cement or artificial stone, capable of resisting all ordinary casualties so disastrous to common Plaster.

ADAMANT adheres firmly to lath, brick, stone or iron, lasting as long as the building without even cracking.

ADAMANT is lighter than lime-plaster; it does not shrink, and is impermeable to noxious gases or disease germs.

ADAMANT is valuable for setting tiles and slabs because of its remarkable adhesive properties.

ADAMANT is cooler in summer and warmer in winter.

ADAMANT excludes all dampness.

ADAMANT is fire-proof.

ADAMANT saves time and expense, as carpenters can follow plasterers in twelve hours and need not move out while the plastering is going on.

ADAMANT is preferred by painters on account of its smooth surface, and not possessing any ingredient to damage the color, as in lime-mortar.

PHILADELPHIA ARCHITECTS.

The growing wealth of the country, and the more general art education of the people have created a demand and appreciation for better and more elaborate dwellings, which has afforded scope for well-trained architects. Unfortunately the impression is abroad that Architects quite often lead clients to extravagant and unlooked for expense. I therefore GUARANTEE the cost of all work. When I design a $10,000 house, I mean that it shall cost no more than that amount, and will furnish a reliable builder and let the contract for that amount or less, before I make any charge for services.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y. FEB. 27, 1889

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

THERE is considerable enquiry for vacant lots for building purposes, the demand being particularly strong for factory sites. Prices are stiffening and owners begin to recognize the scarcity of this kind of property. The owners of rattle-trap houses situated on desirable lots hold their properties at such high figures as to practically make them unavailable. There is no doubt that the demand is somewhat exaggerated and arises from the enquiry for sites being duplicated and triplicated owing to a desire to buy the best for the least money. The outlook for active building operations for 1889 are really good. Architects are reasonably busy and intimate that the prospects are excellent, many of them having big work in hand, but say it is too early to talk.

THE northeastern elevated, like Banquo's ghos will not down. It is an out growth of necessity. Its importance to the city is a hundred fold greater than the Reading Terminal Scheme. It is the plea of thousands of mechanics and workmen who see through it among other benefits, their hope of years for purer air, better homes and better surroundings than the courts and alleys in which they now live, can give them. Any defeat the elevated may receive will prove to be a temporary set back only, it will come up again as it is bound to become sooner or later a thing of existence. It will make available an immense section of the city whose growth is stunted through the want of adequate transportation. It will add hundreds of thousands of dollars of assessable property to the city's revenue. It will extend manufacturing interests and make the way open for manufacturing sites, handsome residences and plenty of cheaper homes for our workmen. All of this is true and yet the bill should not pass without a proper guarantee to indemnify property owners for damages arising from its construction.

It is very evident that Mr. Sheppard, the newly elected President of the Board of Education is a man of ideas; ideas of a no common-place ordinary earthly mortal who has experienced the earnest demonstrations of a maternal parent who not only meant what she said but who enforced her meaning so forcibly as to endanger the entirety of his lower anatomy; but the ideas of a super-human being who like Topsy never had a mother or never was born. It is plain to be seen that Mr. Sheppard's early life—early school life was entirely free from the usual vicissitudes of the average school boy. He certainly has never felt the weighty hand of a dexterous school marm's arm rise and fall with regular undulations on the seat of his school trousers or he would never have attempted to argue that the physical status of the average school marm was not equal to the resisting power of a twelve year old boy of any nationality.

As to the other question which Mr. Sheppard raises; that of the moral status of the woman school teacher we cannot believe that any man who had a loving mother could be so foolish as to raise it.

If Mr. Sheppard means by moral status the refining, soothing, sympathizing and encouraging elements of woman's nature which he claims the women school teachers are deficient in, he perhaps can find no better argument proving the emptiness of his assertion than a single part of his own life. If however, to the contrary he intends us to understand that she is deficient in brutish ways and coarse mannerisms and cannot rain upon defenceless heads and quaking bodies cruel blows forcibly and rapidly enough, then we must gratifyingly concede the point and bow before his superior wisdom. As to Mr. Sheppard's other point i. e. her power to impart knowledge or as he calls it her educational status, he will certainly pardon us when we tell him that he does not know what he is talking about.

The statement that Mr. Sheppard is accredited with having made as to our women school teachers seems unlike Mr. Sheppard, it sounds more like a recent importation. It is certainly not in keeping with the ideas of the active business or professional man to the "manor born" who with but hardly a single exception can pleasantly recall a gentle, patient, motherly face whose influence and kindly words of encouragement did more to make plain the hidden meaning of some mysterious algebraic problem than all of the vigorous methods that Mr. Sheppard and his contemporaries could possibly originate. Our conclusion is that Mr. Sheppard is either off of his base or that his pronouncement is the commencement of a senseless war for the purpose of getting rid of our female school teachers.

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of operations for which permits were granted and reported in our issue of February 20th, was 63. The transfers of property numbered 271, amounting to $1,600,492.55, of which $1,335,392.55, was the cash consideration and $265,100, the mortgage consideration. Architects' Notes.

James G. Hill, 1242 New York avenue, Washington, D. C., has completed plans for an apartment house at 12th and G. streets, for Mr. John R. McLean.

Harvey L. Page, 45 Corcoran Building, Washington, D. C., has furnished designs for a residence for Mr. A. Lisner, of the Palais Royal.

T. P. Schneider, 933 F. st., NW, Washington, D. C., has prepared plans for a residence for Mr. J. Spragg Poole. The material will be Wadesboro brown stone and brick.

J. B. McElpatrick & Son, 23 E. 14th street, New York City, has been engaged to prepare plans for the remodelling of Heriann's Theatre during the coming summer vacation.

Charles J. Bateman, 7 Exchange Place, Boston, Mass., city architect, has prepared plans for an addition to the Boston College Building, to cost $120,000.

F. W. Perkins, architect, Chicago, Ill., has plans under way for the rebuilding of St. Paul's Universalist Church. The interior will be finished in hard wood, elevators and steam heat will be introduced, cost $100,000.

Patton & Fisher, 44 Montank Block, Chicago, Ill., are at work on designs for the Chicago Theological Seminary. The material will be stone, with hard wood finish, steam heat, cost $100,000.

St. Louis, Mo.—Plans are required by the city of St. Louis for a new City Hall to cost $1,000,000. Prizes of $5,000 and under are offered for the best plans. For full particulars, apply to the mayor.

A. Feldpauche, M. W. of the P. W. & B. R. R., at Broad Street Station, is preparing the plans for the cold storage warehouse buildings, previously reported, to be erected at Spruce street, Delaware avenue and South Water street, by the Cold Storage Warehouse Company.

A. J. Boyden, architect, 411-13 Walnut street, has completed plans and specifications for a patrol station, van house and mounted police station located at Ruan and Thomas streets, Frankford, to be constructed of hard stone, brick and iron, and will be heated by heaters, fitted with modern improvements and lighted by gas, slate roof.

J. A. Dempwolf, of York, York Co., Pa., is about to prepare plans for a new dormitory building, 55 x 84 feet, and four stories in height, to be erected at Gettysburg, north of the old college. The present building will also be remodelled from plans by the same architect. The plans will be finished about March 20th at which time bids will be asked for the construction of the building.

Peter J. Criste, Milton, Northumberland Co., Pa., sends the following engaged on plans for four frame dwellings, cased with four inch walls of brick. These houses will be supplied with all modern conveniences and will be erected for Col. H. Fonda. Mr. Fonda will demolish his present residence, the material of which will be used in the construction of some tenant houses, and will erect a residence of brick and stone, with all modern improvements on the site.

Designs, estimated cost, or proposals for a soldiers' and sailors' monument to be erected in Nashua, N. H., are invited and will be received until March 10, 1899. Said monument is to be located on an elevated public square, and, if feasible, is desired to be not less than 50 feet in height. The sum of $12,000 has been appropriated by this city for this monument. All designs and proposals will be held in strict confidence, and all not used or paid for will be returned to the owner. Prizes of $75, $50 and $25 will be paid for the three designs most acceptable to the committee. By direction of the building committee, Charles H. Burke, Mayor, Chairman. Address Dr. R. B. Prescott, Secretary.

Harrison Albright, architect, 508 Walnut street, has completed plans for the new Seventeenth District station, engine and patrol house, to be located at Twentieth street and Long lane. The structure will be of brick, Ebria stone and terra cotta ornamentation and considerable iron work in the interior. It will be one of the best and most elaborate buildings of the kind in the country, being heated by steam, lighted by gas, will have fancy roof, terra cotta tile.

Thos. P. Lonsdale, architect, 429 Walnut street, Philadelphia, has completed plans and specifications for Grace Baptist Temple, situated at Broad and Berks street. The structure will be built of Avondale stone, roof to be of slate, and towers copper-clad, heated by steam, boiler room to be built of brick; there will be considerable iron work in the way of column girders and stirrups; plumbing and ventilation will be upon the most approved scientific methods; the pavements to be of flag stone, and all the surroundings will be in keeping with the general good taste exhibited by the architect and the people of the congregation.

Addison Hutton, 400 Chestnut street, has completed plans for the construction of a building for the Bell Telephone Company, situated at 406 Market street, to be built of brick, terra cotta and iron; the roof to be of asbestos, and the entire structure to be fire-proof, and of a generally substantial character. It will be four stories in height, and will be heated by steam and all latest improvements, tending to general comfort. Also plans for a dormitory building for the University of Pennsylvania, Darby road and Thirty-fourth street, to be built of brick and stone, heated by steam and all modern conveniences. Also plans and specifications for a stone church at Overbrook, Pa. Will be lighted by gas and heated by hot air, roof to be of slate.

Moses and King, architects, 226 Walnut street, have completed plans and specifications for the large building for the Athletic Club of the Schuylkill Navy. The location is all that can be desired, being 1626-8 Arch street and extending to Cuthbert street in the rear, and in measure will be 44x147 feet. These plans were accredited in our last issue to Willis P. Hale. The fact is, Mr. Hale made the design for the front of the building, but Moses and King made the working plans, and are, as we have been informed, the supervising architects of the structure. Moses and King have also ready plans and specifications for a new school house for District No. 43, of New Jersey, located in Stockton Township, to be of brick and cost about $16,000. Also plans for an electric light plant at Merchantville, to be of frame and cost about $2,500; and plans and specifications for a residence, the property of W. D. Nash, Woodbury, N. J., to be of frame, three story, slate roof and will cost about $6,000. Also plans for interior alteration and bay window for the residence of Mr. Bush, at Merchantville, N. J.

Mr. Chas. M. Burns, architect, 717 Walnut street, is now engaged in drawing plans for the alteration of interior and exterior of the Church of our Saviour on Thirty-Eighth street above Chestnut street. The body of the Church will be extended to Thirty-eighth street, full a distance of 36 feet. The front to be of Hummels-town stone. A tower will be erected on one corner 20 feet square and 130 feet in height, and on the south side of Ludlow street, an open porch and gateway with ornamented fittings. The interior will be entirely renovated and altered in shape; the chancel extending to the second story of the parish building, twenty-five feet. There will also be a transept on the north side of the church 18x23 feet and one on the south side 10x23 feet; part of the latter will be used as a baptistry. The heating will be by hot air, and the lighting is a question entirely unsettled as yet, the roof to be of slate when the structure is completed as proposed under Mr. Burns' able supervision. There will be no room for a doubt as to its comfort, durability or beauty.

G. W. & W. D. Hewitt, architects, 370 Chestnut st., Phila., have in hand plans and specifications for the erection of an additional building to the Fidelity Trust and Safe Deposit Company, Chestnut street below Fourth street. The structure will occupy the space of one building on the east of their main building and will be erected in keeping with their present edifice. The increase of the real estate department being so large as to require more space. Work will be commenced in a short time.

A Correction.

In our issue of last week, the material for Grace Baptist Temple was given as "Avondale stone," instead of which it should have been "Acme Avondale Limestone."

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of operations for which permits were granted and reported in our issue of February 27th, was 176. The transfers of property numbered 277, amounting to $1,173,004.32, of which $894,754.32, was the cash consideration and $278,250, the mortgage consideration. A further charge of $11,233.35 is to be added for ground rents which on a six per cent basis amounts to $87,222.50. The sales at auction amounted to $93,456, with an incumbrance of $13,024.80.

Council Proceedings.

At a meeting of Common Council, on Thursday, a communication was received from Dr. White, to the effect that in view of the proposed removal of the almshouse, he did not deem it expedient to erect a workshop for the insane, but advised that the $5,000 appropriated be expended in paving the grounds around the present institution. An ordinance was passed authorizing the construction of a bridge over the Pennsylvania Railroad at Fortieth street. An ordinance was introduced to authorize the construction of a sewer on Cresson street, from Vassar street to Shur's lane, also to grade Fifteenth street, between Allegheny avenue and Ontario street, also to authorize the purchase of Northwood Park, 23rd ward.

A Paper House.

There is on exhibition at Worcester a portable paper house to be used by the Harvard astronomical party in their South American expedition. The building is made of heavy paper and canvas, sheets being stretched upon a frame of pine scantling, three-quarters of an inch wide and half an inch thick. It is built in small sections so that it can be easily and cheaply transported. The building, when ready for occupancy, is eighteen by twenty-two feet wide, with eight-foot posts and covered with a third pitch hip roof, thus raising the centre of the roof fourteen feet above the floor.

The top is surmounted by a handsome galvanized iron cupola, in the centre of which is a large pipe, which can be used as a stove funnel in cold weather. The cupola is made in moveable sections for the purpose of affording ventilation. The sections are worked with chains and can be regulated as the occupant wishes. The building is divided into three rooms and is lighted by six large windows, and has two entrances, one on either side. The building will be taken down, packed and shipped to New York, where it will be shipped to Peru, South America, as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made with the Peruvian Government to allow it to pass through the custom house in bond. This is the largest paper house ever constructed.

The growing wealth of the country, and the more general art education of the people have created a demand and appreciation for better and more elaborate dwellings, which has afforded scope for well-trained architects. Unfortunately the impression is abroad that Architects quite often lead clients to extravagant and needless expenditure. I therefore GUARANTEE the cost of all work. When I design a $10,000 house, I mean that it shall cost no more than that amount, and will furnish a reliable builder and let the contract for that amount or less, before I make any charge for services.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y. MARCH 6, 1889.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

THE Hale, Kilburn Manufacturing Company of this city, has succeeded in securing the services of Mr. Edward Lee Young, formerly with Messrs. Herter Bros., of New York. Mr. Young stands pre-eminently high as a designer of furniture and interior work, and the acquisition of his services to the force of the Hale, Kilburn Company, enables it to greatly enhance the artistic beauty of its work and the character of its designs.

The net proceeds of the Hebrew Charity Ball, held on the 5th of February, amounted to the sum of $16,768.77. Mason Hirsch, Esq., the Treasurer of the Association, has distributed the same as follows:

To the United Hebrew Charities of Philadelphia.....	$5,875 79
To the Jewish Hospital Association of Philadelphia.....	4,543 94
To the Jewish Foster Home and Orphan Asylum of Philadelphia.....	4,308 91
To the Familien Waisen Erziehungs Verein.....	940 13

Architects' Notes.

Baker & Dallet, S. W. cor. Walnut and Fifth streets, are engaged upon plans for the alteration of the large mill property, No. 1829 Lombard street, for the purposes of a Polyclinic Hospital, the designs of the faculty being to use this building temporarily until a more substantial and permanent one shall be built. When specifications and plans are complete due notice will be given.

A. W. Leh, 214 Second street, South Bethlehem, Pa., sends the following:—Plans just completed for a school house at South Bethlehem, of which the material will be brick and terra-cotta, size 84 x 107 feet. The style of architecture Romanesque; also plans and specifications for five houses for W. J. Kratz, of South Bethlehem; also for nine houses for the Krauss estate at South Bethlehem; also plans for a brick and stone dwelling for O. F. Lubert, manager of the Government Ordinance building of the Bethlehem Iron Co.; also plans for remodeling store and residence for H. Luckenback.

J. Lyman Faxon, 7 Exchange Place, Boston, Mass., is preparing plans for the First Congregational Church, at Detroit, Mich., before reported, the cost will be about $100,000. The exterior will be of brown stone and the entrance similar to the Lower Church of Francaise, of Assi, Italy. The seating capacity will be 1,000, and the interior will be decorated magnificently, stained glass windows will be one of the features, as well as a window composed of thin sheets of translucent marble. The tower will be modelled after the tower of St. Martin's, at Lucca, Italy, which stands 120 feet high, surmounted by a figure of an angel ten feet in height. It will take about two years to build this edifice. Mr. Faxon will go abroad to study some of the old world cathedrals before finishing the plans.

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of operations for which permits were granted and reported in our issue of March 6th, was 284. The transfers of property numbered 300, amounting to $1,689,312.67, of which $1,400,818.17, was the cash consideration and $288,494.50, the mortgage consideration. A further charge of $5,473.35 is to be added for ground rents which on a six per cent basis amounts to $104,555.50. The sales at auction amounted to $103,250, with an incumbrance of $17,980.

WOODWORKERS say that while the first cost of mahogany is more than that of cherry, oak or ash, it is the cheaper wood when its durability and cleanly qualities are considered.

DURING the last fiscal year 132 new national banks were organized and 42 went out of existence; the national banking capital increased over $14,000,000 and the circulation decrease nearly $17,000,000.

THE waste cuttings of cork are now being employed in England for making bricks, which can be used for walls, impervious alike to heat or damp. The cork cuttings are reduced to powder in a mortar and mixed with lime or clay, and from this composition the bricks are made in the usual way.

A WISCONSIN genius, F. M. Stowe by name, has solved the problem of tempering brass, he has shown an edged brass tool that will cut a seasoned pine or hemlock knot without affecting the tool, and the various tests he has made proves it superior to steel for cutting purposes, as it takes altogether a finer edge.

EXPERTS in house building have suggested that grates in second stories are usually less safe than those below, as the narrower joists give little room for the boxing of the hearth. It is also urged that grates be examined carefully to determine whether the back of the flue is simply of four inch wall, which is always dangerous at the back of a grate in a frame house. This can be determined by measuring the distance the breasts extends out from the wall, and as sometimes the breast runs through flush with the face of the wall in the next room; the calculation is to be made accordingly.—Exchange.

Just Dealing With Architects.

Professor T. R. Smith, in his opening address before the university college Jordan, on the subject of mistakes of architects, said:

"In dealing with those employed on your works, it is a mistake to suppose that every contractor, tradesman, or artificer is a thief or extortioner, and every quantity surveyor a kind of contraband agent. I have put it strongly, but the suspicious temper or mind at which this remark points goes sometimes far toward a tone of feeling as exaggerated as this. The fact is that your contractors and tradesmen are engaged in one of the most complicated and difficult businesses possible. Their motive for carrying on the business is to make a profit, and you should look upon it as a matter for sincere regret if a profit is not made by the contractors on your works. You and they are engaged together on the difficult task of erecting a building, and if originally you knew them to be respectable, by all means treat these people as co-operating with you and aiding to give reality to your designs which is their real position, and do not suspect unfair dealing till some proof of it begins to show itself. While I recommend this tone of mind, I do not recommend that you should cease to be vigilant and careful. It would be quite as great a mistake to abandon watchfulness as to abandon confidence gratuitously, and it would be a departure from the line of conduct which your duty to your client prescribes to you."

A case of great importance has been recently decided by the Supreme Court of the United States, which has been the subject of frequent litigation in the lower courts that a life policy taken by a husband for the benefit of his wife cannot be diverted from its purpose and appropriated for the payment of his creditors however largely the assured may die involved and whatever may be the amount of the policy. In the case in question Thomas L. Hume of the State of Columbia, died in 1881, insolvent as to his creditors, but leaving assurance policies effected for the benefit of his wife and his children, in the aggregate sum of $35,000. This amount was claimed by his creditors upon the ground that the application of such an annual amount in premium payment was a fraudulent diversion of monies that should have been applied to the payment of his debts. The court, however, was of an opposite opinion, and in its judgment, which was delivered by Judge Fuller, held that a husband and father has a full right to insure his life in the interest of his wife and children, and where such policies are effected in the name of the beneficiaries they are no part of the estate of a deceased insolvent, and therefore cannot be regarded as a fraudulent assignment of any part of an estate where so effected. This question, upon which there has been much litigation, is now finally at rest, and the interest of a wife and family in a life policy of which they are the beneficiaries is held by law to be inviolable.—N. Y. Insurance Jour.

Under the heading "Old Glass in New Windows," Will H. Low discusses in a recent number of Scribner's Magazine, the present condition of the art of stained glass making in America, and finds that we have outstripped our European cousins in this branch of decoration, and have founded a school likely to become historical. His account of the growth of the art is interesting. It is as follows: "The rays from the lamp of convention by which the makers of glass in Europe had guided their steps did not reach across the Atlantic, and the first windows were made by virtually re-inventing the whole process. Makers of the commoner kinds of stained glass had long been established here, and the genius of the American mechanic had devised or adapted machines by which large sheets of colored glass could be rolled, sheets both broad and long, and of uniform color and depth throughout. These were admirable results of mechanical skill, but essentially inartistic. They furnished the first glass, but as they proved inadequate, and as other colors and textures were imperatively demanded, the proprietors of a large glass-making establishment (I think in Brooklyn), grudgingly conceded the use of his material and men, who under the direction of our pioneer glass stainers, made glass that was slightly better in quality. And then the interesting discovery was made that glass made by the one-man power, as we may say, in small quantities, of uneven thickness, and undoubtedly improved by a happy accident (as when by a failure to make one color, another, and perhaps better one, was obtained), was greatly more varied in tone and color than that made by modern improved processes. By this discovery, and by the consequent demand for such glass, a new field was opened for ambitious men, who from workmen became masters on a small scale, and it is from men such as these, constantly experimenting and working with a small force, and by hand-power, that the best glass is still obtained. As uniformity had been the criterion of excellence, now variety obtained the palm, and it has kept it until to-day the larger stained glass window manufacturers carry a stock of glass that in its variety of hue and shade far exceeds the range of the painter's palette."

The growing wealth of the country, and the more general art education of the people have created a demand and appreciation for better and more elaborate dwellings, which has afforded scope for well-trained architects. Unfortunately the impression is abroad that Architects quite often lead clients to extravagant and unlooked for expense. I therefore GUARANTEE the cost of all work. When I design a $10,000 house, I mean that it shall cost no more than that amount, and will furnish a reliable builder and let the contract for that amount or less, before I make any charge for services.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

The real estate of New York City is valued at $18,000,000,000, an increase of 204 per cent over last year.

A CLAUSE inserted in any contract made between the Reading Terminal Company and the City of Philadelphia providing for indemnification to property owners for injury to their property, would be just as binding upon the Terminal Company as any provision that may be inserted controlling or abolishing grade crossings, notwithstanding Mayor Fittler or any one else. The proposition to omit such a provision under the plea that it could not be enforced legally, is pure nonsense, and a stupid subterfuge to rid the company of responsibility to property owners. A contract is a contract, and if a provision, in the interest of property owners, could not be enforced, how does the Mayor propose to enforce the provision controlling grade crossings. The protection to property owners should be insisted upon by the Mayor just as persistently in the interest of those along the Reading Terminal as in the case of those along the Northeastern Elevated. But it seems to make a difference with his Honor as to which ox is being goaded.

THE sentiment in favor of renewing the old apprenticeship system in the interest of American boys is growing rapidly, many leading manufacturers are quite willing to make the issue with the trade unions and other labor organizations and only await the opportunity to do so. The dictation of foreign workmen has been tolerated entirely too long in respect to the apprenticeship question and the issue no matter how great the cost, cannot be made too soon. Our factories and workshops are practically in the hands of foreigners, many of whom have no sympathy with American institutions and who look upon the many advantages they enjoy in this country as theirs by right of force, to the exclusion and detriment of American boys who should have at least equal rights with foreigners if it requires even the strong arm of the national government to enforce them. Mr. John Mundell, the shoe manufacturer of this city says that "the young man in this country has got the right to learn a trade and make a living," and that he does not see why he should be forced to take a back seat when some shoemaker from Ireland, Germany, England or Italy can come here and take the place the American boy ought to have, by simply joining a union. These are strong words from a strong man and they certainly cover the entire ground.

The Washington Star favors an appropriation of $5,000,000 for the proposed library building, to be erected by the government, it says no smaller amount will erect such a structure as is required.

Hazelhurst & Huckel, architects 410 Walnut street are preparing plans for the proposed erection of a country residence for Mr. Sinnott, of the firm of Sinnott & Moore, Dock street below Walnut street, the work of erection will not be commenced before mid summer as much time will be occupied in preparation of the grounds and surroundings, when completed it promises to be one of the finest suburban homes in the State.

Constable & Bro., architects, 902 Walnut street, are completing plans and specifications for the alteration of the property, No. 1629 Walnut street, for the purposes of an apothecary store, owned and conducted by Frank E. Morgan, the interior and exterior work will be considerable. The proprietor will introduce the electric mode of lighting, the store interior will be remodeled as a dwelling.

Brown & Day, 1430 S. Penn Square, architects have been engaged by Allan H. Reed, Esq., to prepare plans for the erection of several handsome residences to be built upon the site recently purchased by him on the N. W. corner of Eleventh and Spruce streets. Mr. R. contemplates building these houses upon the most approved of modern plans, and will not commence operations until he shall have visited several of the large cities and inspected some of the various modes of construction.

Willis G. Hale, architect, Lucas Building, Juniper and Chestnut streets, has completed plans for a lot of houses for Mr. H. T. Supplee, Forty-sixth street, near Chester avenue. To be double houses in construction; of brick; terracotta trimmings, fitted with electricity and gas for lighting purposes, heated by heaters, and all modern conveniences applied for general comfort. Also, plans for one for J. L. Crew, Esq., at Forty-sixth street and Chester avenue. To be of brick, and stone trimmings, some terracotta, pitched roof, with fancy slate, and fitted with electricity and gas; as well as other comforts. The mode of heating as yet unsettled. No contracts awarded as yet in either case.

W. Dilks, architect, 1001 Chestnut street, has completed plans for the building of a Sabbath School to be attached to Princeton Church, Thirty-ninth street and Powelton avenue, it will be a one-story structure, and have a slate roof, also plans for a residence for Mr. John Sellers, at Melbourne, three stories in height, to be of stone with slate roof, lighted by electricity; also a cottage for Jno. Tracy, Esq., at Lansdale, to be a frame building, modern improvements; also an alteration in the interior of the building of the New York Mutual Life Insurance Co., at Fifth and Chestnut streets, by which the capacity for rooms will be enlarged to a considerable degree.

M. B. Bean, Lansdale, Montgomery Co., Pa., sends the following: "Plans on hand for a new school house, at Doylestown, Pa., to be built of stone, faced with light gray stone, and trimmed with blue stone, tile or slate roof, and will be heated with the most improved warm air furnace, and ventilated through the floor with large vent stalks, and dry closets in the basement. The plans are not yet completed and no contracts let; also plans for a dwelling for Mrs. Green, of Doylestown, and for Wm. T. Rogers, of same place. Harry Livey is the contractor for these two dwellings.

Geo. F. Loring, 10 Tremont street, Boston Mass., has completed plans for a brick residence with stone and terra-cotta trimmings for Mr. Frederick Bradley, of Brookline, Mass., the heating will be done by steam or hot water, open fire places, stained glass, wood mantels, plate glass, tiling, slate, copper work, hard wood floors &c.—Mr. McNeil of Brookline, a station of Boston, Mass., has completed plans for a brick store, 25x30 feet for Samuel Hirsch. Mr. Neuer has also prepared plans for a three-story brick engine house, second and third floors to be fitted up as a dwelling, also a stable in the rear, also plans for a residence for John J. Becker, Esq., and another for Mr. L. Lenbrecht. Mr. Neuer is the Chairman of the sewer committee which will soon advertise for bids for the furnishing and laying of about four miles of sewer pipe. Mr. Frank Dietrich, Clerk of Council, Wilkesbarre, can also give information.

Quaker City Cold Storage Company have opened their plans and specifications for inspection in the office of the architect, Mr. A. Fehlpaulche, M. W. of P. W. & B. R. R., Broad Street Station, the building will be eight stories in height and constructed of brick, iron and Port Deposit granite, the structure resting upon piled foundations capped by stone. The freight will be carried through the structure by means of five elevators, the kind not yet selected, after leaving the elevators, it will be carried by the most approved portable rail method to the storage department. The roof will be of Warren Ehret's best slag roofing material, the entire building to be one of the finest structures of the kind in the world. It is denied that the company has purchased the adjoining property on the south of the present site.

Wilson Bros., architects, Drexel Building are completing plans and specifications for the erection of St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal Church, Dr. Thomas K. Conrad, rector, at Wayne Station, Penna. R. R., and previously reported in this journal. The building will be located on ground donated by Mr. George W. Childs, at the corner of Louella avenue and Lancaster Pike. The structure will be of stone and will have some ornamentation and will be cruciform in shape. It will have the ordinary heavy shingle roof, will be lighted by electricity and heated by hot air, attached to the church proper, will be a parochial building for Sunday School and parish purposes, the meeting of the guild and other society work. The measurement of church ground is a front of 178 feet by 300 feet in depth. Also plans for the erection of a house adjoining the church. Dr. Conrad having purchased two lots for that purpose. This residence will be erected somewhat in keeping with the church and of the same material so that the whole three buildings will be in unison. The contracts have not as yet been awarded.

J. A. Dempwolf, Architect of York, York Co., Pa., is making plans for extensive alterations to the present school buildings of Pennsylvania College, at Gettysburg, Pa., with the object of converting the building into a dormitory capable of accommodating about 175 students. The changes contemplate the erection of three iron staircases, steam heating service from central plant and complete new trimmings to all doors and windows throughout the building of hard wood, with other minor details of remodeling. Also plans for a four-story office building for Hon. George F. Huff, of Greensburg, Pa., to be built of brick and stone, granite piers, common and plate glass, iron beams and columns, electric communication, interior hard wood finish. The contract for this building is not let.—The David E. Small estate will erect one four-story and one five-story brick and stone store and office buildings to cost $20,000, from plans by the same architect. The buildings will be fitted with improved steam heating apparatus, annunciators incandescent electric lighting, gas fixtures and fittings, galvanized iron skylights, prismatic sidewalk lights, steam pipe covering, speaking tubes, hardwood interior finish &c. No contracts are let.

Recent Decisions.

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

ASSIGNMENT FOR CREDITORS.—An assignment for the benefit of creditors made in New York, and executed in conformity with the laws of that State, will pass title to property in this State.

The object of the act of 1855, is to protect our own citizens. An attaching creditor in this State who has issued a foreign attachment, after an assignment in another State, without any notice of such assignment, and before it is recorded in this State, will be protected by the act.

Where both the plaintiff and defendant are residents of another State, the plaintiffs, after receiving notice of an assignment in the State where they reside, cannot come into this State to obtain an advantage by our law, which they could not obtain by their own.—Bacon v. Horne, November 5, 1888.

BANKS.—A bank holding paper for collection has a right to retain money belonging to the maker of said paper deposited with the bank, in the ordinary course of business, and to plead the same as a set-off in an action against it, even when the maker after the deposit of the money, has made a voluntary assignment for the benefit of creditors.

The rights of the assignee in such a case are only such as the assignor had at the date of the assignment.—Bank v. Bank, October 29, 1888.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.—A judgment in an amicable action of ejectment is good against the defendant, and all who claim under a lease from him, no matter in what capacity he might assume to act in leasing the premises, and the fact that a terre tenant claims under a parol lease of the premises, made prior to the bringing of such action, and upon which he had at once taken possession, which lease was made by the defendant, not personally, but as agent for the owners of the premises, is no cause to stay a writ of habere facias possessionem, issued on said judgment.—Hessel v. Johnson, January 24, 1889.

MECHANICS LIENS.—Alterations or repairs to a building which do not fairly change its exterior into a new building, cannot confer a right to a mechanic's lien, under the act of June 16, 1836.

Where, however, the structure of a building, is so completely changed that in common parlance it may properly be claimed or termed a new building or a rebuilding, a lien may be filed under the above act.

Where the facts are undisputed, it is for the court to determine what does and what does not constitute a new building.—Patterson v. Frazier, November 1, 1888.

MORTGAGES.—When a number of bonds are secured by a mortgage, and the holder of said bonds parts with a number of them, retaining the rest himself, and the mortgaged premises are subsequently sold, and the sum realized from said sale proves insufficient to pay the said bonds in full, distribution is made pro rata among all the holders.

When, however, a number of promissory notes are secured by a mortgage, and the holder of said notes transfers a part of them by endorsement for value, he thereby becomes a surety for the endorsees of said notes so transferred; and in case the mortgaged premises are subsequently sold, and the sum realized from said sale proves insufficient to pay all the said notes in full, the notes so transferred for value must be first paid in full, and the balance only, if any, is payable on account of the notes remaining in the hands of the original holder.—Bank's Appeal, November 5, 1888.

All of the above cases can be found in 22 W. N. C.

At Milwaukee, Wisconsin, D. M. Bennett will erect a handsome residence at a cost of $100,000, from plans by C. A. Gombert, 102 Wisconsin street.

At Havre de Grace, Harford Co., Md., Whitford Bro's will erect a warehouse in connection with their flint works.

At Greensboro, Guilford Co., N. C., the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church will erect a new church edifice.

At Detroit, Mich., John B. Wagner will erect three residences, from plans made by A. C. Varney, room 50 Campau Building, Detroit. The cost will be $111,000.

At Anniston, Calhoun Co., Alabama, the Corning Land Company will erect a depot; also, so it is said, a church and school house and fifteen cottages.

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of operations for which permits were granted and reported in our issue of March 13th, was 616. The transfers of property numbered 296, amounting to $1,778,560.96, of which $1,322,538.40, was the cash consideration and $456,022.56, the mortgage consideration. A further charge of $120,033.64 is to be added for ground rents which on a six per cent basis amounts to $200,560.67. The sales at auction amounted to $24,675, with an incumbrance of $7,900.

Architects' Notes.

C. M. Palmer, Honore Block, Chicago, Ill., has prepared plans for two four story residences for Potter Palmer at a cost of $50,000. Steam heat, hardwood finish.

L. D. Button, architect, 430 Walnut street, has completed plans for the rebuilding of a store on Federal street, between Fourth and Fifth, Camden, N. J., to be open front, and will be occupied as a gun store. Operations will begin as soon as contract is awarded.

A. P. Clark, Jr., 220 Four-and-a-half street, northwest, Washington, D. C., has finished plans for a theatre and store building to be erected by syndicate of Washington capitalists. John A. Prescott is the president of the company. The building will occupy a site at Ninth and D streets, and the cost will be about $100,000.

Wilson, Marble & Lamson, Insurance Exchange Building, Chicago, Ill., are preparing plans for a residence for J. H. Moore to cost $20,000, heated by steam, and contain all modern conveniences, hard wood interior finish; also residences for W. H. Pruyin, Gus. Newman and G. Grant, to cost respectively $10,000, $8,000, and $5,000.

Adolphus Druiding, Metropolitan Block, Chicago, Ill., is preparing plans for a Roman Catholic church, which will be erected at Westphalia, Kansas. The material will be pressed brick and stone, and the cost about $18,000. Rev. Father Redecker, of Westphalia, is the pastor of the church. Mr. Druiding has also plans for a Catholic church to be erected at Towanda, Erie, Co., N. Y. The cost of this structure will be about $10,000.

Plans and specifications are now upon exhibition at the office of Theophilus P. Chandler, Jr., Brown Building, Fourth and Chestnut streets, for the new building of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, 921 to 925 Chestnut street, of which a description was given in our issue of February 20th. No material changes have been made in the plans and the building committee has not as yet determined on the use of stone or marble for the exterior.

Jno J. Deery, architect, 328 Walnut street, has completed plans and specifications for the rebuilding of Holy Trinity Roman Catholic Church, N. W. corner Sixth and Spruce. It will be of brick with stone ornamentation; slate roof. A tower will be erected at the corner of Sixth and Spruce, and at the northern corner on Sixth street. The structure will be lighted by gas and heated by hot air. It will be highly ornamented in every particular. The contract has not been awarded at time of writing.

Collins & Autenrieth, architects, 410 Walnut street, have completed plans for the erection of a large manufacturing establishment on lots 1225-7-9 Callowhill street, the property of J. L. Thorne, N. E. corner Twelfth and Callowhill, to be built of brick, 5 stories in height, and the trimmings for windows to be of Hummelstown brown stone. There will be two or three elevators, and lighted throughout by gas. The roof will be of tin, and the interior will be fitted with call tubes and other appliances for the dispatch of a large business. The yard and pavement will be laid with artificial stone. Bids are now open.

F. Miles Day, architect, 238 South Third street, has completed plans for the erection of a residence, the property of Francis W. Kenedy, Esq., President of Spring Garden National Bank, and reported in this journal December 31, 1888. It will be located at 1922 Spruce street. The contract has been awarded to Louis Havens, 201 South Fifth street. The structure will be of Perth Amboy brick and English red stone; four stories in height. Interior will be in Renaissance style, heated by hot air, and painted with China gloss throughout; lighted with gas and electricity as well; fitted with call bells and modern improvements.

Through Delaware.

At Wilmington, at a recent meeting of the Board of Public Education, the plans of Architect Frank A. Carswell, of Wilmington, were on exhibition for the proposed new school house to be erected in the Twelfth Ward. These plans call for a six-room building, 60x90 feet, to cost $16,000. Ten minutes were given for examination of the plans, which not being considered sufficient time further consideration of them was postponed for two weeks, after which time the Committee on Building will propose for bids. During the meeting Mr. Pyle said, at least one hundred dwellings would be erected in the Twelfth Ward during the coming season. The main exhibition building at Hazel Dell, where the fair grounds of the Wilmington Fair Association are situated, and which was destroyed by fire, last week, will be rebuilt at once. The old building cost about $5,000, and was designed by E. L. Rice, Jr., of Wilmington. T. D. Brown is secretary of the association.

Through New Jersey.

At Cape May Point, Dr. Eugene Wiley, 330 Reed street, is erecting a cottage.

At East Creek, Cape May Co., Wm. Compton contemplates the erection of a cottage.

At Pensauken, there is some talk of erecting an opera house.

At Bordentown, Burlington Co., the new plans for the proposed opera house have been received the cost has been reduced to $15,000.

At Haddonfield, Camden Co., a new school will probably be erected at a cost of $15,000. Wm. S. Hart can give information.

At Phillipsburg, Warren Co., Mrs. Charles Shafer will soon begin the erection of a handsome double residence on Fillmore street.

At Cape May Landing, Cape May Co., the congregation of the Baptist Church will erect a new church edifice.

At Cramer's Hill, the contract for the erection of the new school house, at North Cramer's Hill, has been given to Judge McDowell.

At Merchantville, Camden Co., Irvine C. Beatty has broken ground for a new residence on Gilmore street.

The growing wealth of the country, and the more general art education of the people have created a demand and appreciation for better and more elaborate dwellings, which has afforded scope for well-trained architects. Unfortunately the impression is abroad that Architects quite often lead clients to extravagant and unlooked for expense. I therefore GUARANTEE the cost of all work. When I design a $10,000 house, I mean that it shall cost no more than that amount, and will furnish a reliable builder and let the contract for that amount or less, before I make any charge for services.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y. MARCH 20, 1889.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

At Williamstown, Gloucester Co., Jacob Imhoof will erect a building to be used as a gents' furnishing store.

At Gibbsborough, Camden Co., the Athletic Association has secured grounds which will be put in suitable order for its purposes.

At Newark, Essex Co., the Dean Woolen Mill destroyed on Christmas day two years ago, will probably be rebuilt.

At Wrightsville, Burlington Co., the contract for the new brick school has been let. The School Board can give information.

At Holly Beach, Cape May Co., two large cottages will be erected by one of our contractors, on Atlantic avenue.

At Sea Isle, Cape May Co., J. B. Crandol, of Ocean View, same county, will erect a handsome cottage.

At Long Branch, Monmouth Co., George H. Dunham will erect a stable to cost about $1,500.

At Navesink, Monmouth Co., Mrs. Mary H. Hecker will erect a residence at a cost of $7,373. H. J. Condit is the contractor.

At Normandie, By-the-Sea, F. P. Earle will erect a summer residence to cost $5,000. Cottrell Bros. have been awarded the contract.

At Little Silver, Monmouth Co., R. V. Breese will erect a new house for the New York and Long Branch Railroad Co., at a cost of $5,600.

At Asbury Park, Monmouth Co., extensive improvements will be made by Wm. F. Day & Bro., to their ice cream gardens, both at Asbury Park and Ocean Grove.

At South Atlantic City, Chelsea, the contract for the erection of the new excursion house, to cost upwards of $50,000, has been awarded to E. R. Williams, of Cape May.

At Trenton, Mr. Francois has introduced a bill to authorize the freeholders of Hudson Co., to issue bonds not exceeding $250,000, for the erection of a lunatic asylum.

At Pavonia, Hudson Co., the old Cooper property has been sold to Mr. Emil King, who it is reported has leased it to Christian Eckhart for a hotel and summer garden.

At Berlin, Camden Co., a new brick dwelling will be erected by Mr. Boulton, at West Berlin, the brick to be used will be the first batch burnt in McGargle's new brick yard just started, opposite the depot at that place.

At Cape May, Cape May Co., the Mount Vernon Hotel property has been sold to W. S. P. Shields, of 735 Walnut street, who will remodel the building for the coming season. Many modern conveniences will be introduced. Considerable building is anticipated on the property controlled by the Mt. Vernon Improvement Company. It is stated that the following Philadelphians will build: Mr. Frederick Hiss, Dr. John H. Locke, of Kensington, Mr. Charles Algeo, Deputy Sheriff, Mr. Joseph Christ and Hon. John H. Fow.

By its recent purchase of water front on New York Bay, the Pennsylvania R. R. has acquired about fifty acres of upland and 420 acres under water, including 3,500 feet of water front between the filled in ground, owned by the Point Breeze Ferry Co., to the bulkhead of the Morris & Cummings Dredging Company, south of Jersey City. Should the bill now before the legislature pass and become a law, vast improvements will be undertaken along the water front, among which will be a wall seven hundred feet wide by which a system of piers and basins will be formed with every provision for all kinds of commerce.

At Camden, the sub-Committee of the General Committee has recommended the purchase of the Dialogue Building, at Broadway and Line streets, for $11,000, to be fitted up and used as a home for aged and infirm Methodists. Budd Bros. have taken out a permit for twenty-one two-story brick houses, to be erected on Pearl street between Eighth and Ninth streets, also twelve two-story brick houses on Eighth street. Mr. D. O. Hunter will erect a dwelling and stable at Van Buren street and Ferry avenue. The Huber Manufacturing Company have filed articles of incorporation, with a capital of $10,000. A new Methodist Episcopal Church will probably be erected on Filmore street to cost about $10,000.

ADAMANT WALL PLASTER

A SUPERIOR SUBSTITUTE FOR COMMON PLASTER

233 AND 235 NORTH 23d STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

BUILDERS' EXCHANGE, PITTSBURG, PA.

ADAMANT is a cement or artificial stone, capable of resisting all ordinary casualties so disastrous to common Plaster.

ADAMANT adheres firmly to lath, brick, stone or iron, lasting as long as the building without even cracking.

ADAMANT is lighter than lime-plaster; it does not shrink, and is impermeable to noxious gases or disease germs.

ADAMANT is valuable for setting tiles and slabs because of its remarkable adhesive properties.

ADAMANT is cooler in summer and warmer in winter.

ADAMANT excludes all dampness.

ADAMANT is fire-proof.

ADAMANT saves time and expense, as carpenters can follow plasterers in twelve hours and need not move out while the plastering is going on.

ADAMANT is preferred by painters on account of its smooth surface, and not possessing any ingredient to damage the color, as in lime-mortar.

PHILADELPHIA ARCHITECTS.

The growing wealth of the country, and the more general art education of the people have created a demand and appreciation for better and more elaborate dwellings, which has afforded scope for well-trained architects. Unfortunately the impression is abroad that Architects quite often lead clients to extravagant and unlooked for expense. I therefore GUARANTEE the cost of all work. When I design a $10,000 house, I mean that it shall cost no more than that amount, and will furnish a reliable builder and let the contract for that amount or less, before I make any charge for services.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, MARCH 27, 1889.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 193 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

THE Board of Education, at Wheeling, W. Va., are receiving considerable criticism from architects, because it refused to offer any compensation for plans, it has asked architects to submit for one $15,000 and one $25,000 school building it proposes to erect in that city. The five per cent it offers for superintendence to the architect whose plans have been accepted, is regarded as a gamblers chance, and the majority of architects are disposed to entirely ignore opportunities of that character. The Wheeling Board is recommended to the carpenters of Wheeling for assistance.

PROHIBITION, notwithstanding the fact that it is among the possibilities only in this State, is already through its agitation acting as an estoppel upon several building enterprises that were contemplated for this spring. Among them is a hundred thousand dollar residence which the head of a large wholesale liquor firm in this city intended to erect at Rosemont, on the Pennsylvania R. R. As it stands, he now assures us that notwithstanding the fact that the plans are in the hands of architects, he will do nothing towards the erection of the building until the prohibition question is settled, when, if the State goes "dry," he will abandon the idea altogether.

IN 1870 New Haven had 8100 dwellings; in 1880 there were 9961, and 13,378 in 1888.

A PARISIAN firm has introduced a porous glass for window frames. The pores, though too small to admit a draught, largely contribute to ventilation.

ONE dollar at 21 is worth $120 at 90, and $100 spent in foolery and finery before five-and-twenty is simply $3,000 thrown away from that provision which should be made for the time when work must be a burden.

SECRETARY WINDOM has conferred an honor upon Philadelphia in offering the position of Supervising Architect of the Treasury to James H. Windrem. Mr. Windrem's work is well known to our own as well as other cities. The Secretary has expressed in his choice a sagacity which augurs well for his own successful administration.

The same architect has prepared plans for two dwellings for Coyle & Stephenson to cost $7,500.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

Wm. Velland will erect fourteen two-story brick houses on Deal street, Frankford.

Two stores will be erected on Germantown avenue by Philip Butcher.

William D. Doughton will erect twelve dwellings on Brunner street, Nicetown.

At Holmesburg a new dwelling will be erected by Mr. Theodore Allen on Church street.

Hamilton Farrell, of Paschalville, will erect ten two-story six room brick houses on Mount Moriah Lane.

Allen B. Rorke has been awarded the contract for Manager Fleischman's theatre, at Broad street and Fairmount avenue.

Andrew Miller has purchased from Edwin Schively seven additional lots for building purposes on Fawn street, north of Dauphin.

John Stafford has purchased, for building purposes a lot of ground from John B. Town send, situated at 26th and Hare streets.

W. S. P. Shields, Esq., 735 Walnut street, has bought a fine residence and grounds at Doylestown, the property of Mr. Miller. The sum paid was $22,000.

Thomas Robb, 426 Walnut street, has purchased of Catharine Harrison a lot of ground for future building purposes at the N. E. corner of Kingsessing avenue and 48th street.

C. Watson Croaswill, 1528 S. 20th street, has purchased of Clas. Wigram eighteen lots on Paschal avenue, west of 68th street, on which he will build.

W. H. Tiers who recently purchased the 160 acre tract at Devon, from Coffin & Altemus, of this city, will improve it at once by the erection of six stone cottages.

Smead, Wills & Co., 262 S. 5th street, purchased the property 417 Locust street, known as St. Joseph's Academy, which they will occupy on completion. The price paid was $13,500.

Bids for J. S. Thorn's new factory are still held open and will be closed by the 34th inst. Collins & Autenreith, architects, 410 Walnut street.

Director Wagner promises that extensive street paving operations will begin by the first of next month. The kind of pavement to be used has not yet been decided upon.

R. C. Ballinger & Co., Lucas Building, have been awarded the contract for the erection of a one-story addition to the Wm. Sellers & Co. Iron Works, at 16th and Hamilton streets. The building will be about 110x120.

$40,000 has been presented to the Presbyterian Hospital for a new ward for men, by Lady Kortright, the widow of a former British Consul of this city. The gift is in memory of her father, the late John Richardson, of Philad'a.

Mr. Weightman has intimated to E. Clinton & Co., 931 Market st., that if the tenants would agree to an increased rental equal to the interest on the cost of the improvement, he would erect handsome stone buildings on the site.

There is a rumor abroad that Samuel Elliot, Broker, Old Stock Exchange Building, who is the owner of the property 14 South Broad street, will erect a handsome new building on that site in the spring.

In the Thirty-third Ward a new story will be added to the Boudinot School, at a cost of $10,000, and $8,000 will be spent for a lot in the same ward on which to erect a new school house.

The Casino building, on Broad street above Columbia avenue, has been purchased by John F. Betz for $45,000. The purchaser intends erecting an annex to the opera house. If the site of the old market house can be purchased at reasonable figures by Mr. Betz, a handsome improvement may be expected.

It is rumored that a syndicate of Philadelphia capitalists intend to purchase all the old buildings on Locust street, from Washington Square to 13th street, demolish them, and erect handsome private dwellings for family purposes. B. F. Teller, 601 Chestnut street, is said to be interested in the sale of the property, but on being interviewed states that the rumor is not correct, though admitting that in time the neighborhood must be utilized in such a manner.

As reported in this journal sometime since, the indications are that the Broad Street Station will be enlarged to meet the growing demands upon it. The company has been quietly buying up property on the north side of Market street for sometime, with a view to the present contingency, and the occupants have been notified to vacate at the expiration of their leases. The station will doubtless be extensively enlarged, and the present elevated road will be widened.

In a conversation with the Dean of the faculty of the University of Pennsylvania, West Philadelphia, he stated that it is not contemplated to erect at this time any new buildings on the property purchased from the Almshouse, recently. No doubt, in the near future, a number of handsome structures will be built on this ground. The only immediate buildings to be erected or considered by the faculty is that for Alumni purposes, and a dormitory, before reported, for the accommodation of the students, to be located on 36th street, below Darby road.

The trustees of the I. V. Williamson School have decided on a tract along the West Chester branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad in Middletown township, Delaware County, two miles west of Media. The entire tract consists of seventy-two acres, purchased of J. C. Sims, Jr., secretary of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at $300 per acre; eighty acres from Hiram Schofield, at $300 per acre, and sixty acres from John Hibberd, at $140 per acre, making in all 212 acres, at a total cost of $46,800. No definite plans regarding buildings have yet been made. The West Chester Railroad will erect a station, which will probably be called 'Williamson.' Mr. Isaac L. Miller, 705 Walnut street, consummated the sale.

Councils' Committee on Schools has taken favorable action on the ordinances providing for the purchase of three lots of ground for school purposes; also, the setting aside a lot owned by city at 35th street and Silverton avenue, in the Twenty-fourth Ward. The following lots are to be purchased: one at the S. E. cor. 22nd and Ontario streets, to cost $9,000; one on the west side of 13th street, below Tioga, adjoining the Kenderton School, to cost $900; one at the N. W. corner of 49th and Seneca streets, to cost $10,000. The following appropriations were reported favorably: For the Fifth Section, $7,000; Seventeenth Section, $40,000; Twenty-first Section, $10,000; Twenty-second Section, $6,000; Twenty-third Section, $18,000; Twenty-sixth Section, $58,500; Twenty-seventh Section, $10,000; Twenty-eighth Section, $40,000; Twenty-ninth Section, $18,000; Thirty-second Section, $10,000; Manual Training School, $7,000. Summary of Last Issue.

The number of operations for which permits were granted and reported in our issue of March 27th, was 444. The transfers of property numbered 293, amounting to $1,431,017.66, of which $1,191,777.66, was the cash consideration and $239,240, the mortgage consideration. A further charge of $11,735 is to be added for ground rents which on a six per cent basis amounts to $195,583. The sales at auction amounted to $103,250, with an incumbrance of $17,980.

Lot-Buyers.

Architects and others had better correspond with the following lot buyers, as many of them contemplate building.

Elizabeth A. Worrell, of Netlier Providence, lot at Folsom, $150.
Penn Real Estate Company of Philadelphia, 4¼ acres at Ridley Park, $1,700.
Mary Riggall, of Scranton, two lots at Darby.
Andrew W. Rankin, Philadelphia, lot at Darby.
Jane Rankin, Philadelphia, lot at Darby.
Willoughby Clark, of Philadelphia, lot at Norwood, $2,500.
Mary J. Christie, Clifton Heights, lot near Delaware Co. Turnpike, $2,300.
Ida L. Parker, Philadelphia, lot at Norwood.
Jane W. Doane, Philadelphia, lot at Media, $650.
Jacob Green, of Marple, lot of land, $1,200.
Kirsey H. Drummond, Chester, lot of land, $2,400.

Peter J. Dunn, of Radnor, lot at Wayne, $425.
John Hayes, Jr., of Ridley, three lots at Ridley, $375.
Dennis Kelley, Oak Hill, lot at same place, $460.
Wilhelm Klein, of McKeesport, Pa., lot at same place.
Manager of the Continental Billiard Rooms at Landsdowne, Pa., lot at same place, $5,550.
George Bauer, of Pottstown, three lots at same place, $2,000.
E. E. Strause and J. H. Weible, of Reading, lot 80 by 220 feet at same place.

Miscellaneous.

At Hartford, Conn., E. J. Hoadley will erect a brick block on Foot Guard Place to cost $35,000.
Theodore Newton will erect two double brick dwellings on Main street, to cost $15,000 each.
At Bridgeport, Fairfield Co., Conn., the County Commissioners have appropriated $4,000, for a new elevator to the new court house.
At Chattanooga, Tenn., at an election held March 27th it was decided to issue bonds to the amount of $700,000 for the construction of sewers and the laying of improved street pavements. Work will begin at once on several miles of asphalt pavement.

PHILADELPHIA
ARCHITECTS.

The growing wealth of the country, and the more general art education of the people have created a demand and appreciation for better and more elaborate dwellings, which has afforded scope for well-trained architects. Unfortunately the impression is abroad that Architects quite often lead clients to extravagant and unlooked for expense. I therefore GUARANTEE the cost of all work. When I design a $10,000 house, I mean that it shall cost no more than that amount, and will furnish a reliable builder and let the contract for that amount or less, before I make any charge for services.

Refers with permission to William M. Singler,
Proprietor of Phila. "Record."

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y. APRIL 3, 1889.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

JOHN WANAMAKER'S little speech at the Fitter dinner, was an honest declaration of a man with honest purposes, who rises up far beyond the mire of dirty politics and who recognizes that the highest aspirations of an officer of the government should be the greatest possible efficiency to the lasting benefit of the people. Is it any wonder that such a man is careful in the selection of his lieutenants.

THE month of March this year overtops the same month for 1888 in the matter of building operations with such a magnificent increase as to justify our predictions, that at least ten thousand new buildings would be erected during 1889, within the city limits. According to our table, presented in this issue, compared with our table of 1888, the number of new buildings is 1960 against 740 for last year. In the erection of two-story houses, our tables give us 1401 for 1889 against 485 for 1888. Three-story houses hold their own very well, as our table shows 481 against 194 in our table of 1888.

Architects' Notes.

Frank R. Watson, 518 Walnut street, has finished plans for Mr. James Noble's new store and dwelling, adjoining the Gazette office, Frankford.

E. L. Rice, Jr., architect, of Wilmington, Del., has finished plans for five handsome dwellings to be erected by Joseph L. Carpenter, Jr., on Adams street, between 8th and 9th streets, Wilmington. The material will be brick and slate.

Moses & King, 226 Walnut street, are the architects for the improvements to be made at Brown's Mills, Burlington Co., N. J., reported in last issue. Work will commence as soon as possible.

Cabot & Sturgis, Boston, Mass., have been commissioned by the Bridge Street Syndicate to make sketches for an athletic building. The cost to be about $50,000. No definite action will be taken until the sketches are finished.

Angus S. Wade, 20 South Broad street, is working on the drawing for a stone and frame house at Boothwyn, Delaware Co., Pa., for John Joseph Alker, Secretary of Bergdoll Brewing Company. Cost $8,000. No contracts have been awarded.

J. Bachmeyer, 274 Main street, Hartford, Conn., has prepared plans for a fine residence to be erected at New Haven, Conn., by Mrs. M. S. Munsill. The material will be Philadelphia pressed brick, hard wood finish, steam heat, all modern improvements. The cost will be about $25,000.

Geissinger & Halcs, 12th and Chestnut streets, are now working on the plans for a four-story mill for Schaum & Uhlinger, 1030-1038 New Market street. The location of the building is to be on Glenwood avenue, between 2d and American streets. No contracts have been awarded as plans are not thoroughly matured, and only preliminary work is being done.

Brown & Day, 1305 Arch street, have completed the plans for the building 533 Arch street, for the Home Mission for the city of Philadelphia. The structure will be four-stories in height, of Pompeian brick and red stone. The first floor will be used for the purposes of the society, the upper floors will be rented. Louis Havens has been awarded the general contract, and R. G. Loughery the contract for the plumbing. The total amount is $9,000.

Wm. Gette, architect, 404 Crown street, has prepared plans for a cottage to be built at Merchantville, N. J., the property of James A. Eagle, produce dealer, of Philadelphia, to be a frame structure, slate roof; heated by steam, lighted by gas, and have all modern improvements. A stable, boiler house and other appurtenances will be placed on the premises, in fact all attachments to a first-class country home. Also, plans and specifications for a factory for Mr. Louis Koenig to be situated at 1741 Germantown avenue. It will be two-stories in height, built of brick and lighted by gas; it will also be fitted with machinery for the manufacture of sewing machines.

Romulo Vasquez, Holmesburg, Phila., reports a large amount of work now being laid out by him, which will be erected during the coming season. Geo. A. Castor, of Holmesburg will build a stone lodge, comporting in style with his recently erected mansion. Theodore Allen, of the same place, will commence at once the erection of a stone and frame house at Decatur & Allen streets. All modern conveniences are to be introduced; also a frame cottage on Union street. Both contracts have been let to Jacob Wehzeberger, of Bridesburg. Additions and alterations will be made to a pair of brown-stone houses on Main street. The prospects for the spring season are very good, and more work will be reported as soon as it is in proper condition.

Isaac Pursell, 119 South 4th street, has had plans accepted for a new church edifice (before reported) to be erected by the congregation of the North Broad Street Presbyterian Church for the Penn Mission, at 29th street and Susquehanna ave. The new structure will cover the entire lot, and will be 74 feet on Susquehanna avenue and 121 feet on 29th st. It will be built of Chester stone, with Hummelstown brown stone trimmings. Its cost has not yet been determined, as specifications are being prepared. The contract, consequently, has not been let. The new church will be highly ornamental, having a tower 80 feet high to be surmounted with several stone minarets. The chapel and audience room will seat about 1100 persons. Great interest has been excited among the property owners in the vicinity, many of whom have already contributed liberally toward the building fund. The building committee consists of Rev. W. F. Loucks, who is chairman of the committee and pastor of the church; Dr. Joseph H. Schenck, 6th and Arch streets, John Kendig, James H. Lyons, Thomas Wood and Louis Metzger.

Charles W. Bolton, 1410 Chestnut street, is now working on the plans for an extensive addition to the Gascon Presbyterian Church at 11th street and Lehigh avenue. The improvement will be of stone, two stories high, in the Gothic style. An addition of a new story will be made on the old church building. The audience room will seat 700, and the Sunday-school 800. No contracts have been awarded. $30,000 is to be expended at present. The Reformed Church will build at 17th and Huntingdon streets a handsome brick and terra-cotta Romanesque building. The Sunday-school building, with its gallery, will seat 400, and the audience room, 425. The seating will be semi-circular. The Presbyterian Church at Langhorne will erect a stone church, 40x40 feet. W. C. Cattell, of the Ministerial Relief Association of this city will build a log cabin in the Adirondacks. None of the above contracts have been let. The matters of heating and lighting have as yet not been decided upon in the church buildings. Probably steam heat will be introduced. Work will commence at once in the Bloomsburg Church, before reported.

Through Delaware.

At Dover, on March 27th, the Senate decided to employ an architect to submit plans for a new state house, although the bill has not as yet passed.

At Lincoln, Sussex Co., the site and machinery of the planing mill and basket factory destroyed by fire, have been bought by James Stewart & Bro., who will rebuild.

At Wilmington, at the regular weekly meeting of the Water Commission, Chief Engineer Bond was authorized to advertise for a compound high duty pump with a capacity of 2,500,000 gallons per day, with surface condenser force 130 feet perpendicular, also for proposals for four filters each with a capacity of 500,000 gallons in twenty-four hours, to be placed in a building provided by the board. The bids will be opened on April 30th, at 2 o'clock P. M.

Through New Jersey.

At Clementon, Camden Co., Abel Bottoms will erect two new dwellings.

At Bethlehem, Northampton Co., Wolle & Kemerer, 74 South Main street, are rapidly selling lots in the tract known as "West Side," which is about 300 feet from the heart of the old town and reached by a macadamized drive, considerable building is contemplated as soon as spring opens.

At Yardley, Bucks Co., the Philadelphia Land Co. are opening a road from Main street to Sandy Run Road. The Company will soon begin the erection of a number of dwellings. A number of lots have been purchased by Philadelphia parties who will erect residences.

—At Pottstown, Montgomery Co., a Philadelphia shoe firm offers to transfer its plant to Pottstown if a suitable location can be secured, and stock subscribed for to increase the capital to $25,000. Most of the amount has been subscribed. S. C. Freed, of Linfield, same county, will erect a dwelling on High street.

—At South Bethlehem there is talk of establishing a rug factory by Philadelphia manufacturers. The factory will give employment to about 150 men, and the ground will be donated. The School Board has decided to issue bonds to the amount of $15,000. A new school house, to cost $5,000 will be erected.

—At Lansdale, Montgomery Co., work has begun on the new building to be erected by Wellington Rosenberry at Broad street and Jenkins avenue. It will be brick, three stories with mansard roof. The third floor will be fitted up as a public hall. Elevators will be put in.—Mrs. Harley will erect a double brick house.

—At Oil City, Venango Co., the National Transit Co. will soon erect a fire-proof four-story building of brick with terra cotta trimmings. The building will be 60 by 120 feet. Electric lights, elevators and all modern conveniences will be put in. The cost will be about $75,000. Curtis and Archer, Fredonia, N. Y., are the architects.

—At Wopsonnook, (not a P. O. town), a new summer resort in the Allegheny mountains, about five miles north of Altoona, Blair Co. work is progressing on the handsome new hotel. The structure is three stories high, and will contain about 50 bedrooms. The road from Altoona to this resort is to be improved before the summer season opens.

—At Danville, Montour Co., forty thousand dollars has been subscribed toward a shoe factory. The president of the organization is Wm. C. Angle, the secretary, Lewis Rodenhoffer, and the treasurer, John Sherif. The committee on building consists of Simon Krebs, John Brugler, H. M. Schock, Thomas H. Sickles and H. L. Gross.

Buckwater, president of the Buckwater Stove Company, has purchased a lot 200 feet square on which he will erect a handsome residence. Mr. Buckwater has also bought the corner lot at Washington and High streets. Deremus Brownback has purchased a lot on Walnut street.

—At Scranton, Lackawanna Co., the Scranton Stove Works have begun one of the most extensive improvements ever attempted at that place, and will consist of a large number of warehouses, factories, elevators and wholesale offices. The buildings will be constructed in such a manner that each floor will carry tons of burden, and will be fitted for the introduction of machinery for manufacturing purposes. In all there will be about thirty different establishments. The company will furnish light, heat and power to those who occupy the premises, and when completed, there will be a series of structures that will invite business and tend to make the locality a trading centre.

—At Easton, Northampton Co., the residents of College Hill, a part of Easton, are raising the amount necessary to establish the knitting factory at that point. The directors of the contemplated boot and shoe factory held a meeting a few days since, at which the plans and specifications of architect J. M. Stewart, of Easton, were adopted. These plans call for the erection of a building 38x126 feet, to be built of brick. On the northwest corner of the building will be a tower 12x18 feet, and 80 feet high, an engine-room 30x40 feet, with a smoke-stack 70 feet high. There will be seventy-two windows on one side of the building. A large elevator will be put in. All the latest improvements will be introduced in turning and carving company is now talked of. H. A. Sage is chairman of the committee.

—At Pittsburg a party of Philadelphia capitalist consisting of J. C. Darbin, president; Wm. Calhoun, secretary, and Charles L. Work, general manager of the Asphalt Block Company, 501 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, contemplate the establishment of extensive works for the manufacture of artificial pavement. These gentlemen are now looking for a site suitable for the purpose, and as soon as it is selected, work will be begun on the buildings. The great thing needed is an abundant supply of lime ore, which the party has been given to understand is to be found in rich veins along the Monongahela river. About one hundred and twenty tons of limestone will be consumed daily, and some fifty men will be employed.

—At Norristown, Montgomery Co., a great many improvements are under way and contemplated. Surveyor Corson has already laid out the ground for sixty-five houses. Among those building or about to build are:

The Free War Library and Museum of the Local Legion of the United States has been incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania, and contemplate the erection of a building, in the central part of the city, under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Commandery. The cost will be about $300,000.

James Corcoran, Esq., real estate, 102 N. 15th street, will commence, in about ten days, the erection of six houses at 21st and Wallace streets. They will be of pressed brick, brown-stone trimmings, and be furnished with electric bells, lighted by gas and have all modern conveniences. Mr. C. will contract with parties for materials and labor himself.

The Temple Keneseth Israel congregation, now worshipping at the synagogue on 6th street, above Brown street, will erect a new $200,000 edifice, probably this summer. At a meeting recently held $10,000 was subscribed toward purchasing a site. Last summer we reported that a new church would be erected. We now recommend those who have sites to offer to submit them at once. No plans have been made, and no architect has been engaged. No contracts let. Mr. Daniel Klein, of the firm of D. Klein & Bro., 918 Market street, can give information.

Merritt & Thornton, builders, 2737 West York street, will soon begin an operation consisting of the erection of 10 dwellings. Twelve two-story houses, with porches, on 40th street, 15 feet 8 inches by 50 feet, on 70 feet deep lots; one three-story store and dwelling at 40th and Poplar streets; twenty-eight two-story porch dwellings on a street to be laid out under the name of Sloan street, and sixty 5-room dwellings on Union and State streets. The 40th street houses will have handsome walnut front and vestibule doors and jambs with large bevel plate glass windows reaching to the floor. All modern conveniences. The houses on Sloan street will also contain all modern improvements. All will contain ranges, with hot and cold water, water closets and handsome appointments. The street will be paved with asphalt, and there will be granolithic footwalks.

St. Martin's Episcopal Church congregation recently organized and now temporarily worshipping on Oak lane, have just purchased from J. T. Jackson & Co., 711 Walnut street, a building site for a new church building, to be erected next year. The site is located at the S. W. corner of Oak lane and Mott street, 22d ward.

Mrs. E. T. Truit, 3609 Spring Garden street, is contemplating the erection of a number of brick dwellings on the plot of ground commencing 105 feet west of 36th street, on the north side of Spring Garden street, and extending about 100 feet westerly and back to Rockland street 160 feet. The houses on Spring Garden street will be of brick, three stories, hard-wood finished and first-class in every respect. The houses on Rockland street will be two-story six-room brick. No plans made; no architects engaged, and no contracts let. This operation was reported last summer, but was delayed. Mr. C. B. Truit, 502 Walnut street, will have control of the operation.

VOL. IV.—No. 14.

PHILADELPHIA, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 10, 1889.

PRICE 15 CENTS

If the Eighth Anniversary edition of the Greensburg Press is any criterion by which to judge that city, its condition must be eminently satisfactory to all concerned, and James B. Laux, the editor of the Press has every reason to be proud, both of the paper, and the city whose charms and advantages he has so ably made known through the columns of the handsome and well edited anniversary number of April 1, 1889.

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of operations for which permits were granted and reported in our issue of April 3d, was 334. The transfers of property numbered 337, amounting to $1,783,241.99, of which $1,445,866.99, was the cash consideration and $337,375, the mortgage consideration. A further charge of $7,216 is to be added for ground rents which on a six per cent basis amounts to $120,266.66. The sales at auction amounted to $21,105, with an incumbrance of $8,040.

A method of producing fire by compressed air, as practiced by the natives of Thibet, is described by a gentleman who visited that country. The apparatus consists of a wooden cylinder, 2 1/2 inches long by 3/4 inch diameter. This is closed at one end, the base being about the size of a quill pen; an air-tight piston fits into this with a large, flat knob at the top. The other end of the piston is slightly hollowed out, and a very small piece of tinder is placed in the cup thus formed. The cylinder is held in one hand, the piston inserted, and pushed about half-way down. A sharp blow is then given the knob; the hand must, at the same time, close on the knob and instantly withdraw the piston, when the tinder will be found alight.—Fire and Water.

Architects' Notes.

J. Wm. Shaw, architect at Wayne, Delaware Co., has completed plans for two stone and frame dwellings to be erected at that place by George Aman. Contracts not yet given out.

Wilson Brothers, the architects for the new college at Wayne, have not started on any plans or drawings, except in a preliminary way and are merely gathering facts and figures for future use.

Paul Brandner, southeast corner 6th and Walnut streets, has partially completed the drawings for an apartment house. The building is to be located at 124 S. 13th street, and will be either four or five stories high, with all the latest improvements. No contracts have been let.

Cope & Stewardson, 212 South 3d street, Philadelphia, have a house for J. B. Townsend, at Overbrook, to cost $15,000. No contracts have been awarded; also a frame house at Villa Nova for William T. Robinson, and one at Merchantville, N. J. for Nathan Cowan, of that place. No contracts let.

Frank R. Watson, 518 Walnut street, has completed plans for two houses for Thomas Thorpe on Penn street, above Harrison street, Frankford; also two stores and dwellings for Charles Miller, on Main street, south of Oxford. The Church of Our Mother of Sorrows will build a stone parsonage for Rev. John Shanahan at 48th street and Lancaster avenue. The house will be of stone, three stories high. No contracts are let.

Willis P. Hale, Lucas Building, Philadelphia, is working on the drawings for the proposed entire renovating of the West End Hotel, 1224 26 Chestnut street. The purchaser is William Weightman, who paid $175,000 for the property which is 47 1/2 x 235 feet. The main floor will be lowered to the level of the street, and the rear portion to be re-built with brick. When finished it will be occupied by one firm whose name is refused. Work will be commenced about May 1st.

James H. Windrim, 132 South Third street, Philadelphia, is now working on plans for four hospitals to be located in the mining districts of Pennsylvania, precise location not selected. The buildings will be of brick and frame and will cost about $15,000 each. The State has appropriated $150,000 for the purpose of erecting hospitals throughout Pennsylvania. The same architect has a warehouse at the corner of New Market and Callowhill streets for Roberts & Andrews. J. G. Gordon is the contractor. The church building for E. O. Thompson, at Cedarville, before reported, will go on this spring.

E. W. Thorne, 14 S. Broad street, since last report has put under contract a stone house worth $6,000, for F. Z. Archambault, at Lansdowne, Pa. I. M. Green, of 14 S. Broad street, is the contractor. The cellar is just excavated. Also a neat stone and shingled cottage under contract for R. Manley Miller, at Lansdowne.

T. W. Ferree and Son, of Yorklyn, Del., are the contractors. The value of this cottage is $4,000. Also plans out for a frame cottage for J. E. Doan, of Coatesville, Pa., cost $3,000. Also plans out for a brick dwelling at Coatesville, Pa., for Chas. W. Ash, of same place, value $5,000. Also plans out for a new National Bank, at Coatesville, Pa., to have cut stone front, value of building $6,000. Also plans for B. F. Johnson, a stone and frame dwelling, near Chadd's Ford, Pa. Also plans for remodeling in fine style, the residence of John Peart at Nineteenth and Vine streets, city. All of above fully adopted. Also plans perfected and fully adopted and contracts now being arranged for a pair of stone and brick, 4-story dwellings, to be handsomely finished and to be built on the only open lot, fronting on West Logan Square, this city. These are very valuable houses. Further details of these and some of the others of the above mentioned to be published at a later date. All of above will be built as soon as contracts can be arranged. Mr. Thorne has other work on the boards, and still more important work arranged for.

Mills to be Built.

At Gadsden (P. O. town), Etowah Co., Alabama, John Paden, a saw-mill.

At Troy (P. O. town), Pike Co., Alabama, a $15,000 saw-mill will be erected.

At Anniston (P. O. town), Calhoun Co., Alabama, S. G. Larned, a planing-mill. The United States Rolling Stock Co., a large saw-mill.

At Huntsville (P. O. town), Madison Co., Alabama, a $100,000 stock Company has been formed to erect a cotton-mill.

At Hurricane Bayou (P. O. town), Baldwin Co., Alabama, the Stockton Lumber Company, a planing-mill.

At Sheffield (P. O. town), Colbert Co., Alabama, the Sheffield Cotton Mill Company, will erect a cotton yarn-mill.

At Decatur (P. O. town), Morgan Co., Alabama, the Decatur Land Improvement Company, a 200-barrel flour-mill.

At Ozark (P. O. town), Dale Co., Alabama, the Southeast Alabama Oil and Fertilizer Factory Company will erect an oil-mill and fertilizer factory.

At Birmingham (P. O. town) Jefferson Co., Alabama, the Enterprise Manufacturing Company, with a capital of $200,000, will erect a cotton-mill.

At Fort Smith (P. O.), Sebastian Co., Arkansas, Wm. Blair, a $20,000 mill.

At Sparta (P. O. town), Hancock Co., Georgia, H. F. & A. E. Rozier, a roller-mill.

At Wadley (P. O. town) Jefferson Co., Georgia, Donavin, Perkins & Co., a planing-mill.

At Cedartown (P. O. town), Polk Co., Georgia, a $20,000 company is being organized to erect a woolen-mill.

PHILADELPHIA ARCHITECTS.

The growing wealth of the country, and the more general art education of the people have created a demand and appreciation for better and more elaborate dwellings, which has afforded scope for well-trained architects. Unfortunately the impression is abroad that Architects quite often lead clients to extravagant and unlooked for expense. I therefore GUARANTEE the cost of all work. When I design a $10,000 house, I mean that it shall cost no more than that amount, and will furnish a reliable builder and let the contract for that amount or less, before I make any charge for services.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, APRIL 10, 1889.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

THE Real Estate Exchange has removed to its new quarters at the N. W. corner of 10th and Chestnut streets. The new offices are well adapted for the purposes of the exchange, and the members seem to be particularly pleased with the removal. Mr. A. J. Merceron is now superintendent of the Exchange, and has already introduced many new and desirable business features. The revival of the list or catalogue of the properties to rent by the members of the Exchange, including factories, stores and dwellings, is an event of great public interest, inasmuch as it practically centralizes the business of many real estate agents having properties to rent, and enables those in quest of properties to comprehend at a single glance, just what the list contains at the price they desire to pay. When the public fully appreciate the great saving in time, labor and car fares this new method affords, it will certainly become very popular.

DURING the winter the population of the House of Correction averaged about 1,000 males, about 50 per cent. of whom were natives of other States; many of them were gathered up along the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and committed under the act making ride-stealing a misdemeanor. This was done by the officers of the company in order to rid Jersey City and other prominent points of the tramp nuisance, the persons thus arrested, as a rule, being only too willing to be committed, the generous hospitality of our House of Correction being well known among them. Thus the burthens of the Philadelphia tax-payer are unjustly increased, and the full benefits of our present high license law purposely defeated. It is well known that there have been, during the winter, many instances where these foreign paupers have become purposely drunk in order that they might be committed for the winter. If the rigid requirements of our present license law were properly enforced, and the city not continually saddled with foreign paupers, our crime rate would reach such a minimum that there would be little room for any argument in favor of prohibition in this city, leaving the rest of the State to speak for itself.

Washington, D. C.

The directors of the Children's Hospital will enlarge the present building by an addition three stories high and a basement. The cost will be $30,000. T. F. Schneider, 933 F street N. W., is the architect. The Arlington Hotel will be enlarged from plans made by Harvey L. Page, 45 Corcoran Building. Dr. J. C. McGuire will erect a residence on Massachusetts avenue from plans by Glenn Brown, 607 Louisiana avenue. Mrs. Margaret Stewart will erect a residence on B street N. E., to cost $7,000. R. G. & J. T. Du Bois will erect a large office building at 715 11th street. Morris Schneider will erect a residence from plans prepared by architect Schneider. N. T. Haller has taken out a permit for the erection of four brick dwellings on I street and New Hampshire avenue, to cost $24,000. A brick residence, to cost $25,000, will be erected by David A. Windsor at 1212 18th street N. W. J. H. Lane will erect a $12,000 brick residence at 19th st N. W. A brick dwelling, to cost $9,000, will be erected by S. Poole, at 1518 R street N. W. Senator Higgins, of Wilmington Delaware has purchased a lot in the northwestern part of the city, and will erect a residence.

Miscellaneous.

At Newport, Fannin Co., Georgia, the congregation of the Presbyterian Church contemplates the erection of a new church.

At Americus Sumter Co., Georgia, a new church will be erected by the Baptist congregation. Colonel S. H. Hawkins is chairman of the committee.

At Meriden, New Haven Co., Conn., the plans of architect H. M. Jones for the enlargement of the Main Street Baptist Church are being considered. The improvement will cost $10,000.

At Westfield, Hamden Co., Mass., a fine residence will be erected by J. A. Crane, to cost about $50,000. Finished in hard-woods, heated by steam, stained glass, wood mantels, electric bells, etc. The architects are Gardner, Pyne & Gardner, Springfield, Mass.

At Hartford, Conn., a large addition will be erected to the Allyn House. Robert Allyn is the proprietor. Brooks M. Lincoln, 381 Main street, Hartford, has completed plans for a fire proof six-story hotel to be erected by a stock company at Pearl and Ford streets.

Through Delaware.

At New Castle, New Castle Co., William Herbert will erect two dwellings. Harry McCauley is the contractor.

At Lewes, Sussex Co., a new school house for colored children will be erected, the bill having been passed at Dover.

At Mount Cuba, Wm. Wilson has given a lot on which the Presbyterian Congregation will erect a church.

The Wilmington Turngemeinde has decided to purchase the lot on Tenth street, between French and Walnut streets, on which to erect a hall. Mr. Wm. M. Field has donated the tract of land connecting the present park with the land donated by Mr. Wm. P. Bancroft. A parkway 150 feet wide will be constructed. S. G. Simons & Bro. will erect a warehouse on Water street, with a frontage of 68 feet. The managers of the Wilmington Fair Association have purchased the Washington Farmers' Market for $6,500. It will be moved to the Fair Grounds at Hazel Dell, and remodelled to suit the purpose of the exhibition. A new building will also be erected. F. B. Coulton consummated the sale.

Through New Jersey.

At Moorestown, Burlington Co., an effort is being made to organize a company for the introduction of electric lighting.

Joseph Dilzer has contract for stone work and Jacob Ruess, for carpenter work. Mr. E. E. Roberts will erect a house to cost $2,500.

At Pleasantville, Atlantic Co., Howard Risley will erect a cottage.

At Haddonfield, Camden Co., the new school house will be erected. The Smead, Wills & Co. system of ventilation will be introduced.

The Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Co., has bought 100 acres of ground near the White Horse turnpike, a few miles off from Camden, from Mr. Edward Bettle, and Mr. E. C. Knight, for $300 per acre. Rumor has it that a new pleasure resort will be started or extensive car shops be erected on it.

Information has been received from a reliable source that the Reading Railroad Company has decided to construct a road from New York to Cape May, branching off from Winslow Junction, and taking in Avalon, Anglesea, Sea Isle City, Holly Beach and Wildwood. The cost will be about $700,000. Sea Isle City and Cape May will each subscribe $100,000.

At Merchantville, Camden Co., a building boom seems to have struck the place, and it is estimated that at least fifty houses will be erected the coming summer. Among those who contemplate building are: Nathan Cowan, of the State Bank, Camden, Mrs. Stillwagon, William Slim, also George W. Gilbert, who will erect four dwellings, Senator Cuthbert, ten dwellings, and Rufus H. McClintock, Martin T. James, William A. Fegtmeyer, Mr. Demmy, Henry Millinger, of Wellwood, a suburb of Merchantville, and Edward Morris, at Sixth and Race street, Philadelphia, each dwellings. Irvin C. Beatty, a Camden manufacturer, will erect a handsome residence of stone and frame. The foundation will be laid by days' work.

—At Leith, Westmoreland Co., twenty-four dwellings will be erected by the Chicago and Connellsville Coke Co.

—At York, York Co., J. F. Mitzel & E. G. Quickel will erect residences on lots recently purchased.

—At Lancaster, Lancaster Co., a market house, to cost $30,000, will be erected by the city.

—At Reading, Berks Co., Jacob H. Goodman will erect a three-story brick building with handsome open store front.

—At Hazleton, Luzerne Co., the Lehigh Valley Boiler Shop will erect an addition to its works.

—At Allentown, Lehigh Co., W. H. Ainey, the iron manufacturer, will erect thirty houses during the summer.

—At Erie, Erie Co., Constable Bros. are erecting seven dwellings. They have also just closed a contract for the erection of a $16,000 residence, at Scranton, for H. C. Sanderson.

—At Grapeville, Westmoreland Co., it is reported that a company of Eastern capitalists will erect a plant for the manufacture of pianos organs.

—At Lock Haven, Clinton Co., N. J. Leiser & Bro., have the contract for the erection of an addition to the factory of the Lock Haven Furniture Company.

—At Emporium, Cameron Co., a wood working factory will be erected. Stock has been taken to the amount of $12,000, and a bonus of $3,000 given. Messrs. Mankey & Sons, of Lock Haven, are the builders.

—At Easton, Northampton Co., Mr. Daniel Wolf will erect a dwelling.—It is said that a prominent Easton man is about to introduce a project for securing an enterprise to employ 300 hands.

—At Aberdeen, Dauphin Co., Mr. Jacob Resler, of Elizabethtown, Lancaster Co., has bought the Aberdeen mills, which will be remodeled, and new machinery put in. Benjamin Groff, also of Elizabethtown, will erect a large grain warehouse.

—At Wilkesbarre, Luzerne Co., it is reported that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company contemplates extensive improvements in the southern part of the city, consisting of the erection of large shops, which will give employment to a large number of hands.

—At Waterford, Erie Co., the citizens are making an effort toward the erection of an opera house.

—At Jeannette, Westmoreland Co., estimates are now being made for the erection of an iron plant to employ 400 or 500 men. M. J. Alexander, General Manager Western Land Improvement Company, at Jeannette, can furnish any information regarding the town.

—At Wayne, Delaware Co., Dr. Egbert has bought a lot, 200x250 feet from the Wayne Estate, on which he will erect a residence. George P. Fallon will erect six medium-sized cottages this spring. They will be of stone and frame. Plans are now being made.

—At Williamsport, Lycoming Co., architect Eben Culver has plans on exhibition of the prospective new City Hall, these plans call for pressed brick buildings, with stone trimmings, or one of brown-stone; all modern improvements, at a cost of $45,000. The Councilmen are much pleased with the plans, and talk favorably of the economy of its erection.

—At Greensburg, Westmoreland County, one hundred houses will be erected on the Mace farm, laid out by Coulter & Huff. Messrs. C. W. Reniff & Felix R. Brunot Jr., owners of the Greensburg Machine Shop, have bought a site in East Greensburg, on which they will erect extensive machine shops and a foundry. George C. Bloomer, will erect a brick residence on Massachusetts ave. N. W., to cost $25,000. Three brick dwellings to cost $20,000, will be erected by R. W. Tyler, on U. St. N. W. A residence to cost $14,000, will be erected by Mrs. Mildred E. Carlisle, at 1738 M. St. N. W. Two stores and dwellings will be erected by A. Lully, with a frontage of 40 feet, of red and moulded brick, with trimmings of Ohio and Blue stone. The plans have been prepared by N. R. Grimm, 930 F. St. N. W. A lot has been bought by Mr. Davis of the New York World, on Connecticut ave., on which he will erect a stone and brick residence, from plans now being prepared by T. F. Schneider, 933 F. St. N. W. Bruce Gray, 600 13th St. N. W., has finished the plans for a residence to be erected by Bishop Hurst, of the M. E. Church, on a lot 50 feet front, there will be a library annex 25x42 feet. The recent minister to Spain, Dr. L. M. Curry, has purchased a lot on M. St. and will erect a double brown-stone and brick residence, from plans drawn by James G. Hill, 1424 N. Y. avenue. Messrs. Hornblower and Marshall 945 Pennsylvania avenue, have prepared plans for a residence to be erected by Prof. C. V. Riley, on Wyoming avenue, Washington Heights. The same architects have finished the plans for an Episcopal Chapel, to be erected at Tacoma Park. A brick and stone office, will be erected by A. Lepreux, at 1200 Pennsylvania avenue, to cost $12,000.

Architects' Notes.

Prichett & Smith, 1430 South Penn Square, have completed the drawings for a coach stable and gardener's house for W. C. Downing, at Wallingford, Pa. Contracts are now estimating.

Thomas P. Lonsdale, has removed his offices to the new building of the American Life Insurance Company, at the south-east corner of Fourth and Walnut streets.

T. Gifford Slocum, 902 Walnut street, has completed the drawings, which are now being estimated upon, for a house at Germantown, Pa., for J. W. Mofley, president of the Manufacturers' National Bank, Third street, below Market street.

A. W. Dilkes, 1001 Chestnut street Philadelphia, has completed drawings for a house for Benjamin H. Lowry, at Forty-eighth street and Springfield avenue. J. E. & A. L. Pennock, 305 Walnut street, are the builders.

F. J. Osterling, 5-6 Market street, Pittsburg, Pa., has prepared plans for an opera house and bank at Kittanning, Pa.; also, for a church at Canonsburg, Pa., to be erected by the Presbyterian congregation; also plans for a new bank to be erected by the Marine Bank on Smithfield street, Pittsburg, dimensions and material not yet decided.

Geisinger & Hales, S. W. corner of Twelfth and Chestnut streets, will receive estimates until 18th inst., for the new building of the Philadelphia Lodge, B. P. O. E., on Ninth street, below Morgan street, before reported. They have also nearly completed the plans for the factory of Schaan & Uhlinger, at Second street and Glenwood avenue. Reported last week.

Harrison Albright, 508 Walnut street, Philadelphia, is now preparing a sketch of St. Martin's Church, at Oak Lane; also, a house for Francis B. Gummere, at Haverford College, Pa. It will be stone, frame and shingle; also a house at Ashbourne, for W. A. Briscoe, which is of similar construction to the above. George W. Long, Jr., will also build a stone and frame house at the same place. Sumner P. Brosius will erect a stone and frame house at Lansdowne, Pa. None of the above contracts have been let.

A Druiding, architect, room 27 Metropolitan Block, Chicago, Ill., reports the following plans on hand: for Roman Catholic Church at Oil City, Pa., 64 by 146 feet. The material will be stone, heated by steam, stained glass, bell, etc. The cost will be $60,000. Rev. Carroll, pastor; also, Catholic Church at Fremont Centre, Lake Co., Ill., 40 by 80 feet, frame, with furnace, stained glass, hard wood finish, tower 100 feet high, cost, $10,000. Rev. Weber, pastor; also, Catholic Church at Westphalia, Kansas, 50 by 100 feet, brick, with basement, tower 130 feet high, furnace heat, stained glass, slate roof, bell, cost, $20,000.

G. W. & W. D. Hewitt, 310 Chestnut street Philadelphia, have the following work now on hand. A school building and parsonage for St. Martin's in the Fields, Chestnut Hill for Mr. H. H. Houston, before mentioned. A hall and library for the Sons of America, of brick and brown-stone, 66 by 197 feet. Contract not let. Alterations to the house of Robert H. Coleman, Cornwalls, Pa., the improvement will be three stories, of brown-stone, 60 by 90 feet. The Presbyterian Church, Columbia, Pa., will build a $27,000 building; also a stone and frame house for Walter Spackman, at Riverton, N. J., cost, $5,500. C. Henry Gibson, Wynwood, Pa., is about to build a brown-stone library building, to cost $12,500.

Wilson Brothers and Company, Drexel Building, Philadelphia, have partially finished the plans for the Franklin Institute's new building, before reported. The perspective drawings show a square building of Florentine architecture, with a square capitol and porticoes of Grecian design. There will be two main entrances with offices on either side. The lecture room will occupy the first floor, also a reading room. The library, office and conversation rooms are to be located on the second floor. The drawing school is to be accommodated on the third floor. The committee appointed by the Institute, met on Friday last, and decided to go on with building as soon as possible. The new structure will cost about $150,000.

E. F. Bertolotto, 257 S. Fourth street, has completed the drawings for two school houses at Reading, Pa., one is known as the Laurel and the other as the Chestnut street school. Both of the buildings are of very handsome design of brick with stone trimming. The interior arrangements are particularly effective, being designed with a view to comfort and convenience. Each room has a separate coat room which is well lighted, and retiring rooms have been provided for the use of the teachers in each classroom. Mr. Bertolotto has also a factory for Frederick Buchalter, to be built at Clearfield and Howard streets. The building is three-story, 40 by 80 feet. Contracts are now letting. H. Leopold will build a 2½-story frame house at Pottstown to cost about $7,000. No contracts have been let. The method of heating the two school houses at Reading has not yet been decided upon.

Baker & Dallett, southwest corner of Fifth and Walnut streets, Philadelphia, have now on the boards the plans for a bank building at Wilmington, Delaware, for the Central National Bank of that place. The building will be in the Romanesque style of architecture, of English red-stone and brick. Very handsome iron grill will ornament the large window on the front as well as the main door. The first floor is to be used for the business purposes of the institution, while the second story will be fitted up for a directors room, etc. In the rear of the bank there will be a store. All of the modern appliances for comfort and safety will be introduced, which includes a thorough system of steam heating and electric lighting. Cost, $35,000. No contracts have been let. The same architects also have a house for Singleton Brice, at Ship Road station, cost $5,000, and a billiard room for Mrs. Charles B. Cox, of Drifton, Pa., cost $2,000. Neither of the above contracts are let. Extensive alterations will also be made by them to the house of Mr. Bush, Wilmington, Delaware, to cost $7,000. Contracts now letting.

PHILADELPHIAARCHITECTS.

The growing wealth of the country, and the more general art education of the people have created a demand and appreciation for better and more elaborate dwellings, which has afforded scope for well-trained architects. Unfortunately the impression is abroad that Architects quite often lead clients to extravagant and unlooked for expense. I therefore GUARANTEE the cost of all work. When I design a $10,000 house, I mean that it shall cost no more than that amount, and will furnish a reliable builder and let the contract for that amount or less, before I make any charge for services.

Cole will erect two frame dwellings; Kistler & Albright will erect four dwellings on Ninth street; Mr. Levi Wieder has received the contract for laying the brickwork of the Ebenezer Evangelical Church; Dr. W. P. Kistler will erect three two-story brick dwellings 30 by 50 feet on Liberty street.

—At New Castle, Lawrence Co., one of the handsomest residences in that part of the country will be erected by Lander Raney, from plans by S. W. Fouk. Hard wood finish throughout, and every modern convenience and improvement. Stone work let to Craig & Sutherland, of Warren, Ohio, and wood work to Wm. Barnett & Son, of New Castle.

—At Pottsville, Schuylkill Co., contractor Henry Zimmerman has contracts for 28 buildings, among which are the following: residences for John C. Lee, L. K. Hannum, A. Prince, Isaac Krosesky, J. W. Beecher, E. A. Beddall, W. H. Mortimer, Frank Hause, Benjamin Shafer, M. Clouser, Mr. Griscum, also 8 dwellings for the Saving Fund, 5 for Abner S. Keiser, and 2 for Louis Heller, also parsonage for the M. E. Church.

—At Wilkesbarre, Luzerne Co., Mr. Frank will erect a dwelling from plans furnished by M. B. Houpt.—Kipp and Podmore have prepared plans for the handsome brick three-story building to be erected on the site of John Reeds hotel. E. R. Raife is the builder. The finishings will be of galvanized iron, blue stone and terra cotta. The first floor will be of tiles. The upper floors will be used as a hotel, or fitted for private dwellings.

—At McKeesport, Allegheny Co., a new school house, to cost $30,000 will be erected. A. W. Smith will erect a block of brick dwellings. James S. Kuhn cashier of the First National Bank, is the head of a syndicate which has purchased 91 acres of ground in the Second Ward, known as the Power tract, for $150,000.

A company will be formed to erect a large number of dwellings on the tract, which will be sold on easy terms. Streets will be extended through the tract. Messrs. F. S. & W. G. Gleason will be the agents for the company. A company known as the Monongahela Furnace will soon apply for a charter, and if the railroad companies will include McKeesport in what is known as the Pittsburg district the company will at once begin the erection of large blast furnaces to employ 300 to 400 men. Twenty-one directors have been purchased at a cost of $76,000. The directors are David W. Hitchcock, Edmund W. Converse, William S. Eaton, John H. Flagler, E. C. Converse, C. J. O'Connor and Horace Crosby.

—At Wilmerding, near Wall's station on the Pennsylvania Railroad, work is being pushed rapidly on the Westinghouse air brake shops, previously reported; and plans are ready for the new hotel and club house; also for a number of dwellings. Plot 21, in the plan, is reserved for a park, which will be laid out in drives and a pavilion, band-stand, etc., etc., erected. Plot 22 will be the site for the club-house and hotel, before reported. On plot No. 5, near the works, Mr. T. W. Welsh, superintendent of the Air Brake Works, will erect a magnificent residence. Plot 26 will be covered with a handsome school house, supplied with every modern convenience and improvement. On plot 4 the Pennsylvania Railroad will erect a large depot and waiting-rooms. Of the 1200 work men, now employed, fully one-fourth have bought lots from the Improvement Company, an I will erect dwellings in the near future, and as many of the employees are unable to secure lots, the original limit will probably be extended to include the Turtle Creek side. Six hundred and twenty-five feet of frontage on the Monongahela river, near Port Perry, have been bought by the company, in order to supply the new city with water, to be pumped into a reservoir 265 feet above the river, and then piped to Wilmerding. Every dwelling in the city will be furnished with the Westinghouse incandescent light natural gas, and water. About $4,000,000 will be expended within the limits of 600 acres. It is also stated that a syndicate has been formed to erect large glass works on the opposite side of Turtle Creek, and that two of the largest glass works in Pittsburg are negotiating for sites on which to erect buildings for their works. This deal has not progressed sufficiently to give names. Mr. Charles Payne is President of the Wilmerding Improvement Company.

—At Pittsburg, Major A. P. Davis will erect an apartment house at a cost of $10,000. An elevator will be introduced. Chauncey W. Hodgdon, 59 Ninth street, is the architect. Work will soon commence on the St. Augustinus monastery from the plans of H. Moeser, 612 Liberty street, this building will be three stories high, of brick, with stone corners, and slate roof. Mr. George Nickel is the builder. The congregation of Saint James, Episcopal Church, contemplate the erection of a new church on the present site at a cost of $25,000. The Central Telephone Company will erect a brick block on ground now occupied by the Lutheran Church. W. A. Herron & Sons, real estate agents, have sold a lot at Shadyside for $14,000. The purchasers will erect a handsome residence. Mellon Bros., real estate agents, have sold a lot to Delia Schell, who will build. F. A. Polock and H. F. McGrady, four and seven two-story brick dwellings, respectively, from plans by M. B. & Gray, 516 Market street.—Reed B. Coyle & Co., 131 Fourth avenue, have sold about 100 lots at H. H. Woodard, to the following gentlemen: E. M. Bigelow, John S. Boyd, Frank H. Speer, S. Muel Kelly, J. J. Miller, William Oliver, John A. C. Seward Oliver. All of these purchasers will erect handsome residences.—Black and Baird, 95 Fourth avenue have sold a lot on Linden avenue to P. E. Alden, of the firm of Longfellow, Alden and Harlow, architects, of Boston, Mass. Mr. Alden will erect a handsome residence, also a lot to G. B. Bosworth, of the firm of H. C. Frick & Co., on which he will erect a residence.—The Pittsburg National Bank of Commerce has sold lots to the following persons at Edgewood: Miss Clark Bayre, Wm. McFarland, J. B. Boos, H. C. Clark, G. W. Teegarden, Stewart and Hammel, Mary Donnelly, J. F. Miller and Charles L. Johnson, also lots at Wilksburg to Mary A. Coleman.—The East End Electric Co., will erect a one-story brick power house at a cost of 6,000, W. S. Fraser, Penn avenue and Seventh street, is the architect.—Joseph Stillburg, 20 Fifth avenue, is the architect for the 5 story brick business house to be erected at Market street and Fifth avenue at a cost of $21,000. The builders are Murphy and Hamilton, the same builders will erect a 2-story and mansard brick dwelling to cost $6,000, for John Grupp.—A permit has been taken out for the erection of the First Cumberland Church, to cost $5,000. W. L. Trimble is the builder. The German National Bank has also taken out a permit for its new building, cost $230,000. Bickel and Brennan, 5 Seventh avenue are the architects.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

Contractors are now estimating on St. Mary's P. E. Church, to be erected at Wayne, Pa.

C. J. Meixner, 2020 Westmoreland street, will build two three-story houses on Clearfield street, below Twenty-first street.

Messrs. Gardiner & Condy, 910 Walnut street, have just broken ground for thirty-six new dwellings on a portion of the property purchased by them at Seventeenth and Ontario streets.

After the completion of the improvements to the West End Hotel which was mentioned last week, it will be occupied by the firm of Thackara Sons & Co., 1300 Chestnut street, manufacturers of gas fixtures.

C. G. Schwerdefor, 5525 Columbia avenue, has bought a property on Second street, above Norris street. It is quite probable that the German Sizing Society will build a three-story hall there.

August L. Herbert, 3524 N. Sixth street, will build thirty-five houses at Sixth and Tioga streets, and Michael Rourke, 2838 Frankford avenue, will build one hundred and twenty on Sixth street, near the Pennsylvania Railroad.

B. F. Glenn & Son, 560 N. Seventeenth street, have sold two lots, at Jenkintown, Pa., for H. Hancock, Esq., one 58 by 150 feet to Eberhard Lutten, and one 67 by 208 feet to Richard Arman, at eight cents per square foot.

C. E. Goldbeck, real estate agent, Forty-third street and Lancaster avenue, is about to erect eleven houses on Parrish street, east of Lancaster avenue. They will be of brick, two stories in height, and have all the modern conveniences. These are but the forerunners of others to follow during the building season upon the same plot of ground.

The City Avenue and Germantown Bridge Company are the builders and owners of the City Avenue Bridge, near Pencoyd Station. The stone contract has been let to J. B. Riley of Lancaster, Pa., and the iron contract to Coffrode & Saylor, 257 South Fourth street, this city. The whole is under the supervision of Frederick J. Amwig, Lucas Building.

J. E. & A. L. Pennock, 305 Walnut street will build four three-story houses on the east side of Forty-eighth street near Chester. They have also been awarded the contracts for the Penn Mutual building. James Rawson, Jr., has purchased a tract of land at Baltimore pike and Kenney's lane, from H. C. Stewart, of Lansdowne, for building purposes.

H. R. Shoch, 2025 Columbia avenue, will erect on the block bounded by Sixteenth street, Seventeenth street, York and Cumberland streets, about 180 seven room two-story brick dwellings to sell for about $2,100 each; also about 30 eight-room dwellings to sell for about $3,000. The latter will have all conveniences except electricity, and will be first-class in every respect. Mr. Shoch, notwithstanding his extensive operations has not on hand a single house of any kind for sale.

John F. Betz will build an immense office building at the corner of Broad and South Penn Square to cost $500,000. So far as can be learned the building is to be nine stories high of ornamental granite, with circular bays extending from each front from the pavement to cornices, surmounted by a dome-shaped roof. Provision will be made for two hundred offices, all of which are to be lighted by electricity and heated by steam. No one architect's plans, has as yet, been adopted by Mr. Betz, as several are under inspection.

J. T. Jackson & Co., 711 Walnut street, have completed the sale of the property located at Fifth, Butler, Erie and Lawrence streets. The size of the lot is 208x500, and the consideration $24,000. J. Frederick Baehler, real estate broker, 1126 St. John street, has bought the site for an unknown party, who will build about one hundred and fifty houses. This property is one of the Reading Railroad lots. Messrs. Jackson & Co. say that considerable interest is expressed as to most of the properties placed in their hands by the Reading Railroad Company, and that there will be no trouble in disposing of the whole of it. The placing of this property in the charge of Messrs. Jackson & Co., coming as it does from the hands of a great corporation like the Reading, can be justly regarded as the highest testimonial that can be paid a business firm. The properties for sale represent about $2,000,000, and include building sites, a hotel, half of Windmill Island, a large number of dwellings, rolling-mills, etc.

Fire! Fire! Fire!

THE conflagration was not a large one, and paradoxical as it may seem, it had been purposely started by that old fire veteran of the patrol service, Inspector McDevitt, who has been lately quietly testing the value of the different fire-proof materials that are offered to the public. The inspectors objective point this time was the Vulcan Fire Proof Paint, for which Mr. J. Tuiley Allen, 212 S. Tenth street, this city, is general sales agent for Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland.

The lot at the southeast corner of Broad and Mount Vernon streets, was selected for the demonstration, which took place before a large gathering of architects, insurance men, builders, railroad magnates and officers of the Philadelphia Fire Patrol on Wednesday, March 27th. Inspector McDevitt had prepared for the occasion an ordinary white pine warehouse door which he had painted with two coats of the Vulcan paint, the whole having been done under his own supervision.

Inspector McDevitt was evidently in dead earnest this time, as he was dressed in his fire clothes and regardless of dirt or smoke, he pitched in and did his level best to burn up the entire door. The door was placed erect to face the southwest at a slight angle, his object being to centralize the fire as much as possible on a given point, a high wind from the southwest prevailing, throughout the entire test.

At 4 20 P. M. a barrel of shavings and light wood well saturated with coal oil was set on fire and right royally did the flames perform their mission. The heat was intense and constantly increased by the best efforts of the man who perhaps knows more about fire and fires than any man in the whole city. After being subjected to the flames for thirty-nine minutes the door gave no evidence of being burned beyond being charred in the part immediately in contact with the fire of the burning barrel. The inspector was non-plussed. The paint had made the door absolutely proof against the spread of fire, it couldn't be made to burn, and, notwithstanding, the paint was carbonized and blistered, Inspector McDevitt remarked that after being scraped and painted, the door would be as good as new.

The results of this test are conclusive that our annual fire waste arises from the want of proper recognition of the great worth of these fire preventive materials, and we are prepared to assert our belief, based upon tests that we have seen, that an ordinary frame house lathed with patent stiffened fire-proof wire lathing, plastered with adamant wall plaster and painted with the Vulcan fire-proof paint would be rendered as absolutely fire-proof as it is possible for human agency to make it.

As an outgrowth of this severe fire test, the Vulcan paint must hereafter command the attention of those most interested in the saving of property. Railroads should adopt it for passenger coaches, for in case of accident there would be nothing that would burn.

A Pointer for Plumbers.

A German engineer named Schindler claims to have successfully tried a novel method of excavating frozen earth, which will materially lessen the difficulty now experienced in doing such work in the winter season. Everyone knows, remarks the American Architect, the difficulty of making any impression with ordinary tools on frozen ground, and a surface protected with paving stones is even more intractable than ordinary material. Unless fires can be lighted over the line of the proposed trench, so as to thaw the ground beneath them, the usual way is to pick, painfully and slowly, into the hard, tough mass until a sufficient depth is reached, or the frozen stratum is penetrated. According to Herr Schindler, much of the labor incidental to such work may be saved considering that the ground does not freeze all at once into a homogeneous mass, but by successive stages, which produce a stratified condition something like that of sandstone or limestone. If the work is carried on vertically downward from the surface, the material, whether of stratified stone or frozen earth, must be removed in small particles; while by taking advantage of the stratification and working horizontally from a shaft or an exposed face, the material may be split off in large pieces through the seams between the strata. Where earth has been filled in the strata does not always lie horizontally, but may follow the surfaces of successive deposits of material. Such cases are, however, easily distinguished, and with a little care on this point, after a pit has been sunk in the spot where the excavation is to begin, the operation may be continued rapidly and successfully by means of iron wedges, long and short, which are driven horizontally as the work advances, and lift and break up the frozen earth in large sheets until the necessary depth is attained.—Fire and Water.

ARCHITECTS.

The growing wealth of the country, and the more general art education of the people have created a demand and appreciation for better and more elaborate dwellings, which has afforded scope for well-trained architects. Unfortunately the impression is abroad that architects quite often lead clients to extravagant and unlooked for expense. I therefore GUARANTEE the cost of all work. When I design a $10,000 house, I mean that it shall cost no more than that amount, and will furnish a reliable builder and let the contract for services.

Proprietor of Phila. "Record."

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, APRIL 24, 1889.

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 199 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

THE lost commerce of Philadelphia is like the lost continent, beyond recovery, thanks to the stupid discrimination of our railroads and the want of a few dredging machines to dig out our slips.

If reports as to the wonderful profits that have been made by the saloon keepers, in this city, who were lucky enough to obtain licenses, be only half true, the license law should be amended so as to increase the fee to one thousand dollars.

THIS is the time of the year for the boss of the house to go through the cellar and see for himself its true condition as to cleanliness. The broom and white wash brush are good purifiers, and may prevent a case or two of typhoid fever in the family.

A CRV for help has already been made by the residents in the vicinity of the Aramingo canal. They realize that their sad experience of last summer will certainly be repeated during the coming hot weather unless our city authorities make an effort to abate the nuisance. It is a singular comment upon the refining influences of our civilization, that, with the exception of those who are compelled to inhale the nauseous vapors of this pest hole, very little interest is taken in its improvement, and yet earnest advocates, inside and outside of the city government are plenty in the interest of schemes, which, if successful, will drain the city treasury of hundreds of thousands of dollars.

AS WAS predicted in these columns some two years ago, railroad discrimination has already commenced to alarm the iron manufacturers of this State. The South, as we prophesied it would, has made itself felt as a competitor for the iron trade, and the Pennsylvania iron manufacturers have sounded the alarm note none too soon. The suicidal policy of our railroads, increased taxation, increase in the value of property, natural gas in Western Pennsylvania, together with the constant large inducements held out to our manufacturers to remove their plants, have already made quite a hole in the manufacturing interests of our city, and if our general policy and the policy of our railroads are not changed the hole will grow larger and our different trade interests will go nosing around for manufacturers as they are now for our lost commerce.

For some time past the Lot-owners in the Twenty-seventh Ward, have been considerably excited over what they consider, the ill-usuage of the Reading Railroad Company. At least nine Land Companies have been formed in that part of the Ward which includes Paschalville, Elmwood, Gladwyn, and other places. When they laid out their lots, the Railroad Company promised, it is alleged, to run trains daily, if they were guaranteed $25.00 per day for the same, and when it appeared that this was likely to be agreed to, the guarantee was raised and afterwards again raised, until it reached $150. No objection being raised to this by the property-owners, the Railroad then refused to run trains under the plea that they could carry nothing but freight, under a penalty of $100.00.

When the old P. W. & B. leased the Chester branch of their road to the Reading, the latter, pretended that the lease prohibited that Company from carrying passengers, as it would interfere with the P. W. & B's Chester traffic. This was not true, but it suited the two roads to have it believed by the property-owners. Their charter required them to carry passengers, the Reading being entitled to the gross receipts between Gray's Ferry and Darby Creek, the City limit.

This is the statement made by the Land Companies, who argue that as the Railroad is a common carrier, it is obliged to carry passengers as well as freight. To just what complications this state of affairs may lead, it is impossible to state, many of the lots being sold with the understanding that the Railroad would be in running order in a few weeks after purchase. This statement was made in good faith and as such was accepted, and purchasers now find that they own ground not less than a mile, and as far as a mile and a half, from the nearest road.

The appended list shows about how much money is being held in abeyance and in almost absolute statu quo: Clearview had 2900 lots, of which 1500 have been sold; Paschall, 200 lots, all sold; Gladwyn, 300 lots, 150 sold; Belmont Park, 550 lots, 100 sold; The Improved Mutual 620 lots, 400 sold; Suffolk Park, 750 lots, 550 sold; Elmwood, 850 lots, all sold; Carbondale, 1600 lots, all sold; West Philadelphia, 325 lots, 175 sold.

The total number of lots sold is 4,500, averaging $200 a lot, amounting to $900,000.

We have received information from various sources, which leads us to the conclusion that 2000 houses would have been erected in this locality, valued at nearly $4,000,000.

A mandamus has been applied for by the attorney for the property owners, J. W. Newlin, from the Attorney General, against the Railroad, to show cause why it should not be required to carry passengers, to the city limits; the result is being watched with considerable interest.

To give a good oak color to a pine floor, wash in a solution of one pound of coppers dissolved in one gallon of strong lye.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

It is rumored that the Philadelphia Press will erect a handsome new building.

At Fox Chase, Frank C. Benson has bought five lots on which he will make improvements. Jacob Zell, of Cardington, near Fernwood, Delaware Co., has the contract to erect eighty five-room dwellings in West Philadelphia.

A number of houses will be erected at Chew street and Gorge street, in the next month by the syndicate who purchased it two years ago.

Dr. Levering will build a residence at Mount Airy. The site selected is next to Jeffries' drug store.

A new club house is to be erected on Mannheim street, near Morris, Germantown, by the Country Club.

Wm. C. McPherson & Sons, Fourth and Cherry streets, have been awarded the contract for the club house of the Schuylkill Navy. Amount about $100,000.

St. James' P. E. Church, Twenty-second and Walnut streets, has purchased a lot next to the church building upon which will be erected the Henry J. Morton Guild house.

To-morrow (Thursday), a meeting of the trustees of the Episcopal Hospital will be held in reference to the gift of $200,000 from the Harrison family for the Home for Incurables.

The congregation of the Fourth Baptist Church, Fifth and Chestnut streets, will make improvements and additions to their building amounting to $50,000.

Clark J. Wood, 221 N. Twelfth street, has purchased a lot from the Childs and Drexel estate at Wayne, Pa., upon which he will erect a handsome residence.

The Second Reformed Episcopal Church, Twenty-first and Chestnut streets, is to be entirely remodeled. Bishop Nicholson is the pastor.

Harry Green, real estate agent, 1573 S. Fifth street, has sold, to different purchasers, thirteen houses on Hicks street, west side, S. of Dickerson street, two-story structures, for the sum of $1,535 each.

A large transaction has just been consummated, at Radnor, Pa., by Thomas Mott, who has purchased from the estate of William L. C. Biddle, a piece of land for $50,000, upon which he will erect a handsome residence at once. The plans have been made by a Boston architect, but no contracts given out.

H. Oscar Smith, office at the buildings, is now letting the contracts for about thirty-five two and three-story houses, to be erected by Mr. Philip J. Walsh, at Seventeenth street and Erie avenue, before reported, and the cost is about $68,000. Contract for painting, brick and brick work, and excavations have been let, the rest of the contracts were not let at the time of writing. Mr. Smith also has an office with Mr. William Gorman, 520 Walnut street.

Architects' Notes.

R. G. Kennedy, Drexel Building, has completed the drawings for a handsome residence, with all modern improvements, for Mrs. Henry, at Twenty-first and Locust streets.

Wilson Eyre, 927 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, has the plans for the new house of A. J. Drexel, Jr., at Lansdowne, Pa. The building is of stone, rough-cast, with all modern improvements. Cost, about $30,000. He has also finished the drawings for the extensive alterations to be made to the house of John Harrison, 1628 Locust street.

Through Delaware.

L. N. Mills, Superintendent of Delaware Railroad, has donated the site for an Episcopal Chapel at Clayton, Kent Co., and work will begin at once.

At Wilmington, a meeting was recently held of the Bay Head and New York Terminal Company for the purpose of improving what is known as Collins' Beach for the use of excursionists. The capital stock of $50,000 has been mostly subscribed, and a handsome pavilion, to cost $2,500, will be erected. The congregation of the German Baptist Church contemplate enlarging the church; the committee appointed by the School Board has selected the lot offered for sale by the Wilmington Improvement Company, on Bayard avenue, on which to erect the new school house designed by Frank R. Carswell, previously reported. The committee was authorized to advertise for bids. Messrs. Morgan, Bailly, Baylis, Trunk and Mason were appointed a committee to price a lot for a primary school building in the Sixth and Eighth wards. About May 1st the Board will consider the advisability of expending about $4,000 in fitting up the basement of the High School for a carpenter and metal moulding shop for the manual training of male pupils.

Through New Jersey.

At Manasquan, Monmouth Co., James W. Sherman will erect a dwelling, John Falkinburg is the contractor.

At Lock Arbour (not a P. O. town), Monmouth Co., Wesley B. Stout will erect a dwelling at a cost of about $5,000. Nelson H. Kilner, contractor.

At Moorestown, Burlington Co., Mr. Geo. Carr, of Philadelphia, has purchased the Brittain property, on North Church avenue, and will make extensive improvements.

At Freehold, Monmouth Co., the graded school building will be enlarged, an appropriation of $5,500 having been made for that purpose.

At Asbury Park, Monmouth Co., John Muzzio will erect a cottage to cost $3,700. S. W. Kirkbride is the contractor. J. K. Parker will erect a new dwelling to cost $4,835, Cottrell Bros. are the contractors.

At Riverton, Burlington Co., it is reported that a large cotton mill will be erected by N. Y. capitalists on C. E. Price's Riverton tract. The mill will employ about 600 hands.

At Gloucester, Camden Co., James Gilmore will erect two dwellings. Mr. Chambers will erect a row of cottages on Monmouth street. Contractor James is figuring on another $2,000 house, to be erected on Champion road.

At Camden Jacob Guang will erect a three-story ornamental brick structure at 217 Market street. Augustus Hettmansperger has contracted with Maybury E. Harden to erect a three-story brick building, 20x72 feet, for business purposes.

At Woodbury Park, a part of Woodbury, Gloucester Co., James A. Carr, C. T. Molony and Peter C. Verga, have entered in a project to build a new town on the West Jersey Railroad. The tract of land comprises 147 acres. Streets will be laid out, and the lots will be put on the market. The name of the town will be Bergen.

At Avalon, Cape May Co., Mr. A. Weylman, 426 Market street, Philadelphia, has purchased two additional lots adjoining the one on which he will erect a fine cottage to cost $5,000. Mr. M. M. Gillam, head of Wanamaker's Grand Depot advertising department will also erect a handsome cottage during the summer.

At Cape May City, Cape May Co., the M. E. Church will be repaired and improved to the amount of $1,000. Mayor Edmunds will make extensive improvements to his Jackson street cottage. The Mount Vernon Land Company has sold one thousand lots. Twelve cottages will be erected at once, at an average cost of $2,000. The Rutherford farm, which was recently cut up into building lots, is under the direction of the Arlington Land Company. Two hundred lots have been sold. The North Edge Hill Land Company has sold all of its lots. Samuel Weil is the President, and Herman S. Freidman Secretary. Information relating to purchasers can be obtained from Theodore M. Reger, 1121 Arch street, Philadelphia.

Through Pennsylvania.

When any of the following are not post office towns they will be so designated.

At Bangor, Northampton Co., J. E. Miller has broken ground for a new dwelling.

At Ennaus, Lehigh Co., Mr. Henry W. Jarrett, will erect three two-story brick dwellings.

At Alburtis, Lehigh Co., Charles Welly will erect a furniture warehouse.

At Uniontown, Fayette Co., Samuel Roth-armill will erect a residence the present season.

—At Watsonstown, Northumberland Co., there is some talk of erecting a furniture factory.

—At Easton, Northampton Co., Aaron Trane has broken ground for a new dwelling.

—At East Greenville, Montgomery Co., an addition will be erected to the new school house.

—At Connelleville, Fayette Co., S. Stacy will erect a large dwelling.

—At Somerset, Somerset Co., $50,000 has been subscribed towards the erection of a glass factory.

—At Lansford, Carbon Co., the congregation of the Methodist church propose to erect a handsome church edifice.

—At Langhorne, Bucks Co., the congregation of the Presbyterian church will erect a church edifice to cost $5,000.

—At Somerset, Somerset Co., $50,000 has been subscribed towards the erection of a glass factory.

—At Cressona, Schuylkill Co., it is reported that Saint Mark's Reformed church will erect a parsonage.

—At Coatesville, Chester Co., the new bank previously reported, will be built of brown stone.

—At Mechanicsburg, Cumberland Co., Samuel Eberly will soon break ground for the erection of a handsome brick residence.

—At Port Carbon, Schuylkill Co., Joseph Gar-side will erect a residence from plans drawn by W. H. Lawrence, of same place.

—At Houstonville, Washington Co., Rev. E. Douglass will erect a dwelling the present summer.

—At West Chester, Chester Co., it is reported that an additional story will be added to the Convent of the Immaculate Heart.

—At New Buena Vista, Bedford Co., N. E. Kegg will remove the Garber House, recently purchased, and erect a new one in its place.

—At Hanover, York Co., Aaron Wise and Amos Kling have each bought lots on Baltimore street, on which they will erect dwellings.

—At Harrisburg, the contract for the new bridge across the Susquehanna river has been awarded to the Phoenix Bridge Co. of Phoenixville, Chester Co., Pa., for $197,000.

—At Lansdowne, Delaware Co., the Highland Mutual Land Association has sold a number of lots, on which a number of dwellings will be erected at an average cost of $2,500.

—At Doylestown, Bucks Co., at a recent special meeting of the School Board, the plans of architect Bean, of Lansdale, Montgomery Co., were delivered, and the building committee was authorized to advertise for bids.

—At Scottsdale, Westmoreland Co., the congregation of the Roman Catholic church contemplates the enlargement of the present church edifice. A new parsonage will also be erected; also, a Convent for the Sisters.

—At Braddock, Allegheny Co., the new Methodist Church will be erected from plans drawn by Messrs. Longfellow, Alden & Harlow, 91 Sixth avenue, Pittsburgh. The cost will be $22,000, and the material will be fire brick, buff color.

—At Grove City, Mercer Co., Dr. Washabaugh will erect a residence on North Broad street. Dr. Chuseman has purchased a lot on College street on which he will erect a handsome residence. There is some talk of erecting a large pottery.

—At Greensburg, Westmoreland Co., Amos Shoelle and J. W. Hartman have torn down their places of business, and will replace them by handsome brick business structures. John McKinney will also erect a brick block on Ligonier street.

—At Towanda, Bradford Co., the subject of water works is receiving considerable attention. A number of plans are being considered. Engineer White, of Rome, N. Y., has the matter in hand. The estimated cost is about $2,000, exclusive of the land or land damages.

—At Caledonia, Elk county, the Elk Coke and Coal Company will build one hundred coke ovens. P. J. Gill, of Philadelphia, has the contract.

—At Mahanoy City, Schuylkill Co., Jenkins Hopkins, will erect a store room adjoining his residence. The renovating of the Co-operative Building has begun, plate glass fronts will be put in, and the club rooms and offices on the second floor will be remodeled.

—At York, York Co., John Plouk has broken ground for eight houses on the corner of Howard and Baptist avenues. William Wilt has broken ground for a new residence. M. Smyser of East Berlin, Adams Co., will erect a residence.

—At Lock Haven, Clinton Co., J. W. Bridgens will erect a handsome residence on West Church street, A. P. Welsh, 429 Walnut street, Philadelphia, is the architect. A. J. Schyler has broken ground for a new residence at East Water and Washington streets.

—At Columbia, Lancaster Co., the Pennsylvania Railroad has offered to lease the Columbia Wagon Company a lot of ground 100 by 225 feet for one dollar a year as long as it is used for manufacturing purposes. As this is a good site, the company will probably accept the offer and erect works.

—It is rumored that a new town will be started about a mile east of Berwyn Chester Co., by a party of Philadelphia capitalists connected with the Pullman Car Company. The old Blue Ball property has been purchased for the purpose, and it is proposed to lay it out in lots on which a number of dwellings will be erected.

—At Dushore, Sullivan Co., J. Cunningham, of the Cunningham & Cole Hardware Company, will erect a handsome dwelling from plans drawn by L. M. Barth. The Evangelical Congregation will erect a church. Barth & Kester have the contract for the mill, brick, windows, etc. Samuel Kester, of the same firm, will erect a fine dwelling on Heady avenue.

—At Norristown, Montgomery Co., the Committee on Real Estate of the Norristown Hospital and Dispensary Association has decided to purchase the Powell Street School property, which will be altered to suit hospital purposes. Representative Taggart hopes to get an appropriation of $5,000 on condition that the association raises a like sum.

—At Allegheny City, Allegheny Co., Mrs. Margaret Sauer will erect a pressed brick building, with granite trimmings, to cost about $10,000. F. C. Sauer, 547 Liberty avenue, Pittsburgh, is the architect. The same architect has drawn plans for a double brick dwelling, with stone trimmings, for Robert C. Musgrove, of Allegheny, to cost $9,000.

—At Wilkesbarre, Luzerne Co., the large store room, on South Main street, has been leased by P. Kline, who will probably remodel it for business purposes. The building committee of the Welsh Presbyterian church have deposited $10,000 in the bank, which will be increased to $15,000 by Hon. B. Williams. The church will be erected at once.

—At Allentown, Lehigh Co., Rinker & Blum will erect two two-story dwellings. Hon. Wm. H. Diney has taken out a permit for the erection of fourteen two-story dwellings. Howard Lumley will erect three two-story dwellings on Hamilton street. Eligham Schadt will enlarge his store by the erection of an addition 20 by 36 feet. Lewis J. Krause will erect a frame dwelling. Wm. H. Deshler, Esq., will erect nine dwellings.

—At Pottsville, Schuylkill Co., the County Commissioners are now ready to receive proposals for the new Court House previously reported. The main front of the building will be on Minersville street. The size of the building will be 88 by 190 feet, and the style of architecture Romanesque, three stories high and a basement; also, a front tower 175 feet high. The front will be of Philadelphia pressed brick, with terra cotta and cut stone trimmings and galvanize d iron. The cost will be about $200,000. M. E. Beebe & Sons, Main and Eagle streets, Buffalo, N. Y., are the architects.

—At Bridgeport, Montgomery Co., it is probable that a new church edifice will be erected to accommodate the 750 parishioners, who now worship with Saint Patrick's Roman Catholic congregation at Norristown. If established, the new parish will include the territory west of the Schuylkill from Fort Kennedy to Swedeland. A parochial school will also be established. The Bridgeport Catholics are anxious for a church of their own, on account of the distance to St. Patrick's, and as there is talk of abandoning that church and erecting a new one as soon as a suitable site is secured, fears are entertained that the new structure may be even more inconvenient to reach. Archbishop Ryan will make the decision in a short time.

—At Pottstown, Montgomery Co., the congregation of Trinity Reformed Church has decided to erect an addition to the present building, 24 by 46 feet. The pews will be remodeled and arranged in amphitheatre style, and the seating capacity increased. The cost of the improvements will be about $10,000. The congregation of Saint Aloysius Roman Catholic Church contemplates the erection of a new edifice. Rev. Father Wagner is the pastor. John W. Gench has been given the contract to erect a double brick dwelling on King street for Miss Sarah Missimer. John W. Detwiler will erect a double brick dwelling. John W. Gench has been awarded the contract to erect two dwellings on King street for Mrs. Sarah Missimer. Joseph B. Missimer has begun work on a handsome brick residence at Charlotte street and Lincoln avenue.

—At Pittsburgh, Dilworth, Porter & Co., will erect a stone and brick foundry and Machine shop, 65x197 feet, at a cost of $18,000. Waite & Rowlands are the builders. Four two-story brick dwellings will be erected by G. W. King, at a cost of $10,000. Lysle & McCance will erect a four-story warehouse, with tin roof, at a cost of $3,765. John B. Ingham & Son, builders. A four-story brick building 36x30, with tin roof, will be erected by Torrence Daily, from plans by McBride & Gray. Chauncey L. Hodston has finished plans for two three-story stores and dwellings, with tin and slate roofs, to cost $8,000. Samuel W. Black & Co., 99 Fourth avenue, have sold a lot to Dr. F. M. Moyné for $4,600. The property will be improved at once. John Farrell will erect a two-story brick dwelling, to cost $13,300. James Wherry is the builder. The Allegheny Orphan Asylum has taken out permits for the erection of five three-story and five two-story brick dwellings at a cost of $18,125. W. J. Zahniser, builder. Four two-story brick dwellings will be erected by George Gledhill, at a cost of $10,000. M. F. Barley will erect a $6,000 residence on Euclid avenue from plans drawn by G. S. Orth, 31 Sixth avenue. Edward Wind will erect a residence, to cost $4,400, from plans by J. E. Schlierbach. 609 Penn avenue, a brick two-story mansard dwelling will be erected by G. C. Olghausen, to cost $7,500. A two-story stone and brick residence will be erected by Roger Williams, M. D., at a cost of $7,000. H. L. Kreusler is the architect and builder for a $4,000 dwelling, to be erected for A. C. Hayer. Mackintosh, Hemphill & Co. will erect a two-story foundry, also iron-clad two-story pattern shops and storeroom at a cost of $14,000. Robert McCaine is the builder.
